CRESWELL CLASS ENJOYS DINNER

Seniors There Entertained By Mesdames Respass and Woodley

Creswell—Sedate seniors of the Creswell High School exhibited their traditional punctiousness at a dinner given in their honor at the Christian parsonage here with Mrs. Stewart Woodley and Mrs. Roy Respass as hostesses to the finishing students Wednesday evening.

The guests were greeted at the door by Rev. Roy Respass who, in turn, presented the hostesses who showed the ladies into a boudoir while the men were invited into the study. Daughters of the hostesses, little Miss Mildred Davis Woodley and little Miss Mildred Earl Respass, were mascots of the class this year and they were present.

The French doors to the living room and the dining room were opened and the two rooms converted en suite. Most of the older guests who came to be with the seniors were seated in the dining room while the seniors themselves were seated around tables specially arranged for them in the living room.

The repast was served in four courses beginning with delicious punch followed by the special dinner which included pickles, cream potatoes, English peas, celery, fried chicken, hot rolls, butter and iced tea. Then came a salad course which included chopped apples, bananas, carrots, sprinkled with coconut cleverly arranged on lettuce. Dessert consisted of three kinds of cake with ice cream ornamented by cherries.

The gaily gownned and lovely young ladies were seated about the tables with equally as sartorially clad young men as companions and during the entire meal the guests participated in progressive conversation while over in one corner an artist crooned softly through a radio while an orchestra played modern dance music.

Flowers of heterogeneous colors lined the walls and were cleverly placed on the tables and elsewhere in profusion as the class colors were rainbow, each flower and all the shades blending appropriately. Favors were small baskets placed at each plate with candy in the containers. The flowers and the general decorations harmonized beautifully with the handsome bungalow parsonage. Among the flowers were pines, carnations, narcissus, roses and others.

Negro Appeals from Fine Given Him in County Court

An appeal was noted by Wheeler Holley, local negro, who was fined $50 and costs in recorder's court here Tuesday for assaulting his wife. If he fails to pay the fine unless the superior court changes the sentence, the negro must serve six months on the roads.

The testimony intimated in court that Holley was beating his wife on account of her relations with another man. This was denied by the wife. The warrant charged that he beat her on March 28.

Mrs. Harris Is Slightly Injured in Fall Here

Mrs. Fletcher Harris sustained an injured back Wednesday when she fell through an open place in the floor at E. H. Liverman's store while shopping. The door had been left open by an employee who went to the cellar to build a fire that heats the store. Medical attention was rendered by Dr. C. McGowan. It is not thought that Mrs. Harris' injury will prove serious.

Ravioli—From Sunny Italy

Ravioli is an Italian dish, but it has won the approval of many Americans who like to be "different." I have received frequent questions about the preparation of this hearty, savory concoction.

The paste is made of: 5 cups of flour, 4 eggs, 6 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon salt

Sift the flour onto a bread board, make a hole in the center and break the eggs into it. Add water and salt, and mix all together until the flour is absorbed and the paste is stiff enough to roll out.

While she waited, she prepared the filling—mix together: 1 pound lean, chopped cooked meat, 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese, 1 egg, slightly beaten, Dash grated lemon peel, 1 tablespoon butter.

Any kind of meat will do, although Italians are partial to pork and chicken. Spinach may be used for the herb.

She stuffed the paste in this manner: Place the filling by teaspoonsful on the sheet of paste in a row two inches apart. Fold over the paste to cover the filling, cut across where the edge meets the remaining paste and then cut the strip into squares, with filling in center of each. Continue until all ingredients are used. Press the edges of the squares together so that the filling cannot fall out and then put into boiling salted water, cook slowly until tender.

Meanwhile she prepared the tomato sauce, using: 1-2 onion, chopped, 1 small stick celery, 1 small bunch parsley, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, or 7 or 8 fresh ones, 4 tablespoons olive oil, Salt and pepper to taste.

Cook all ingredients together slowly for at least one-half hour or until as thick as cream. Strain, garnish with Parmesan cheese. If you haven't a good recipe for real Italian spaghetti, try this one: 1-4 cup oil, 1-2 teaspoon black pepper, 1 sliced onion, 3 tablespoons tomato paste, 1-2 cup water, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-2 pound spaghetti, 1-2 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Put the oil into a saucepan, add the black pepper and heat two minutes. Add onion and cook until it is a delicate brown. Mix tomato paste with half cup water and add this to the oil, pepper and onions in three "installments," allowing the mixture to boil up after each addition. Add tomatoes, bay leaf and salt and cook slowly for 45 minutes. Put in sugar and cook 15 minutes longer. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water, drain and mix with tomato sauce. Serve on a platter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Six servings. Serve piping hot.

Advertisement for advertising. Text: Did You Ever Stop To Think? That Advertising Speeds Up Success? Truthful advertising is nourishment that the people can easily digest, and will pay any business concern that uses it persistently. Competition is keener today than it has been in years, and this makes it necessary for business concerns to pay more attention to the work that advertising does. Truthful, persistent, advertising compels attention and always creates favorable impressions. It aids sales with its convenience, economy, and effectiveness. Advertising is vital to the success of every business. Persistent advertising indicates quality and value and creates confidence in the minds of the buying public. Quality goods well advertised sell and keep on selling. Advertising builds business and, by increasing volume, cuts down overhead—nothing strange about that. It is being done everywhere. For high quality at sane prices, advertised goods are best.
