MISSTATEMENT!
As Follows:

We have always made sales about this season of the year, and we feel that we must carry out our old custom.

When prices were down by leaps and bounds in 1931, our good friends and customers stuck by us and merchandise is going up faster than it dropped, I am going to stick by you. I realize the merits of everything, and I assure you that you will be glad you came to this sale. My clerks back well as a merchant, and I know well that the farmer needs good prices now. COME

(Signed) E. H. LIVERMAN.
