

The Judge's Joke

A WOMAN WHO TALKS TO HERSELF HAS A HARD TIME HAVING THE LAST WORD.

Elsie—Mama, George Washington must have had an awful good memory, didn't he? Mother—Why, my dear? Elsie—Because, everywhere I go I see monuments to his memory.

Dentist—Awfully sorry, miss, but I just tore off a piece of your gum. Patient—That's all right. Just stick it under the chair and I'll get it as I go out.

"Daddy, is a man allowed to have only one wife?" "That's all, my boy." "Then why does it say in the Prayer Book that he must take four better or four worse?"

Bridget—There's a man at the door with a parcel marked C. O. D. Mrs. Newbride—Tell him to take it back at once. I ordered salmon.

Aviator: How would you like a trip? Rastus: No, sah, I stays on ter-rah firmah, and the more firmah the less ter-rah.

"What you need is an electric bath," said the doctor. "Not for me," said the patient. "My uncle got drowned in one of those things in Sing Sing."

Fresh—What's that mark over your ear? Fresh—That's a birthmark. Fresh—How's that? Fresh—Looked in the wrong berth.

Small boy at zoo looking at stork: "Mother, I believe he is trying to see if he can remember me."

Teacher—Now, Willie, where did you get that chewing gum? Tell me the truth.

Willie—I don't want to tell the truth, teacher, and I don't want to lie.

Teacher—Don't you dare to be impudent to me. Tell me where you got that chewing gum. Willie—Under your desk.

The haughty Englishman was endeavoring to impress the importance of his family upon his guide in the Scottish Highlands.

"My ancestors," he exclaimed, with a theatrical gesture, "have had the right to bear arms for the last 300 years."

"Hoot, mon," cried the Scot, "my ancestors have had the right to bare legs for the last 2000 years."

"Reginald, what is the Latin word for wine?" "Vinum."

"Very good. Decline it." "Sir, I've never declined wine in my life."

"My advice to you," declared the club manager, handing the recruit shortstop his release, "would be to join one of the Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

Judge (severely)—The idea of a man of your size beating a poor weak woman like that.

Prisoner—But, your worship, she keeps irritating me all the time. "How does she irritate you?"

"Why, she keeps saying, 'Hit me! Beat me! Just hit me once, and I'll have you hauled up before that baldheaded old reprobate of a judge and see what he'll do with you.'"

"Discharged."

"Can you imagine any one going to bed with their shoes on?" "Who does that?"

"My horse."

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

THE ALARMING PREVALENCE OF HEART DISEASE.

Let my reader bear in mind that I am speaking strictly from my own experience, not from the authorities. My opinion is that throat infections lead in causing serious heart affections. Influenza is a most dangerous and deadly thing if neglected. Tonsillitis may cause either valvular disease, or myocarditis. No throat infection should go untreated for a single hour.

Colitis, accompanied by putrefaction in the colon, is a potent source of heart disease. The presence of indican in the urine tells us that we have the makings of serious cardio-vascular trouble, unless we attend to that colon, and diet accordingly. Once heart disease is set up, every hearty meal aggravates the circulatory disorder. If you happen to have a large abdomen, out of proportion to your general build, you are putting up with something that will make you trouble some day. Watch the colon.

Of course pneumonia and rheumatism often leave defective hearts, both of them bearing disease-germs from the respiratory organs. With such a heart it is utter foolishness to give heart stimulants with the idea of effecting a cure, until you are rid of the germs that are causing the weakened heart. In my experience, vaccines are the most rational treatment for infections, though many physicians seem to believe differently. When failure occurs, the diagnosis is probably inaccurate.

Two valuable suggestions for the heart are—do not neglect your throat, and, take care of the colon—do not overeat. In this way you may lessen your chances for heart disease.

NOTICE OF LAND SALE

On the 19th day of July, 1926, the undersigned mortgagee sold the lands hereinafter described under power contained in the mortgage from A. J. Newberry and wife to the said Mortgagee, which mortgage is registered in Book 79, page 300. Thereafter, and within the time prescribed by law, the bid was raised and the Clerk of the Superior Court has ordered a re-sale. Notice is therefore given that on Monday the 23rd day of August, 1926, at 12 M., I will sell at the court house door by public sale for cash the lands which is bounded on the North by the public road leading from Plymouth to Mackays; on the east by a marked line dividing this land from the land of Mrs. Allie G. Moore; on the South by the right of way of the Norfolk & Southern Rail road track; on the West by the land known as the Woodlawn tract.

The sale is of the remainder in fee after the expiration of the life estate of said mortgagee, the statutory life expectancy of whom is 6 and 7-10 years.
