George Washington's Birthday.
Had America never given birth to George Washington, do you suppose we would have been enjoying peace today? The struggles of the Revolution led by this First Citizen should be impressed upon the minds of all Americans. On another page of the BEACON will be found articles appropriate for Washington's birthday. Read them.

Mrs. Amanda Doughtie.
Mrs. Amanda Doughtie died of pneumonia at her home in Plymouth, on Tuesday morning last, aged 68 years.
Mrs. Doughtie was a native of Hertford County, but removed to this town several years ago with her husband, the late Nathaniel Doughtie, and has remained here since his death.
The deceased leaves two children, Mr. J. E. Doughtie and Mrs. E. M. Brinkley, both of Plymouth, and two brothers, Mr. D. O. Brinkley of Plymouth, and Mr. Jas. Brinkley of Georgetown, S. C., with a host of relatives and friends to mourn her death, to all of whom we extend our deepest sympathies.
The funeral services were held from the Baptist Church, of which she had long been a consistent member, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, the interment being made in Brinkley Cemetery immediately afterwards, the pastor, Rev. C. C. Wei's conducting the service.

ROPER NEWS.
The most charming and delightful social event of the season was an announcement party given by Mrs. L. G. Roper on Tuesday evening, Feb. 16th, at her home in Elm St., at which the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mabel E. Roper to Mr. Elmer G. Gildroy of Hazleton, Pa., was announced, the wedding to take place on April 21st. The guests were received in the spacious parlor and living room which were tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, ferns and candelabra. This being a temperance home, grape juice was served in place of the usual punch. Progressive Rook was played, Miss Agnes G. Speight winning the highest number of points, was presented with a book, "Cupid's Understudy," while the boobie, a beautiful bouquet of white hyacinths was awarded to Mrs. Ernest R. Lewis. A salad course with coffee and hot chocolate was served followed by various courses in which the Valentine suggestion was predominant, including heart shaped pimento cheese sandwiches tied with white and pink ribbon, white block cream with heart center of raspberry sherbet and iced cakes in heart designs. The favors were small boxes of heart design filled with tiny snar hearts bearing Cupid's love messages. The dining room was lighted by candelabra and handsomely decorated in potted plants and cut hot-house flowers, including a beautiful brass basket filled with white sweet peas and Roman hyacinths, tied with a large bow of white maline. This was surrounded by a small army of midget Cupids with drawn bows aiming their magic darts at hearts in pairs on streamers of pink ribbon bearing the names, "Mabel" and "Elmer." After luncheon, each guest was presented with a tiny, white silk bag of rice tied with pink ribbon bearing a card, "for use April 21st." Miss Mabel is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Roper, of charming disposition and attractive personality and enjoys a wide circle of friends throughout Eastern North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.
Mr. Gildroy is the youngest son of Mr. G. J. Gildroy, Supt. of the Hazleton Division of the Lehigh Valley R. R., and himself holds a responsible position in the operating department of the same road and has a bright future before him. The occasion was also the birthday anniversary of the hostess, Mrs. Roper, who was the recipient of a number of beautiful tokens of remembrance from her many friends.

Those present were: Mrs. G. B. Grandy [nee Miss Elizabeth Dough] of Shawboro, their house guest for the week, Mrs. Ida Blount, Miss Augusta C. Carstarphen, Mrs. Henrietta C. Edwards, Mrs. T. Raymond Hassell, Mrs. Ernest R. Lewis, Mrs. Rbert R. Roper, Mrs. Benjamin S. Clark, Miss Agnes G. Speight, Misses Alice and Lula Caroon, Misses Aileen, Ida and Hattie Peacock, Miss Hattie Taylor and Misses Ella and Margaret Harrington.

To The Male Public.
You will please pardon this quotation from Capt. Joe Newberry, but it suits my case exactly:
"Not on my good looks, but on my ability to give you one hundred cents value for every dollar."
I thank you for your vast patronage, and am in hope that you were satisfied and will give me your future business.
Due to sharp competition I am forced to cut my prices lower than ever, but please bear in mind that you get the same English-American iron-bound guarantee and the company is able to back every clause in that guarantee, and they will do it. More than some will! Isn't it?
My Spring and Summer line is now on exhibition at the same old stand, and all that I ask is that you come and be convinced of the almost impossible values. I am as ever capable of giving you expert advice regarding the correct styles and patterns.
Yours for more business and less profit,
V. E. EVERETT
