SPECIAL SERVICE AT CRESWELL BY Home and

Building Is Dedicated by Bishop With Excellent Sermon

Creswell .- "Through the ages the Bridge. church has been the central institution of a community, and though empires have risen and fallen, the church | Wednesday afternoon, July 24th lives on today," said Bishop Paul B. Swain. Kern, of Greensboro, at the dedication of the Methodist Episcopal church South, at Creswell Friday afternoon.

His subject was "The Church, the Dwelling Place of the Eternal." The clergyman traced the history of Methodism down to the present day mentioning John Wseley, the founder, and revealed that the efforts of Wesley was not to create a new organization or denomination but that his purpose was to seek a more spiritual life with the Master.

The major points in his message were: The Church is society's most enduring institution; the Church is the representative of Jesus Christ in the world revealing the supremacy of human perosnality and, the gospel as the saving hope of the world; the Church is God's dwelling place, this Church meaning the hearts of men

Six ministers and seven leaders of the church took part in the beautiful and simple dedication service that followed the Bishop's discourse. Pre-Elizabeth City, traveling with the high all the counties of the State. The churchman, introduced the speaker while Rec. E. L. Stack, of Roper, pastor of the church, presided.

Visiting clergymen who mingled with the large crowd included, Rev. M. O. Stephenson, Tyner; Rev. W. F. Walters, Edenton; Rev. R. R. Grant, Williamston; Rev. K. F. Duvall, of Plymouth; Rev. W. G. Dawson, of Columbia; Rev. J. W. Hardy, rector of St. David's Episcopal Church, of Creswell; Rev. W. L.
