DOWN EAST

WITH BILLY ARTHUR

J. C. Thompson parked his automobile beside a Wilmington parking meter the other day, and started to put his nickle in the slot.

A little girl walked up and asked, "Mister, what do you think you're going to get?"

So I'm told, Allan Gawthrop will soon begin doing a column on advice to husbands who have to keep house while sick folks are around.

Down at the Kiwanis club Ladies Night we were talking about chickens and turkeys, and Lt. Comdr. Myrtle Carver of the Naval hospital said she had heard someplace that one couldn't raise chickens and turkeys together.

I had to question that because when I was growing up on a Cabarrus county farm, my folks got along all right with chickens and turkeys and me running around together in the yard.

If they could raise them with the three of us surely the fowls should survive.

Mayor Heyward, Campbell's pronunciation of bear over the radio the other night may draw a lot of folks to Holly Ridge. He was telling about hunting down that way, and said there was plenty of bear thereabouts. But, a lot of folks thought he said "plenty of beer."

Without doubt, Jacksonville is one of the prettiest towns I've ever seen from the air.

You should be as surprised as I was, Frankly, I never dreamed that the city was so well planned and looked so pretty until Jack Stevens took me for a ride from the Jacksonville airport last Sunday afternoon.

Circle Court, Cheney Heights, Overbrook and Bayshore Estates are beautiful—the way they are laid out in circles, and the way the rooftops of the dwellings show up. Each is of a different color, and the scheme and plot of the city is striking.

Mrs. James Odum, who because of her own volunteer work in addition to her other duties, probably calls on more people to give of their time than anyone else. And, she gets a lot of brush off of other days.

I get ready to give up doing as like this, I'll know what to tell the folks," she said, "because I've heard every alibi known to man or woman. It won't be tough for me to think up an excuse."

Mrs. H. C. Johnson and Mrs. T. Newton Cook went over to Kinston Monday and in one store the women were clamoring for candles. Candles, candles, they were crying.

In another store, the counter where the candles were so crowded you could hardly get up to it. So, the Jacksonville people inquired why all the interest in candles.

The lights are going to be off for five days," they were told. So you know the answer, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Johnson fought their way to the counter and bought candles, too, Christmas candles, any kind of candle, scratched and bent ones. They didn't want to be in the dark, either.

They were illumined by the newspapers Tuesday morning, which said that Kinston was going to have a dimout to conserve power, necessary because of its ailing power plant.

Anybody around here want to buy some candles? Apply second and third house on Bordeaux from New Bridge.

Durwood Aman Kills 320-Pound Bear Near Englehard

Durwood Aman came home during the week end from Englehard with a 320-pound black bear that he killed while, paradoxically, he goose hunt at Lake Matta-tee.

As Jacksonville man was sitting in a blind minding his own business when the bear came out into a field and began feeding on corn. Durwood banged away with his 12-gauge shotgun, and the bear dropped over.

Mallard of Belgrade: Cora Cannon, Newton Mallard, Annie Melville, Miriam Heppitt, Carrie Bardner, Rosa Bell, John Mallard, Newton Mallard, Virginia Mallard, Delores Mallard, Joseph Mallard and Michael Mallard. Potash Deficiency Of Local Soil Should Be Corrected, Clark

By CHARLIE C. CLARK, JR., Onslow County Agent

Eight hundred pounds of muriate of potash was distributed to 14 farmers in the county last spring to side dress a plot of soybeans at the rates of around 30 to 100 lbs. per acre. The majority of these tests showed that an increase was made where the potash was used. On a few fields no difference in the soybeans was made, due to the fact that there was already sufficient potash in the soil.

On Graham Jones' farm, Rt. 1, Maysville, where a 100 lbs. of potash was used per acre, Jones harvested and weighed the beans from one row of the untreated beans which yield 20 lbs. per row and the plot that was side dressed with the potash yield 36 lbs. per row, giving an increase of 80 per cent in yield where potash was used.

A large per cent of our land in Onslow County is deficient in potash, especially where soybeans and other legumes are being grown, and should be fertilized with potash or a fertilizer giving phosphate and potash such as a 0-12-12.

Atomic Bombs Expected To Become Dime-A-Dozen Variety Of Destruction

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

Philadelphia—(AP)—Atomic bombs cheap enough so that tens of thousands of them may be dropped in the next war were predicted by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the scientist who headed the making of atomic bombs at Los Alamos, New Mexico.

Dr. Oppenheimer spoke at the first postwar atomic energy conference held jointly by the American Philosophical society and the National Academy of Sciences.

"We have made a thing," said Dr. Oppenheimer, "that has altered abruptly and profoundly the nature of the world.

"The atomic bomb is a very ordinary thing in some ways but—in a world of atomic weapons wars will cease.

"Because it is known that the project cost us two billion dollars, and we dropped just two bombs, it is easy to think that they must be expensive. But for any serious undertaking in atomic armament—and without any elements of technical novelty whatever, just doing things that have already been done—the estimate of cost would be high by something like a factor of one thousand. Atomic weapons, even with what we know today, can be cheap."

He said that except for the protecting hills the second bomb at Nagasaki, would have "taken out" 10 square miles of a little more. Green steel girders of factories were twisted and wrecked, he declared, and some of these wrecked factories were miles apart.

New medical discoveries from the atomic bomb were reported by Dr. Robert S. Stone, University of California. They were made in studying the rays emitted by 30 common chemical elements which are transformed into substances like radium.

Beta rays, streams of electrons, were produced so powerful that a single overexposure of this radiation caused skin cancer in animals. These rays have long been known to cause cancer, but never in a single shot.

Some of the radioactive by-products, he said, if absorbed into the body, will cause sarcoma (cancer) of the bone. Plutonium, the new metal that makes bombs, is just as dangerous as radium if taken into the human body.

Dixon Wins First Basketball Starts Of 1945-46 Season

The Dixon boys and girls basketball team opened their 1945-46 schedule with double victories over the Leland teams Tuesday night at Leland. Rick led the victors in the girls game with 26 points, the final score being 24 to 9.

The boys' game was fast and furiously fought all the way the lead changing with practically every goal. The final whistle found the teams deadlocked 27 to 27. In the extra period Dixon forged ahead 34 to 29.

Sewell was high scorer for the winner with 14 points while the Williams brothers with 8 points apiece led the losers. The whole Dixon team showed a brand of teamwork for an inexperienced team that bodes ill for their opponents in the future.

Truman Statement On Consolidation Of Services Expected

Washington—(AP)—President Truman said that he would soon make a recommendation to Congress on a proposal to unify the armed forces.

Asked at his news conference about his attitude on the question of consolidating the Army and Navy, he made it clear that he has a definite point of view. But, he didn't specify what that was.

Mr. Truman laughed when reminded that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whom he named Army Chief of Staff today is supporting a merger, while Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, whom he picked as Chief of Naval Operations, is opposed to it.

He said that he had a point of view of his own and that when he gave it to Congress in a message, they will all be in the same boat.
