XMAS MONEY FOR YOU

Search Your Attic for Fortunes in Old Confederate Envelopes

Among the old letters of many Southern families are hundreds of very rare stamps and envelopes. Many have been found and sold for small fortunes. Single envelopes have been sold for as high as $2,000, and many have brought upwards of $100 each. It sounds "fishy," but it's true. They are valuable because they are rare. And they are rare, not because there are only a few, but simply because most of them have remained stored away and forgotten, in old trunks and closets.

Make a thorough search through your attic or store room for these old war letters. Fortunes in rare stamps or franked envelopes have been found in old trunks which no one ever dreamed contained anything of value. Keep the letters if you wish, but send the envelopes to Mr. Harold C. Brooks, Box 223, Marshall, Michigan, and he will immediately write you, stating their value. In sending them to him you are not obliged to sell unless his offer meets with your approval. Anything not purchased he will return in good order. Mr. Brooks, who is mayor of his city, is a private collector and has paid thousands of dollars for old envelopes. Although the rare issues are especially desired he also buys many of the common kinds. Many people in this way are getting Christmas money with very little trouble and no expense.

The First National Bank of Marshall, Mich., writes: "Mr. Brooks has been in business here for twenty years. You will make no mistake when you recommend him to your readers as worthy of the fullest confidence, both financially and personally."

Mr. Brooks states that there are so many different stamps which are similar in appearance he cannot quote values from written descriptions, but must see the envelopes. There are, for example, ten different Confederate government stamps bearing the portrait of Jefferson Davis, and many local stamps or stamped envelopes are very much the same in appearance. The same is true of U. S. issues, the heads of Washington or Franklin being used on different stamps. Mr. Brooks does not buy loose stamps, stamp collections, coins or Confederate money. Stamps should not be cut from the envelopes and no dates written on. He is fully acquainted with all issues even though the postmark may show no year date. Those especially wanted are Confederate issues, but he also buys U. S., Canadian, Hawaiian, and certain foreign stamps provided they are on the original envelopes and mailed not later than 1865.

If envelopes are sent in a bunch they should be carefully packed in a cardboard box to protect them from damage while in the mails. If you have reason to believe your envelopes are of special value send them by registered or insured mail. If you have no old letters written during or before the Civil War, show this notice to your friends—especially those whose families have lived in the same home for several generations. Many old families, old banks and law firms still have stored away hundreds of letters, waiting to be burned or sold for large sums. Before destroying such envelopes or folded letters investigate their value. Mr. Brooks' address is as follows:
HAROLD C. BROOKS,
 Box 223, Marshall, Mich.

What a world of loving, kindly thoughts go into the writing of that name on the Christmas label. The holly and the bright ribbon too, express the pleasure you feel in giving. But what a great deal more it will mean if the gift is one that will be a constant reminder for many years.

No gift, no matter how exquisite, can quite equal the gift of JEWELRY it enhances the beauty of all womanhood—its subtle charm has won the adoration of the world for countless ages.

And those who love to give beautiful things will find here a gleaming, glittering, exquisite array that will suggest a Christmas gift for every name on your list.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

Controlling Your Weight

There are at least three ways to acquire flesh: to eat too much, to eliminate too little, and to ride everywhere instead of walking. Reverse procedures if you would lose flesh. Eat less and exercise more, if your adipose threatens.

Fat people usually drink too much fluid at meals. Fluids ALL aid absorption. There are millions of absorbing glands in the intestine, and they are constantly at work, unless we may imagine the Lymph-channels so full that they will hold no more. Fat people absorb too much—more than they can dispose of properly. Since dry food absorbs more slowly and sparingly, your stout lady should drink no fluid at mealtime nor soon after. Note that I say "LUIDS." All dilutents must be excluded, tea, milk, coffee, and other prepared beverages are as harmful at meals as water.

Excess of sugars and starches should be avoided as well, also white bread. The six o'clock dinner is the foe of long life. Avoid it. Indolent habits dispose one to fatness. OVERFLESH is sluggish, inactive, weakened tissues. Fat women have toiled, rolling on the floor, enduring hard sweats, submitting to maulings of "massage"—all the while pouring down fluids with meals, and eating six o'clock dinners, talking "an-fat" sure things, and wondering why on earth they remain fat. Here I may emphasize that one should not remove the CAUSE. Neither will belts, pads, or "supporters" out-do vigorous absorption. Remember, when the intake of all these foods is pushed beyond the needs of the body.

GRACEFUL TONING

In the model that I have sketched here many blue buttons are used for the body of the dress. For the collar, the narrow, the cuffs, the tunic drapery, and the trim of the plain navy blue dress. The small sketch at the right shows the proper way to wear the dress. The dress is made of a material that will hold its shape. It is a simple, elegant design. The buttons are a key feature, adding both style and structure to the garment. The overall look is one of classic, understated elegance.
