SENATE PASSES SOLDIER BONUS

MEASURE BECOMES LAW DESPITE PRESIDENT'S EFFORT TO SUSTAIN VETO.

Washington.—The soldier's bonus bill finally has become law.

The measure, which has been the subject of a fight between Congress and two successive Presidents, was re-passed by the senate over President Coolidge's veto by a vote of 59 to 26. This was a margin of two votes more than the necessary two-thirds majority, as compared with the 52 votes there were to spare when the veto was overridden in the house.

President Coolidge made a futile last minute effort to have his veto sustained in the senate, calling to the White House for a breakfast conference with seven republican senators. Four of these who previously had voted for the bill cast their ballots in support of the executive.

They were Colt, Rhode Island; Keyes, New Hampshire; McKinley, Illinois; Phipps, Colorado and Sterling, South Dakota. All except Senator Colt were at the White House conference. The others attending the conference were Cameron, Arizona; Harrell, Oklahoma, and Dale, Vermont.

The last move of the administration was to seek delay in the vote until Saturday, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, asking unanimous consent to defer action until that time. The senate was in no mood for delay, however, and as Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, objected, there were immediate cries of "vote," from both sides of the chamber.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, assistant republican leader, who had charge of the bill, moved for a vote and was joined by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, in suggesting that debate was unnecessary. Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and other administration leaders, joined with Senator Curtis in voting against the President.

White House officials in discussing the senate action emphasized that the Mellon tax reduction program was predicted upon the assumption that there would be no bonus legislation. While they refused to say so directly, they left the impression that Congress having decided on a bonus, hope of material tax reduction must be abandoned.

Secretary Mellon was not prepared to discuss the effect of the bonus upon the treasury's financial program, but he said that "sooner or later there must be provision for payment and it can be met only by new taxes."

Must Probe War Records.

Washington.—Enactment of the war veteran bonus bill into law has laid upon the shoulders of the government department an administrative task so huge that the figures involved stagger the imagination.

They must explore a certifiable mountain of war records. From that mass of musty documents they must pick out the individual war histories of more than 6,893,000 men to provide the data upon which alone bonus payments of any kind can be made.

The daily service of every soldier, sailor, or marine who served under the flag in the great war at home or abroad, is subject now to minute examination. Through his days of sickness and health, of training at home or battle abroad, the searchers must follow each man through the wilderness of official records. And the bulk of the task must be done in the close packed filing cases of the war department where the intimate official story of America at war alone is told.

In those records alone are more than 167,000,000 separate documents, each of which it may be necessary to handle many times before the veterans can all be assured of bonus payments. It will require 27 separate checking operations to make the examination of the files.

Atlanta Painter Shoots Up House.

Atlanta.—Andrew S. Kline, 55, a painter, shot and killed his wife in their home here and then shot himself to death after an unsuccessful attempt to slay his mother-in-law.

Matrimonial difficulties between the couple, which led to an estrangement some time ago, were said to have caused the affair.

Drown in Attempted Rescue.

Derby, Conn.—Harlan Franklin and Hagin Douillon of Torrington, juniors at Yale, were drowned when they jumped into the Housatonic river in an attempt to rescue two boys whose canoe had overturned.

The boys managed to reach the shore safely, but Franklin and Douillon sank before two other Yale men paddling nearby could reach them.

Baptist Discuss Church and State.

Atlanta.—Declaring that anything that favored of a union of church and state is "spiritual adultery" Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Dallas, Texas, said that the Baptist doctrinal belief in religious liberty has caused such growth of the denomination in recent years that it is now the largest non-Catholic religious denomination in the world.

Dr. Truett's address was made at an inspirational mass meeting of delegates to the Southern Baptist convention.

STYLES IN WEDDING GOWNS; TUXEDO KNITTED OF PURE SILK

HAPPY is this year's bride in the choosing of her wedding gown! The mode is in a tolerant mood and there are almost no "Thou shalt not" edicts from the throne of fashion, but instead the widest latitude is allowed in the choice of styles. The bride may choose a long, sheathlike unbelted gown or a straightline dress flaring toward the hemline by means of godets. She may select time-honored satin or today's supple crepes or airy lace and chiffons—in any case the mode smiles approvingly. And in the matter of the veil—she may wear a lace veil, a tulle veil or both if she chooses, for tulle veils posed over white roses continue to contribute their exquisite beauty to the bridal bouquet.

How fickle is fashion! Just because novelty sweaters have been courted favor these past several seasons, we have apparently somewhat ignored our tried and true friend, the tuxedo. However, we have swung around the circle, and true to our first love we pay homage to the tuxedo along with its present-day contemporaries, the slipover and the jacquette.

To a patrician clientele the tuxedo knitted of pure silk ever appeals as an aristocrat among sweaters. The smartest shops are showing the tuxedo this face are distinctly up-to-date. There is also no argument as to sleeves; let her have long sleeves or no sleeves at all as she will and anything in the way of necklines except the very high or the very low.

Brides and bridesmaids will do well to choose pretty dresses of crepe and lace in the season's fashionable colors, which will measure up to the standard set for dinner and evening wear. For the maids, Nile green, sunshine yellow, peach, orchid and poudre blue suggest themselves. Pretty and wearable hats in the same colors as the gowns are characteristic of today's preference. It is to be noted also that spring wed-season with novelty touches such as this one in the picture which is knitted of pure silk in silvery gray. Of course it is to be had in a range of other delectable shades, including cinnamon, artichoke, poudre blue, orchid, apricot and pure white. This exclusive model achieves distinction through its use of a novelty zig-zag stitch.

Sweater luxuries offered this season feature also exquisite featherweight yarns, such as Iceland, chiffon alpaca and organdie zephyrs. These express most lovely pastel shades, with interworkings of subdued plaids and delicately tinted borders. Sometimes ombre-colored fiber is intermingled, things revealed a liking for draperies and skirts widened by godets or other devices, and for a waistline low but punctuated by sashes of wide, soft ribbon ending under big soft bows without ends at one side. Girdles of narrow ribbons adorned with flat ribbon flowers vary the management of the waistline.

Like the wedding veil, strands of pearls for the bride and her attendants remain secure in their position and are established as the proper choice in jewelry.

Wedding veils may fall from close-fitting caps, with headband and chin strap all made of tulle, or from small caps with coronets of lace or from caps with upstanding frills of tulle across the back, like that pictured. Orange buds and blossoms finish off the headdress and the girl usually. Lilies-of-the-valley alone or with forming rainbow patterns in effective shadow designs.

Novelties with scarfs, using these color combinations forecast the sweater joys which the summer months will bring forth. Here are also very pretty striped effects, with the stripes either horizontal or vertical, which are very sheer and in surplice effect.

Among interesting sweater experiments is the slipon with high neck. A widespread vogue is predicted for the sleeveless models.

At resorts society is favoring bright red slipon sweaters worn with white skirts or in some instances the order is reversed, the skirt being red and overlaid with a white knitted slipon. At any rate red and white combinations in sweaters are quite the last word in fashion's realm.
