loud-mouthed busybodies are doing here right now.

Few of us do as much as we should to directly contribute to the war effort. However, if we are not doing the work ourselves, we can at least give credit to those who are trying. In other words, if you won't help, at least keep your mouth shut and don't hinder.

When the War Ends? Perquimans Weekly.

The people of the United States will be amazed, a while later, when the facts are revealed as to the number of fighting ships that have joined our Navy.

Battleships, carriers, cruisers and destroyers, with lesser units galore, have been rushed to completion and it is assumed that, as of today, we have the most powerful navy afloat.

Our Great America by Tryon

AMERICAN MILLS PRODUCED 1 1/2 BILLION YARDS OF COTON IN 1942. THAT WOULD MAKE A STRIP ONE FOOT WIDE AND 20 MILLION MILES LONG — ENOUGH TO "WRAP A BANDAGE" AROUND THE EARTH 800 TIMES!

ABOUT 65,000,000 NEW TREES HAVE BEEN PLANTED BY HAND IN WASHINGTON AND OREGON IN THE LAST 30 YEARS. IN PLACES WHERE NATURE COULDN'T DO THE PLANTING HERSELF, IN THE SAME AREA AND IN THE SAME PERIOD, IT IS ESTIMATED THAT NATURE PLANTED TEN TIMES THAT MANY MORE.

The end of the war will find the United States possessing the most formidable array of warships ever possessed by a single nation. What will be their fate? Will we fall for another disarmament program and junk the ships that insure the safety of the seas?

Let us hope not. If we do, another war will develop in the next thirty years and, once more, we will enter the combat without the essential weapons of warfare. Again we will suffer humiliating losses and struggle against long odds until new ships can be constructed.

If a nation can learn it is reasonable to presume that this country will maintain a fleet adequate in size, as compared to other fleets, to insure us against attack anywhere in the world.

Why Were the Saints, Saints? By RUTH TAYLOR

Over my desk I have a motto which is to me a daily reminder of what is needed in these trying times. Let me share it with you.

"Why were the saints, saints? Because they were cheerful when it was difficult to be cheerful; patient when it was difficult to be patient, and because they pushed on when they wanted to stand still, and kept silent when they wanted to be disagreeable. That was all. It was quite simple and always will be."

The days of the saints are not past. The need for saintly people was never greater. The tragedy of defeat brings its own courage for moments of crisis, but the road upward to victory is honeycombed with pitfalls for the unwary. We need now and will need ever more when we face the great problems ahead of us before peace is established, leaders and followers who are alike moved by unselfed devotion to the highest ideals.

We will have need of cheerful people those who can be cheerful when it is difficult to be so, who are more interested in bringing happiness and prosperity to others than in getting what they themselves want.

We will have need of patient people, those who can wait under difficulties, who do not need to rush through to the end, who must have everything happen at once as they want it, and who must live now as they think they should.

We will have need of preserving people, those who will push on when they are so tired they want to stand still, who will carry through the task before them even when heart and body fail, who do not give up under fire of criticism or complaint.

We will have need of thoughtful people as well as those who know when to talk and when to be still. We will have need of agreeable people, those who are trained in the habit of being kind and courteous even when tempted to be disagreeable. We will have need of self controlled people, those who will not fall into the traps of hatred toward any group, whether it be of class or creed or color.

Call them saints if you will, it is those kind of people we will need that we do need today, and it is the kind of sainthood that is within reach of every one of us. It is a daily task, a daily problem. Try it for one day, and the next, and the next. You may fail every now and then. I do. We all do—but, if we keep on trying, the effort will become a habit and we will find our problems solving themselves.

Why were the saints, saints? Because they kept on living what they believed. It was quite simple and it always will be.

Licenses Required By Threshers' Act

Raleigh.—Frank Parker, statistician with the state department of agriculture, called attention several days ago to the Threshers' Act, which was passed by the legislature in 1918 and which provides that each threshing machine and combine be licensed by the Register of Deeds of the county in which it operates.

"Because records of acreage and production of grain crops are so important at this time, we must emphasize the fact that each operator of these machines comply with the state threshers' law," declared Parker.

He pointed out that compliance with the law will result in the gathering of information essential to war program planning, individual farm records, business practices, official records, machinery rationing and county crop goals.

Parker said that "because of this law, North Carolina farmers have gained special favors and better programs than would have been possible otherwise."

All Saboteurs Do Not Depend on Dynamite

All saboteurs are not aliens and do not operate in far-away factories, and all the selfishness in this country is not confined to John L. Lewis and his coal miners. Some of those are to be found right here in Washington County, and it is time steps were taken to correct some existing local conditions.

For example, a call has gone out for all types of labor to help save the potato crop of this section. That this crop is a part of our war supplies may be judged from the fact that the government bought 85 per cent of all the potatoes shipped during the past few days from the area. Men and women, boys and girls, white and colored, are being urged to help save this crop; and they can early pretty fair wages while performing what is really a patriotic duty.

This is a serious problem, yet there are some—a few, but some—who are sneering at efforts being made by conscientious men and women to recruit the help urgently needed in the potato fields. They have said it is not necessary; that it is foolish for white women to volunteer for this work; and they go on at some lengths to belittle and censure those who show an inclination to help.

Food is needed to win the war. So are planes, ships, tanks and guns. The saboteur who blows up a munitions plant is no more reprehensible than the person who maliciously or ignorantly tries to create suspicion in the minds of patriotic workers that they are being played for "suckers," which is exactly what some of our
