MAY TAKE OFF TRAINS 56-57

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company has filed a petition with the North Carolina Corporation Commission asking permission to discontinue trains number 56 and 57, which operate between Plymouth and Tarboro. Several towns along the line have filed protests with the state commission, wishing to hinder the agreement of such action with the railroad company. Williamston and Jamesville are busy in the fight against such a move, and have invited Plymouth to aid in protesting against permission being granted the company to remove these necessary trains.

The railroads' policy of discarding everything in their systems that does not yield a handsome profit is considered selfish. This would delay mails coming into this town for six or seven hours. Express would be handicapped, and much perishable goods would become spoiled while waiting other trains at Parmele.

The Chamber of Commerce would do well to aid these towns in their effort to thwart the plans of the railroad company, and to retain this service.
