Congress Swings Into Line

It is quite gratifying to see Congress getting down behind the Wall Street gamblers. If it can just crush the last New York gambler, it will be the greatest thing Congress has ever done.

The trouble with the gambler is that there is always somebody near with little enough sense to be fleeced.

Congress actually seems to be developing a conscience. A committee has actually recommended unseating Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, because he cheated old Tom Heflin.

Drastic Punishment Needed

While many people object to death sentences for any crime, it really seems as if we should add one more offense to the list of crime carrying the supreme penalty, and that one is kidnapping.

When we think of some villain grabbing a child from its mother's arms or from any other place for that matter, and running away with it, leaving the parents stricken with horrors that are undecipherable, there is no punishment too severe for him.

The Donkey—Truly a Party Symbol

It is beginning to look like the Democrats are going to act more like donkeys this year than ever before. With a wide-open chance for victory in sight, every element is pulling for the nomination, and many of them without much thought of the principles upon which the party was built.

Now comes along Mr. Raskob, with all his radical ideas and millions of money, and with the help of the Duponts, Jouett Shouse and Al Smith, trying to drown Miss Democracy in alcohol.

The men who fit the democracy of both the present and the past—such as Newton D. Baker—are being side-tracked.

This is the hour for Democrats to stand together for the sole purpose of attaining a system of government that will guarantee fair and free government to all men and every legitimate business.

Create Wealth, Not Waste It

Chicago finds 6,500 too many people on her payroll and has proceeded to dismiss them. It is a pretty hard time to turn fellows out of a green pasture, yet if they are not needed, they should go.

Prosperity can not be restored by pay rolls. It must come by creating wealth, not by wasting it. Too many folks have been drawing pay already, and too few have actually been creating wealth.

If North Carolina should put every citizen in the State on the pay roll, it would only make us poorer. No city, county, state, or nation can make good times return by putting half of its citizens on the pay roll and taxing the other half to pay them.

The same principle is involved in our war preparations. The home folks who have to pay taxes to keep up a big army and navy will always be under bondage. No prosperity can live unless it is based on the principle that each person, or most of them, at least, earn what they get.

Go After It

Folks who are waiting for prosperity to come to them are doomed to disappointment. The only kind of prosperity we are going to get now is the kind that we go after ourselves, which, after all, is the only kind that is worth anything.

The sooner we forget 1919, and its fancy prices, follies, and sins, the better off we will be.

In these parts we have plenty to eat for this year. The important thing now is to prepare for next year. We will never be down and out just as long as we have plenty to eat.

A Worn-Out Pinion

"Boone Sketches" in The Watauga Democrat.

The other day The Democrat's linotype operator noted a grating noise in the driving mechanism of the complicated machine, and an inspection revealed that the main motor pinion, a fiber gear which had transmitted motive power for the intricate device had worn its face to a frazzle against the steel gear with which it was enmeshed.
