CARRY DAMP NAMES ON DRY SOCIETY ROLL

Old John Barleycorn never stood very well with the Modern Woodmen of America. Long ago, perhaps even before the celebrated Mr. Volstead began wearing long pants, the said J. B., together with all his kith and kin, and even his most intimate associates, were outlawed by that fraternal insurance Society.

So now, after the constitution has been amended and the country's absolutely dry, it is a trifle disconcerting in looking over the Modern Woodmen list of more than a million members to find such names as Beer, Sourbeer, Booze, Crow, Redrye Champagne, Wine, Earlywine, Lightwine, Richwine, and Sourwine. Of course, if you prefer something soft, there's Soda-water, Pop, Milk, Coffee, Tarwater, Clearwater, Freshwater, and even Rain water, than which there's nothing softer in the beverage line. One might expect to find Drinkwater a member in good standing, but it is not so clear how the regulations were stretched to let in Drinkwine and Drinkall.
