Life's Most Joyous Days

Lots of folk have had joyous days in their life and it will be hard for each to say which really was the most joyous.

We have asked numbers of our friends to tell us what they considered life's most joyous day to their.

Remarks were almost as numerous and different as were the number of people we approached. It is however, rather gratifying that many did say that their wedding day was life's most joyous day. This is really gratifying because there are many of those who believe that real hardships started only when they got married and then folks who wrote funny stuff always harp on the struggling wedded couple.

Others even claim to have gotten their most joy when they felt the light of religion fall on them and the coming into the world of the first born of others made them happy.

But one fellow answered us and said his most joyous day was when he went to town and paid in full the mortgage on his home and farm and heard the words, "It's all paid up! You're free."

Now folks which was life's most joyous day to you?

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Many an automobile is now on its last spin.

If you would outshine your neighbors acquire a good reputation and then keep it polished.

Yields of 325 bushels of sweet potatoes an acre are reported by several North Carolina farmers.

Why is it that the average man will stop his work to look at a good looking lady walk across the street.

The reason why policies is as rotten as it is, can be found in the rottenness that is within the average citizen.

The millenium will be at hand when the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties agree on any public issue.

Judging from comments in the press the people of other countries do not have the impression that Uncle Sam is any Samartian.

One idea of a modest lawyer is the one who was allowed a fee of $175,000 by the Court, and voluntarily reduced to $166,000.

Our sympathy is always extended to the man who begins to build a house, expecting to get out on the amount he expects to get out on.

Grammar and high school costs, it is estimated have risen 747 per cent in 25 years. That must be the higher education we hear so much about.

The better-than average cottons, more than paid their way this year. The Mexican Big Boll variety is one of the best for conditions in this state.

The churches of Plymouth do not work in a spectacular fashion but whenever they close their doors the rest of the town might as well call it the end.

Some of the best yields of tobacco recorded during the past year were secured where dolomitic limestone was used on the land along with good fertilizer, cultivation and varieties.

OBITUARY

(By Mrs. W. B. Chesson)

Mrs. Nattie Ray Chesson, daughter of the late A. B. Alexander and Mrs. Mary Alexander, of the Pleasant Grove community was born March 12, 1896, and was married to Edgar Ross Chesson, November 22, 1914, and died at the home of her husband's father, J. W. Chesson, near Mackeys, on November 27, 1927, at 31 years of age. Mrs. Era Chesson was by her bedside, rendering her invaluable service until the end.

She joined the Pleasant Grove M. E. Church in 1910, and was a consistent member until her death.

About four years ago she was taken to the Western part of the state for treatment, and she has been in declining health since.

As a wife and mother she was tender and devoted. She had the unusual gift of making friends. Much interest was centered in the home which was the throne of her greatest power.

During the long period of suffering she never complained. The beauty of her forgetfulness of self, and her consideration of the comforts of others was a benediction to all who knew her. She felt that it was God's will for her to suffer; that there was a purpose in it, and that it was for her to learn His will and fulfill her mission on earth.

The funeral service was conducted at the Pleasant Grove M. E. Church on the following Tuesday afternoon by her pastor Rev. H. A. Ciester, assisted by Rev. W. E. Norris of the Plymouth Christian Church. She is survived by a husband, Mr. Edgar R. Chesson, and three sons, Gordon, Ross and Elmo.

She sleeps in the Pleasant Grove cemetery.

RED CROSS VOLUNTEER WORKERS BIG FACTOR

Broader Industry in Home Chapter and in Field Development of Disaster Service.

Volunteer industry in the American Red Cross is on an upward trend, due to the broader demand for assistance in meeting disaster relief requirements. Men and women from Red Cross Chapters in the last year exemplified their work for disaster victims a greater activity than in any year since the end of the World War.

This service was given without stint and with the finest of spirit, according to Red Cross officials. Volunteer Red Cross workers have served by the thousands with the local Chapters in garment production, printing raised-type reading matter for the blind, in hospital service, as canteen workers and motor corps aids. Nearly all active Chapter workers are volunteers.

More than 90 per cent of the available reading material for the blind is produced by volunteer Red Cross workers. Volunteers produced 175,481 garments, 2,057,912 surgical dressings for hospital use, and 6,398 articles for emergency closets maintained by Red Cross Chapters in various communities for disaster and other emergencies. The garment production, large as it was, did not include the thousands of garments made for the Mississippi flood sufferers by volunteers. Another important volunteer service is the preparation and sending of 30,000 Christmas bags to soldiers and bluejackets on duty in foreign stations.

Approximately 250 Chapters participate in Motor Corps service, while the growing interest of volunteers in health work constitutes an additional community safeguard in emergencies when the services of regular nurses might be overtaxed.

Volunteer service will be an important factor in the forthcoming eleventh Annual Roll Call, from November 11 to 24, in enrolling the 5,000,000 membership to be sought.

Capital's Police Women Stand High in First Aid

Members of the Women's Bureau of the District of Columbia police department recently completed the Red Cross first aid course. This is perhaps the first women's group of the kind to be awarded the special first aid arm insignia by the American Red Cross in token of completion of the training.

The Red Cross in the past year qualified 24,812 persons in first aid and awarded certificates to members of police and fire departments, industrial groups and utilities employees all over the United States.

The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, during which new membership is invited, will be held this year from November 11 to 24.
