BILLY ARTHUR

State College, Raleigh, N. C.
February 14, 1945

Dear Billy:

My 83-year-old South Georgia uncle, J. N. Horne, native of Onslow County, has broken down with another of his long letters, much of which is devoted to comments on the News and Views, which I mark and send to him when I have finished. Here are a few excerpts: "I notice that Billy Arthur has given a big write-up to Sister for killing a 'possum with the soap-stick. Her strength and bravery are not surprising, and I can well remember how hard she could push in wrestling matches with her younger brother. While her exploits were going on, we were eating a fat 'possum given us by our friends, the Martins; we are afraid that she was finicky and threw the jelly-headed 'possum into the garbage, instead of baking it with mashed sweet potatoes, as should have been done."

"The News and Views has a lot of new names in it, but if Billy should ever leave out Thompson, Koonce, Gurganus, Burton, Humphrey, Henderson, Shepard, Cox, Taylor Collins, Jarman, Capps, Petteway, Yopp, Venters, and Aman, he won't have much to build a paper on."

"My memory of the Barbers and Jarman is that they were dyed-in-the-wool Baptists, and I'm surprised to note that Mrs. Warn and Henry Jarman are putting memorial windows into the Methodist Church."

"And the deceased Miss Koonce was one of your teachers? That's nothing. I was a student of Mrs. Joe Brock, daughter of old Mr. Frank Thompson. I went also to Mr. Sam King. But some of his descendants are living in the Southwest section. His eldest daughter was named India, as I remember."

"I see that Florence Simpson has moved back to Jacksonville, and that Asa and Lizzie Simpson's grandchildren are getting pictures in the paper for their work in the war. Remember how I used to love Asa and Lizzie. I always thought Lizzie was too retiring to show to the world what a noble character she was."

"And the Millises and Gregories down the river at Snead's Ferry. I remember Uncle Lott and Aunt Martha Gregory. Mother's sister, lived for a time at Gregory's fork near Richlands. About 1870, four of us nephews and nieces, walked the whole distance to spend the weekend with them, and found that we were very welcome? As they already had a house full of their codfish friends from down the river. Have never got it through my head why our parents let that 'nch go on that trip."

"J. C. Collins is probably Lucy Lor's boy. And R. V. Venters Brince Venters' son. I used to feel that I was just about to New York when I got in sight of the Venters plantation. Timmons Jones, I believe he was coroner, and was one of the first to reach Jericho when he was fatally bitten by the shark. "Reviewing these names and many more that I have not mentioned takes me back to good old Eastern North Carolina. Enjoy this more than any other feature of the Jax paper. I am told that Camp Lejeune is a copper. Largest in the U. S. I believe."

"In wrapping the News and Views, be sure your wrapper is long enough to cover the papers. The ends are torn and in bad shape on arrival."

OPA Director States America's Supply of New Cars Very Low

Raleigh—America's stockpile of new cars is dangerously low, OPA District Director Theodore S. Johnson said today, adding that quotas for March are now being worked out.

The total number of new 1942 cars on hand is but 10,000, Johnson said, compared with the 67,000 new cars authorized for consumer delivery in 1944, and 209,000 delivered in 1943. This 10,000-car reserve, Johnson pointed out, must be allotted with extreme care, for they must be made to last until production is resumed.

Additional Plans Scheduled For North Carolina Cotton Growers Contest

Growers planning to take part in the first North Carolina Five-Acre Cotton Contest, for which awards of $3,000 are being offered, should take steps immediately to obtain the best possible planting recommendations. J. A. Shanklin of State college, cotton specialist in charge of the contest.

County agents are pooling seed orders in some counties and plans for an exceptionally large enrollment in the contest are already under way. Reports from several counties indicate that more than one hundred leading farmers in each county plan to enter the contest with the idea of producing from 10 to 15 bales of cotton on five acres.

North Carolina is divided into three districts and four awards, totaling $750, will be offered in each district in addition to the State prize of $750 to that grower who leads all contestants.

As a means of stimulating local interest, some counties are also putting on local contests on the same basis as the State contest. The counties are also being divided into districts so that all growers may have a fair chance of competing for the awards.

In previous contests winning growers have taken full advantage of well-drained land of high moisture holding capacity, have fertilized generously in keeping with the ability of their land to utilize large amounts of fertilizer; and, have had a relatively large number of plants per acre, about 30,000 or more.

Some growers have used three-foot rows with two to four plants in hills about eight to 12 inches apart.

KEEP ON... Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Forest Products Committee Plans Pulpwood Drive To Aid War Effort

Governor R. Gregg Cherry, recognizing the urgent need of forest products to meet the war demands, and at the request of the War Production Board and industry representatives, held a conference of lumbermen, pulp and paper manufacturers, and representatives of agricultural and forestry agencies and the various war activities groups. This conference, held recently, checked the record of progress in North Carolina and found that we have done remarkably well in supplying lumber and pulpwood, but at the same time believes that we can do more in helping to meet this urgent need.

The War Production Board shows the critical need for forest products in this statement on lumber and pulpwood: "Lumber is now in such short supply that a number of important military programs are affected. Unless action is taken immediately to relieve the manpower and equipment situation, it will be necessary for the military to reschedule some of their essential programs to allow the use of substitute materials."

"Overall lumber production has decreased steadily, month by month, since August. The total estimated lumber requirements for the first quarter of 1945 are 9,167,000,000 board feet, as against an anticipated supply based upon fourth quarter 1944 production of 7,490,000,000 board feet. This represents a deficit of 18%. At a meeting of the Lumber Industry Advisory Committee on December 15, a pool of the committee members on their estimates of production in the first quarter of 1945 disclosed a joint opinion that first quarter production may be reduced an additional 25% below the anticipated production indicated above. Under such conditions, the gap between supply and requirements would be even greater. That drastic further restrictions would be applied to various essential programs."

Pulpwood: "Overall inventories of pulpwood in the United States have dropped 12% during the period September through November, 1944. In 1943, the inventory drain for the identical period was only 2%."

Consumption from August through November has exceeded consumption during the same period in 1943 by 10%, while domestic production during this period has increased by only 3%.

"Approximately 10% of the available wood pulp supply is now going for non-paper uses, such as explosives, rayon, cellophane, and export. The requirements of wood pulp for ordnance purposes, for example, which were negligible at the beginning of the war have now increased to 20,000 tons per month, and are expected to increase to nearly 36,000 tons per month before the end of 1945."

The established minimum requirement for paper and paperboard for the first quarter of 1945 are 4,400,000 tons. It is obvious that increased production in lumber and pulpwood is essential to the war effort. The only possible way to set this increase is not only to maintain the present labor supply, but to use every available means of increasing it."

The conference chairman, Dr. I. O. Schaub, Director of Extension at State College, appointed a committee of industry representatives and representatives of the public agencies to plan and promote a campaign among farmers, timber owners, and timber operators to increase the output of forest products, especially lumber and pulpwood.

The demand is urgent. Some one said, "Don't let our boys overseas down." Yet numerous cases were reported showing the shortage of shells and supplies reaching the front due to a shortage of lumber and pulp for making packaging material. It's the patriotic duty of every farmer, timber operator, woods laborer, and others to give every day possible to aid in meeting these timber needs. The boys at the fighting front have no waste or idle time—let's have no absenteeism in the woods.

Goals for the first six months of 1945 call for North Carolina to produce 450,000 cords of pulpwood and 850,000,000 board feet of lumber by July 1. We can do it if everybody helps.

This call for help and cooperation is going all the way down to the man in the field and the forest. The county agricultural agent will call a county conference of the vocational teachers, farm forester, TPWP forester, chairman of the county war board, Soil Conservation and Farm Security representatives, county forest warden, local pulpwood contractors or buyers, lumbermen, farmers and timber owners, the local editors and other key people, and organize a County Forest Products Committee to carry on the campaign for "more wood products for our fighting men now."

Relief Promised This Area As Local Oil Men Hold Meeting

New Bern—Plans for obtaining additional supplies of gasoline for this area were worked out here Saturday at a meeting of local oil men, Cherry Point representatives, dealers from surrounding territories and John W. Dozier, of Charlotte, administrator of petroleum products for war.

The first relief was promised through the release of some pipe line "cushion stock," reported to have accumulated in Greensboro. Beginning March 1, it was arranged, the area northward from Washington, N. C. to the Virginia border will be served out of Norfolk.

Instead of by barge from Wilmington as at present, the Jacksonville region, also now being served by barges out of Wilmington, will be taken care of by transport trucks from pipe line terminals at Macon, Ga. The Wilmington barges will then be able to get more gasoline to this section.

County Agent Clark Lists Suggestions to Increase Production

The corn yields in Onslow County as well as other eastern Carolina Counties are extremely low. It has been proven by the Experiment Station by having a sufficient number of plants per acre and a sufficient amount of fertilizer that our corn yields can be greatly increased—instead of having 20 bushels of corn to the acre it should be 40, 50 or more.

Following are recommended suggestions for farmers in this county in effort to increase the yield of corn thereby reducing the cost of producing a bushel of corn.

1st. Use a proven variety or an adapted hybrid corn.

2nd. Select fertilizer to fit the soil conditions and past cropping history.

3rd. In rotation with heavily fertilized crops, 200-300 lbs. 6-8-6 or such as tobacco and cotton 5-7-5.

4th. In rotation with small grains and legumes 300-500 lbs. 6-8-6 or for feed or where legumes are turned under 5-7-5.

5th. In rotation with peanuts or legumes for hay 300-500 lbs. 4-8-3.

6th. Provide enough plants to produce desired yields.

7th. Avoid late deep cultivation but control weeds early. Use a weeder, where available, or section harrow until the corn is from 4 to 6 inches high. Cultivate shallow at all times until the corn is 2 1/2 feet high and then stop cultivation. Do not use a turning plow or pull tongue. Before each cultivation dig down and determine the location of the corn roots. Do not at any time cultivate close enough to plants or deep enough to injure any roots.

8th. Vary side dressing with soil fertility and expected yield in increase. Land which usually produces 1 to 35 bushel yields with little or no nitrogen side dressing will require from 375 to 500 lbs. of nitrate of soda or its equivalent in ammonium nitrate, Cal-Nitro, ANL or sulphate of ammonia per acre for yield increases of 25 to 45 bushels per acre.

9th. On potash deficient soils or on those where peanuts, hay or legumes have been removed mix 75 to 100 lbs. of muriate of potash with the top dressing per acre. Side dressing applications should be made when corn is 6 to 8 weeks old or by the time it is 2 1/2 feet high.

10th. The fodder should never be pulled or the tops cut to receive larger yields of corn. It is hoped that with the shortage of labor that most farmers will try to have more corn plants per acre and use more fertilizer in an effort to increase their yields this year. Farmers wishing to obtain more information can do so from the County Agent's office.
