James Polk Spruill, Tommy West and Clarence Kelly, students at Fork Union Military Academy, Fork Union, Va., are spending the spring holidays here with their parents. They came home last week-end and will reurn to Fork Union in time to begin their spring semester studies by the first of next week.

Farmers of Washington County realize what value AAA lime is to their soil and are beginning to use it more and more each year. To date 1,539 tons of lime have been delivered to farmers in the county. This week the contractor is delivering 500 tons more. All orders placed to date will be taken care of this week Orders placed after this month cannot expect spring delivery.

Undoubtedly a lot of people made the same mistake throughout the country, but Frank Brinklev is the first to report it locally. He was very pleased when he got his state and federal income tax returns in on time. However, this week he got one of them back and learned that he put them in the wrong envelopes. He sent his state return to the federal office and his federal return to state office.

Local Man Gets

Jack W. House last Sunday became the second Plymouth man to get a hole-in-one on the country club course here since it was established in 1937. He holed out his tee-hot on the 130-yard par-3 fourth hole, using a No. 5 iron against a head wind. He was playing in a foursome with R. F. Lowry, Frank Ocheltree and Jimmy Gilreath at the time. E. J. Spruill made the first hole-in-one on the regular greens about six years ago, when he aced the 150-yard second hole. Ellis Maples, former club pro, and Clyde Hardison made aces on temporary greens some years ago; and one Greenville and one Washington man also have had holesin-one on the local course.
