

DOWN EAST

WITH ILLY ARTHUR

We really had to behave ourselves this week with our upstanding men as Paul Venters and Newton Cook on the grand jury and Jim Collins, Jim Lynch and Bob Hartsfield on the petty jury.

John D. Larkins, Jr., always has a good story up his sleeve, and he related it at the Kiwanis club meeting the other day.

It concerned a colored preacher telling his congregation about the wonders of science, particularly radar.

"Do you realize," he asked, "that with radar, a man can read on a chart that an airplane is coming, and can tell how fast it's moving? And did you know that he can tell when a submarine is near and how deep it is down in the water? It's wonderful. There'll come a day when a soldier in Europe can sit in his foxhole and tell what's going on at home, and who might be running around with his wife."

"To hell with that thing!" a voice in the back exclaimed.

For once Jack Peck was flabbergasted. Nathan Katzin and he engaged in a conversation about the other morning, before Nathan walked out without paying.

"Gimme a coca cola," Nathan said.

"OK."

"How about swapping it for a cup of coffee?"

"OK."

Nathan drank the coffee and started out, but Peck stopped him.

"Hey, you didn't pay me for the coke."

"I gave it back to you."

"Then, you didn't pay me for the coffee."

"I gave you the coke for the coffee."

"Coincidence?"

For months lately I've heard friends speak of Ed Dudley of J. S. Bache company in Raleigh. The other evening we were together for several hours before he finally disclosed that as children his sister and I used to play together in Charlotte long years ago.

Harvey Walker, who used to manage the Riverview hotel and annex for B. J. Holleman, is now in Raleigh and sends regards.

Another coincidence:

Of all the taxis and taxi drivers in Durham, we—Elliott Pettway, Shugart, Vic Venters and I—am one driven by a person named, of all things, Pettway. John Thomas Pettway, his name was.

The girls in the cafes better watch the way they ask if one wants sugar and cream in their coffee.

The other day one of the girls inquired of me and I misunderstood her, thinking she asked: "Coffee, sugar?" instead of "Coffee? Sugar?"

It's all in the way it's said. Or, in the way I take it. Could be!

Wonder if Dewey Edwards was actually trying to turn the water meter back when he was all over the sidewalk with his arm in the meter box the other morning?

Oscar Robinson, the colored fellow who takes care of the caretaking around the Courthouse, was putting up stoves yesterday while the folks in some offices shivered in the early morning.

Oscar says he isn't running behind the season; instead, the season's running ahead of him.

It wasn't the noon whistle or the fire siren you heard yesterday about 10 a. m.

It was only Mrs. Margy Nichols, the Hartsfield Brothers' bookkeeper, who had just seen a mouse.

Do you folks have the same trouble I do?

I retire by the time we're using now, and awake at the hour I used to. Therefore, I lose an hour's sleep every night.

Or, don't you get it? Quite confusing, isn't it?

Grand Jury Finds 16 School Busses Without Lights; Repairs Suggested

Sixteen of Onslow County's 44 school busses were found without lights but otherwise all were in good condition, the grand jury reported to Judge John J. Burrey in Superior Court here Tuesday afternoon.

The report, signed by Foreman J. Leroy Henderson of Hubert, called attention of the county board of commissioners again to the need for chairs at the county home, adding that what few chairs were available or inmates were in need of repair. Only other criticism was leveled at a defective commode, bar missing from window and some window panes broken at the jail.

The courthouse and prison camp, however, were reported in good condition.

450,000 Workers Idle; Coal Operators Called To New Conferences

The nation's strike lists held at around the 450,000 mark Thursday, only small decrease in 24 hours, as fresh labor disputes almost offset the return of 42,000 workers to jobs in textile plants.

As new shutdowns in the six-state soft coal strike area forced additional thousands to the ranks of the idle, bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers Union representatives failed to agree on a compromise proposal to end the 21-day expanding work stoppages.

Secretary of Labor-Schwellenbach again summoned conferences to attempt to settle the dispute. The disputants, he said, are not far apart in the controversy over recognition of the UMW's "one union" and expressed hope that they should be able to agree.

Upon recommendation of the parole officer, Federal Judge Don Gilliam revoked the probation of Coy Daw of Onslow County and sentenced him to a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary during U. S. District Court at New Bern this week. Daw was put on probation last year when charged with aiding and abetting in possession of illegal sugar.

The Presbyterian Recreation Building has been beautifully redecorated in the past week. It is open each day and night of the week, except Monday, and all service personnel, both enlisted and officers, are invited.

On Tuesday, October 16 at 10 a. m. in the Court House in Jacksonville a meeting will be held to present to Col. E. E. Haring arguments for opening a channel in New River to such a depth and width to enable Inland Waterway freighters to come to Jacksonville.

All farmers and persons in the county should attend this meeting and give their support for this project. If water freight can be had at Jacksonville a lowering of freight rates for materials and products shipped in and out of Jacksonville should be received.

This would mean quite a bit of saving to farmers in this county in the total materials that they have to purchase during the year. I encourage and hope to see every farmer that possibly can attend this meeting at the Court House and help to make it possible to have this project completed.

Swansboro Kiwanians Ask Main Street Be Paved As Highway

The Onslow County Board of Commissioners Monday was advised that the State Highway and Public Works Commission would maintain two roads, and received petitions for surfacing and improving of three others to be forwarded to the highway department.

J. B. Cutchin, district highway engineer, advised that the department would maintain the road from Clem Morton's via Starling to the new highway at Hubert, and the old Wilmington road at Verona for a distance of one mile.

A resolution of the Swansboro Kiwanis club asking that the highway department surface and maintain Main street of that town from N. C. 24 to the White Oak river docks when the Belgrade road is paved was received. The resolution pointed out that the street should be considered a spur to the highway because it is used by trucks hauling fish and petroleum products.

A petition from residents of the Maple Hill section asked improvement of the Maple Hill-Stump Sound road, particularly that section which lies in Onslow County, because it is impassable. A third petition asked for maintenance of the belt road on the west side of U. S. 17 at the Sabiston subdivision that leads back into the highway, a distance of approximately one mile.

Red Cross Classes For Home Service And Motor Corps Planned

Classes for motor corps and home service volunteers will be started by the Onslow County Chapter of the American Red Cross around November 1, it was announced Tuesday at the October meeting of the board of directors at Tallman Street USO.

Plans for the courses were disclosed by Mrs. Katharin S. Eagan of Camp Lejeune, motor corps chairman, and Mrs. James S. Odum, home service worker of the chapter. Chairman Billy Arthur asked that members of the board talk up volunteering for Red Cross work in hopes that committees and classes may be filled.

The need for volunteers still exists despite the fact that the war is over, it was said by Miss Chloris Kellum, home service field representative, and Mrs. W. Y. Richardson, special services committee chairman. Miss Kellum, a visitor at the meeting, said that returning veterans will have problems which must be met by the home service worker and volunteers, and Mrs. Richardson pointed out that a need still exists for surgical dressings in hospitals, kit boxes for men overseas and knitted garments for service personnel stationed in cold climates.

Lieut. Helen McGraw of Camp Lejeune reported that the average daily attendance at the nursery had increased in each of the three months of its existence, and that a record of an average daily attendance of 23 infants and children already has been set during the first eight days of October.

16 Handicapped Vets Placed In Jobs By Employment Service

The United States Employment Service brings more than ten years of experience into its new assignment of finding jobs for physically handicapped veterans of World War I. W. B. Dillingham, interview secretary of the diocese, will read the epistle, and the Rev. Thomas P. Noe will read the Gospel.

Pointing out that the number of civilian workers who become handicapped for jobs annually exceeded even the wartime military casualties resulting in occupational disability, Mr. Dillingham said the USES has developed special selection and placement techniques for matching workers with the jobs they are able to perform and in which their physical impairment is not an impediment on the job.

The employment service aims to select occupations to match the physical abilities of the applicant and to find jobs which the handicapped person can perform despite the physical limitation.

Mr. Dillingham said, with the USES given responsibility in all communities for assisting veterans to find suitable employment, the only limit to our capacity for placing them will be the limitations placed by those who have jobs to offer.

He invited all employers in Onslow County to file specifications of their job opportunities with the USES office at Camp Lejeune, and to indicate a willingness to employ physically handicapped workers when such workers are qualified for the job.
