FASHION SHOW A SUCCESS

In spite of a rather stout rain that set in about seven o'clock Wednesday night the Fashion Show given at Cahoon Quality Shop drew a record attendance. This show was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Methodist church, which was assisted by a number of young ladies and gentlemen of the town. Elegant dresses and coats were displayed by young ladies in a most becoming manner, and men's wear was exhibited on the forms of local men. The showing of the children's apparel was probably the most interesting number on the program. The tiny tots entered into the occasion with zest and enthusiasm and a round of applause greeted the appearance of each one. Members of the Missionary Society acted as salesladies at the store yesterday, and a percentage of all sales made have been donated to the treasury of that organization.

She will be in Roper at two o'clock, Creswell at four o'clock, and will make an address here in the court house at eight o'clock. It is hoped that the women of the county will take advantage of this opportunity to listen to a member of their own sex who is thoroughly familiar with the situation, and who is a gifted speaker.

Sign Your Name

On frequent occasions we receive communications through the mails from various parts of the county chronicling the events of those neighborhoods, but the writers seem to attach no importance to the requirement that their names must be signed to these communications.

Surely we are glad to receive these news notes, and will take delight in publishing them, but we cannot do so unless we have the name of the author. It is not necessary that your name be published with the articles, and the name of the author never appears in print unless we are requested to do so.

To Celebrate Signing of the Armistice

Plans are being made for an Armistice Day celebration at the school building on the 11th of next month by the young people of the school. This celebration will be in the form of a Junior Red Cross rally, and appropriate patriotic exercises will be held. More concerning this event will be published as soon as the program has been formed.

CLUBS MEET IN BELHAVEN

Mackeys, Oct. 18—The district meeting of the federation of women's clubs was held at Belhaven Thursday of last week. It was featured by the addresses of Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylva, state president; Mrs. E. H. Williamson of Fayetteville, second vice-president and state chairman of districts, and Mrs. J. M. Hobgood of Farmville, president of this district, led in a round-table discussion.

Another feature of the meeting was the report of the work of the federated home demonstration clubs of the district by Miss Violet Alexander, of Washington. Miss Alexander also referred to the poultry shipments from this section, which sold for $43,650.90 the last season.

Mrs. V. A. Ward of Robersonville responded to the address of welcome which was delivered by Mrs. W. J. Justus of Belhaven. The present officers, Mrs. J. M. Hobgood, president, and W. E. Willis, secretary, were unanimously re-elected.

The next meeting will be held in Aulander. A vast amount of constructive work was shown in the reports of officers, both state and local.

The gavel given each year for the largest number of new clubs organized was won by this district for having organized eight new clubs.

Music was furnished by a representative of the Windsor choral club. This was an unusual feature, as the musician was a man member and a good singer. The counties represented were Bertie, Beaufort, Hyde, Martin, Pitt, Tyrrell and Washington.

A delightful lunch was served in the pavilion which presented a very picturesque scene over the waters of the Pungo river.

Among those who attended from this county were Mesdames, Ida S. Brickhouse, W. B. Chesson, C. L. Everett, Frank Wilson and Miss Emma Gray Morehead.

THE STORMING OF THE GATES

This picture is typical of many such scenes enacted daily at the main gates of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is being celebrated. The "shot" was made from outside the gates and shows the long sweep of historic Broad street, the main artery of the exposition. To the left can be seen one of the capitolis of the Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufactures which covers nearly eight acres of grounds and which houses some of the finest exhibits ever seen. The Exposition will continue until December 1.

BOOKS NEEDED AT SCHOOL

An interesting occasion took place in the school auditorium Monday night when the primary grades held exercises in recognition of Good Book Week. These young folks and their teachers are very much interested in expanding the school library, and this occasion was calculated to enlist the support of the older people in their efforts. Interesting exercises were enjoyed, and splendid talks concerning the conduct of libraries were made by Mesdames Herman Clark and Robert Campbell.

These youngsters are asking that everybody who will donate a suitable book to their library, and those who do not care to take the trouble to procure the book will be thanked just as much for its equivalent in cash.

The registration books close to-morrow. Those not registered will be denied the privilege of voting in the election next month, unless they are those who become twenty-one years of age between tomorrow and November 2nd. In that case they will be allowed to register for the election.

Registration should be looked after by all persons who have not heretofore registered, and the right to help select people to conduct the affairs of the county should be exercised by every qualified voter.

"Trip Around The World" Very Successful

The "trip around the world" conducted by the Thursday afternoon literary club for the benefit of the public library last Friday night was very much of a success.

The three homes visited, Mrs. R. P. Walker, S. A. Ward and J. B. Edmondson, were very effectively arranged to represent an Indian village, Dixie Land and Japan. A rather large crowd made the trip and the evening was most pleasantly spent.

Splendid refreshments were served at each place and the occasion created a neat sum to be used in augmenting the services of the library.

There were three other cases set for trial but which were continued until Wednesday, Nov. 3, there being no Recorder's Court next week, it being Superior Court week, and none on the Tuesday following as it will be election day, but there will be a regular session on Wednesday, November, 3rd.

Improves Telephone System

Telephone patrons between here and Columbia will rejoice to learn that better service is in store for them. E. P. Cohoon, of Tyrrell County Telephone Company has been in town this week in the interest of the new line now being installed.

New poles have been placed along the entire route and a heavy copper line will be installed at an early date, along with other improvements over the old system.

Twenty six members of the home demonstration clubs of this county attended the fifteenth district meeting of the federation of women's clubs at Belhaven last Thursday. A very fine record that shows that the women are interested in this work and are eager to learn all they can about it.

Moses Harper, colored, employed in the wood-swamp on Roanoke river by E. R. Jackson, had the misfortune of severing several toes from his left foot Wednesday morning while cutting wood. He was brought here where surgical aid was rendered by Dr. McGowan.

MARTIN SPEAKS IN CRESWELL

Due to unavoidable circumstances the speech of Hon. Josiah W. Bailey, advertised to be held in Creswell Tuesday night, did not materialize. A large crowd from all sections of the county assembled to hear this well known speaker, but as the time arrived for the event the principal had not shown up.

The situation was met, however by a short, well timed and direct talk by Atty. Carl L. Bailey of Roper, who, after finishing his message, called upon Hon. Van B. Martin, Democratic candidate for the legislature.

Mr. Martin spoke for almost an hour and lived up to his reputation as an orator. He held the attention of the audience in a remarkable manner, and long before he had finished all thought and disappointment because of the non-arrival of the advertised speaker had vanished from the minds of the crowd, which was composed of both ladies and gentlemen of all political faiths and notions.

The speaker reviewed his past record as a legislator, and pointed with pride to the achievements made by that body for the past two decades. The sympathies of the Democratic candidate for the legislature, so he claims and which is eminently evident, lays with the small and debt-burdened farmer who struggles valiantly to make a living for his family and finds himself unable to meet the demands of the tax collector.

If he goes to the legislature for the next term there is every probability that he will introduce a bill asking for legislation that will place the burden of public maintenance on the luxuries of life, which will thereby be equally distributed among those who are able to shoulder the burden, and which at the same time will afford an opportunity to the small farmer of making a comfortable living.

The audience was attentive and appreciative, and long after the speaking was over crowds remained in the vicinity of the auditorium breaking up into small groups and talking the new situation over among themselves.
