Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor Are Team in New Film

"Her Cardboard Lover" To Be at Plymouth Theatre Next Week

Delightful comedy without a shadow of remorse will be on the screen at the Plymouth Theatre next Monday and Tuesday where Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor co-star in "Her Cardboard Lover."

This smart, amusing story from the play by Jacques Deval was directed by George Cukor, whose craftsmanship sparkles through dialogue and action. Placed in a fashionable winter resort on the Florida coast, the story is swift, light and unburdened with anything heavier than laughter, music and romance.

George Sanders, Frank McHugh and Elizabeth Patterson have the principal supporting roles and their impersonations are smoothly achieved.

The narrative presents a charming visitor at Palm Beach, Miss

Red Skelton, Ann Sothern Featured In "Masie" Movie

The adventures of Masie continue fast and furious in "Masie Gets Her Man," latest in the series of which Ann Sothern is the star, and which will be here Sunday at the Plymouth Theatre.

Sharing starring honors with Miss Sothern is Red Skelton, radio and screen comedian, who appears as an aspiring vaudeville comic. The teaming of Ann Sothern and Red Skelton is a "natural" and the first-night audience left no doubt that there would be further demand for other vehicles for this pair.

Knife-Thrower's Aide

Masie appears as a jobless show-girl in search of a job after she quits a knife-thrower's act when that gentleman turns up for work drunk. She wanders into a building known to its regulars as the "Larceny Building", and Masie's life is just a series of adventures after that.

Masie and Red form a vaudeville team, get a booking but they fail because of Red's incurable stage fright. Thereafter they get mixed up with a racket in the "Larceny Building." How they clear themselves comprises the rest of the story.

The story, a swift compounding of elements of adventure and comedy, is ably aided by a strong supporting cast which includes such able veterans as Donald Meek, Allen Jenkins, Leo Gorcey, Fritz Feld and Rags Ragland. Direction by Roy Del Ruth, responsible for topnotch musicals, is fast-paced and able.

traordinary long wear of nylon hosiery cannot yet be expected, but when a comparison is made with sheer silk hosiery, the consumer will probably be pleasantly surprised.

Reasonable care in handling and washing rayon hose is, of course, important. Treat them as you did your fine silk hosiery but have several pairs and wear on alternate days to allow sufficient time for thorough drying. Remember that rayon stockings are weaker when wet and their full strength is not regained until completely dry. If you roll or knead them in a turkish towel (for a few minutes only) it will make them dry more quickly and evenly. When you take them from the towel, shape them gently and place double over a rod or line.

Cabbage is versatile and is very good when freshly green and not too solid. That's when it is delicious, briefly boiled with nothing added but salt and a little butter.

Butter, cream, bacon, cheese, bread, onions, garlic, celery, parsley, canned tomatoes, lemons, bacon fat, and other meat drippings all of which are foods rather than condiments, can be useful in making meals palatable—and in solving that old left-over problem.

An attractive table isn't necessarily an expensive one. The important thing is to have the table cover clean, the silverware shining, the glassware clear and sparkling. All these details have a marked effect upon our appetite as well as our health.

A centerpiece of flowers or green leaves, however simple, adds a touch of pleasantness.

Meals, above all, should be pleasant. Many cases of indigestion start with a heated table conversation.

Medium Trucks To Take Over Work of Heavy Duty Units

Chevrolet Gives Dealers Instructions for Expanding Medium Trucks to Handling Capacities

Practical exhaustion of the supply of heavy-duty trucks, upon which hinge the major hauling operations in the country, focuses attention upon the necessity for truck dealers to convert which must be done if the nation's take over the big-haul operations transportation system is to handle its end of the war job. W. E. Fish, manager of Chevrolet's truck department said today.

Foreseeing the present critical situation, Chevrolet has made available to dealers full instructions for expanding the capacities of medium trucks to pinch-hit for the no longer available heavy-duty units, Fish said.

"Such conversion and expansion is no new development in the truck field," Fish pointed out. "Responsible manufacturers have produced conversion equipment for many years. The present war emergency highlights the necessity for producing trucks of expanded capacity. Our prime effort has been to serve as liaison between Chevrolet dealers and these established manufacturers of converting and specializing equipment."

Specialized mechanical information treating exclusively with truck conversion has been presented to Chevrolet dealers, who still have adequate supplies of either new or used medium trucks, all of which can be converted into units capable of handling heavy-duty loads.

"More than 60 per cent of all trucks require some form of special equipment," Fish pointed out, "for the truck has become a highly specialized transport unit. Chevrolet dealers have made a thorough study of the special equipment field and are conversant with the many individualized operations a converted truck can handle."

"Thousands of truck operators cannot purchase new equipment under the rulings established by the Office of Defense Transportation. And even those operators who are eligible are up against a dire shortage of the heavier equipment. The only answer open to the automotive industry and the businessmen it must serve, is conversion of such equipment as is still available, which is in full accord with the stated aims of the ODT and the War Production Board, as expressed by R. L. Vaniman, deputy chief of the W. P. B. automotive branch."

Citing an example of a medium truck conversion job, Fish pointed to a highway tanker, a mammoth unit whose original capacity was 14,000 lbs. gross weight. With the addition of a tandem drive rear and special transmission, and tandem semi-trailer, the unit now handles 56,000 lbs. gross.

"Expanding the capacity of trucks now classified as 'medium' units is a solution to this critical problem," Fish said. "Full information covering the job, which can be done economically, has been forwarded to Chevrolet dealers."

"In addition, Chevrolet recently called to Detroit 16 zone truck managers from as many vital war production areas in the country. These Sanders, but convinced that he is a ne'er-do-well. In order to evade his attentions she retains Terry, a handsome young song writer, to squire her around the resort and keep Tony at a distance. Taylor appears in the role with alacrity.

Naturally, this arrangement develops complications, all of them laughable. It also brings on a pitched battle between Taylor and Sanders, equally humorous. Eventually, the debonair song writer wins the girl himself, but only after a series of adventures which kept the audience laughing steadily.

"Her Cardboard Lover" is replete with spectacular sets, elaborate costuming and lilting melody. It is excellent comedy relief for people who would get away temporarily from the realities of a troubled world.

Loans Available Thru Land Bank

Land Bank Commissioner loans will continue to be available to farmers of Washington county under terms of legislation signed by President Roosevelt, W. G. Stancill, Secretary-Treasurer of the Coastal National Farm Loan Association, announced this week.

"Originally authorized in 1933 as an emergency measure, Mr Stancill said, "Commissioner loans have filled a real need in farm financing. They have enabled thousands of farmers to consolidate indebtedness at lower rates of interest and begin to make progress in getting out of debt. They have helped many tenants become farm owners. And of men were given full data on this truck conversion job and are now out in the field directing dealers in the operation.

"Ineligibility of many operators who must have trucks to remain in business; shortages of materials, and the shortage of heavy-duty models point this situation up as one of the more dangerous bottlenecks in our essential transportation needs as an aid to our war effort," Fish added. Chevrolet dealers, forward, are meeting this new responsibility in a commendable manner."

Army Buys Lot of Mosquito Netting

Because the Army is providing "armor" for its fighting troops in warm climates to guard against pests other than Hitler and Hirohito, manufacturers in North Carolina are now busy making 2,225,000 yards of mosquito netting, according to the office of the Fourth Corps Area Quartermaster.

To guard the health of the troops, the Quartermaster Corps has taken defensive measures against mosquitos and other insects, by purchasing approximately 65,000,000 yards of mosquito netting of various types and widths. In addition, several hundred thousand bars and more than half million headnets at a total cost of more than $14,000,000 are being purchased. The North Carolina orders are part of the total procurement that was divided among factories in ten states.

course, during the depression, they made it possible for thousands of farmers to keep farms they otherwise would have lost if such loans had not been available.

"Commissioner loans are made by the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation through Federal land banks and are serviced by local national farm loan associations exactly as Federal land bank loans are serviced. In Washington county there are approximately 53 Commissioner loans outstanding for a total face amount of $52,049."
