No C-D Driver Failures Noted

Auto License Examiner James Boyce has reported that so far in the C-D driver examination period, approximately 45 applications, 20 of them from old drivers, have been made to him which, he pointed out, was considerably more than for the same period of the A-B exam

No failures at all have been recorded among the old-driver group, he said, remarking that the majority of the C-D drivers had apparently had some coaching from drivers in the A-B group who had already taken the new license tests.
