The News is in receipt of a copy of the junior number of The Times, which is published by the girls of Shorter College at Rome, Ga., Miss Mary Frances Shuford (daughter of Judge and Mrs. Geo. A. Shuford of Asheville, former residents of Brevard) being a member of the editorial staff. Miss Shuford has two articles in The Times, one of which concerns the Indian legend associated with Conestee falls. The contribution entitled "Conestee," is a result of her visit to the falls last summer. She tells in interesting semi-poetic style the legend of the beautiful Indian princess, daughter of a powerful chieftain, who after looking with disfavor upon many of the braves who sought her hand became infatuated with a pale face whose wooing seemed sweeter to her than the music of the twin waterfalls. Owing to her disappointment over his failure to return at an appointed time she dashed herself into the pool below the fall. The News would reproduce this interesting and well prepared legend but the length precludes its publication.

Wednesday Book Club

An annual event of social interest in Brevard is the open meeting of the Wednesday Book Club, that for this season having been given by this literary organization at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Doyle on Monday night. Something of the high character of the work done by this club is indicated at these annual occasions and the entertainment Monday night was fully up to the standard, there being plenty of the things of a light jovial character mixed with the more weighty forms of entertainment to render the latter void of cumberdom and stiff formality in the contests calling for the exercise of thought and intellectuality. To these open meetings the members of the club invite their friends to share the joys of the occasion with them and as a result there were about 40 ladies and gentlemen present for the evening. The entertainment committee, composed of Mesdames J. S. Silvestein, T. H. Shipman and D. Ward, wisely provided a program that permitted no dull moments while the committee on refreshments, consisting of Mesdames J. W. McMinn, R. B. Deaver and J. S. Bromfield, with Mrs. Doyle honorary chairman of both committees, provided well for the appetites of those present. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle was artistically decorated with the seasonal touches of Christmas bells, holly and potted plants. A musical treat for the evening was two solos rendered by Miss Mary Jane King with piano accompaniment by Miss Katherine Erwin.

Now Time to Think of Farm Tools

All farmers, small and big, will have to buy tools of some character to cultivate the coming crop. Prices are advancing all the time and farmers can save money by looking over their old tools and buying what will be needed this year. Take an inventory of what you have, decide upon new tools needed and come in and let's figure on them. By doing this now we will be able to order anything you may need not in stock.

Among the tools now on hand are:

|--------------------------|---------------|
| Plows | Nissen Wagons |
| One-Horse Hickory Wagons | Cultivators |
| Disc Harrows | Corn Planters |

We have harness, chains and other things needed in this connection.
