Tells of Opposition To Health Insurance Measure in the State

Dr. Edwin Boice, of Rocky Mount, Addresses Club In Interesting Meet

Opposition is being waged against the efforts to get a model health insurance measure included in the Social Security Act, according to Dr. Edwin Boice, chief surgeon of the Parkview Hospital at Rocky Mount, who explained the plan to the Lions Club of Plymouth last Thursday.

This measure, pushed by Abraham Epstein, would cover medical expense and cash benefits up to 50 percent of the salary of the person. It would be administered by a group of five appointed by the Governor including one physician and would cover about 90 percent of the country's employees.

The group under Epstein, working for this, have a systematized method of propaganda sending out 200,000 letters annually with newspapers, magazines and radios also used. Field workers and lecturers follow up these letters.

Another scheme is to have State medicine with physicians on a salary and the entire medical program under law control. This would, no doubt, drift into politics as other government phases, and taxation would be the means of defraying the expense.

Opponents assert that this would destroy the relationship between physician and patient; lower the quality of service; stifle ambition; discourage progress; increase morbidity and mortality.

This system has been tried in Europe and has not been successful because it provided a method for the lazy person to draw a living benefit and be treated for a very slight ailment thus making out what is known as compensation-neurosis.

Dr. Boice voiced the opinion that because of this regimentation of the medical profession in foreign countries that it had lowered the desire for research and lowered efficiency as now most of the new medical discoveries come from America and Canada.

Carlot Shipments of Swine Average One And Half Cents More

Washington Farmers Ship Twenty-six Carloads of Hogs Cooperatively

Carlot shipment of hogs from Plymouth through W. V. Hays, farm agent, has resulted in the receiving of an average of a cent and a half a pound over the prevailing price here prior to the inauguration of the cooperative shipping service about six weeks.

An average out of the 26 cars that have been shipped is $9.80 per hundred pounds. The average per carlot has been $1,500 making the 26 cars shipped for the season amount to close to $39,000 that has come into this section as revenue from this lone project.

This shipping has been in progress for six weeks. Four cars will be shipped next Tuesday and then no more will be shipped until May 20. Shipments will be made once monthly through June and July with shipments going back to the weekly schedule in August and September.

Cars have been purchased in Wilmington, Delaware; Richmond, Va., with the most of them going to the plants in Baltimore. The hogs are tested and graded before leaving the loading pens here.

No Contests Likely At Town Election

It appears today that Mayor B. G. Campbell and his six councilmen will have no opposition in the municipal election here on May 4 th. There had been no opposition filed Wednesday morning.

The six councilmen: E. H. Liverman and H. C. Spruill from the third ward; Dr. W. Johnson and Jas. W. Norman of the second; W. J. Mayo and T. C. Burgess of the first are not opposed so far.

Resolution Proposes National Park for Lake Phelps Region

A resolution will be introduced at the meeting of the Southern Albemarle Association meeting here today asking that the United States Government establish and maintain a national park in the Lake Phelps section of Washington and Tyrrell Counties.

Thus the Southern Albemarle Association would join with Charles Ashby, of Edenton, president of the Carolina Coastal Park Association; Mrs. Mary Winder Osborne, of Richmond, a relative of some of the older families this section; and with many others.

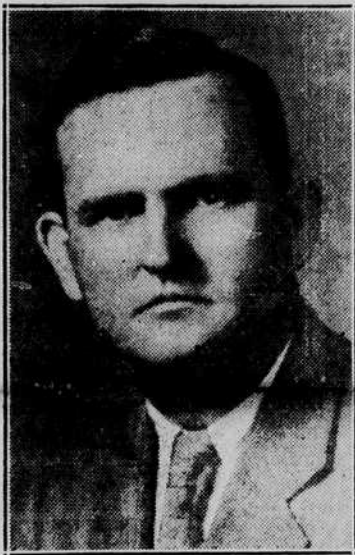

Those proposing the park would name it Pettigrew Park in honor of that great Confederate leader, Johnston Pettigrew, who, under General

Pickett, led North Carolina's soldiers "farthest at Gettysburg." The idea of Pettigrew Park is practical, as the Federal government owns 10,000 acres of the Colonial Pettigrew plantation, known as Magnolia Farm, in the Scuppernon farms Rural Resettlement Administration project. It is understood that a hotel is to be erected soon, and the Albemarle Sound bridge will make the place accessible.

John W. Darden will introduce the resolution here. The Pettigrew kin, Daughters of the Confederacy, the Colonial Dames, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Southern Albemarle Association will urge statesmen to prevail on the government to set apart a few hundred acres for this purpose.

Dare, First of Four Albemarle Counties To Vote, Goes Dry

Believed Washington Will Vote Wet by Narrow Margin on June 1

How many of the Southern Albemarle Counties will go wet? This is a much discussed question today as residents of Dare, Hyde, Tyrrell and Washington become acquainted and the drift from the current happenings of the day goes to the future.

Dare County, voting last Saturday carried a majority against the permitting the sale of legalized liquor in stores controlled by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Tyrrell is expected to vote soon and this is considered a dry county. Hyde County is problematical, and Washington County is expected to vote wet by a small majority in the referendum on June 1.

The wet forces claim that Washington needs the revenue or profits from the operation of the stores to pay its one-fourth share of the amount that will be necessary to pay the benefits and pensions to aged under the Social Security Bill.
