NEED FOR MORE MEDICAL MEN IN THE ARMY IS VERY IMPERATIVE.

DOCTORS NOT VOLUNTEERING

Medical Section State Committee on National Defense Sends Resolutions to National Board.

Greensboro.—Recognizing the imperative need of more medical men for the army and in view of the fact that doctors are holding back and not volunteering as they should, the North Carolina State Committee on National Defense, medical section, in session in Greensboro, passed a resolution recommending that the plan of selective draft in order to secure adequate medical service for the army be adopted in Congress. This forward step on the part of the North Carolina Committee was taken for two reasons: first, because it would give an adequate medical service to the army, and second, it would relieve individual physicians of the responsibility of a decision.

The members of the State Committee who met in session were Drs. J. W. Leung and Chas. Banner, of Greensboro; Robt. L. Gibbons and L. W. Watson, of Charlotte; H. F. Long, of Statesville; M. H. Fletcher and J. M. Lynch, of Asheville; D. T. Taylor, of Washington; Chas. O. H. Laughlinhouse, of Greenville; B. H. Hays, of Oxford; H. A. Royster and W. S. Rankin, of Raleigh, and M. H. Biggs, of Rutherfordton.

The action of the committee at this point was not influenced altogether from the fact that North Carolina's list of medical volunteers is far below her quota, but from the fact that the whole country is falling far short of what is expected of her or is needed in the way of medical care for her soldiers. Out of the 100,000 doctors in the United States, only about 2,400 have accepted service. The number in North Carolina to apply, not to accept service, is about 300 out of about 1,700 or 1,800 doctors. Right Honorable Arthur J. Balfour, on his recent visit to America, said that the greatest war service this country could render was the sending of medical men immediately to France. He further urged that America avoid the mistake made by England of failing to provide medical care for her soldiers at the front.

The resolutions passed by the committee are as follows: Whereas, the justice, wisdom, and advisability of the selective draft have been recognized by Congress in raising a strong army from our civilization;

Whereas, the advantages of the selective draft apply with equal force to securing adequate medical service for the army; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the North Carolina State Committee on National Defense, Medical Section, recommend to the General Medical Board of the Council of National Defense that the said board use its influence with Congress in having the principles of the selective draft adopted for securing an adequate medical service for the army.

Lawyers to Meet in Asheville.

Wilmington.—Thomas W. Davis announced here the program for the annual convention of the state bar association at the Battery Park Hotel, Asheville, July 3-4.

The address of welcome will be Tuesday night, July 3, by A. Hall Johnson, of Asheville; response by Matt H. Allen, Goldsboro, followed by president's address, Hon. A. L. Brooks of Greensboro.

Wednesday morning, July 4, address by Hon. R. N. Sims, Raleigh.

Wednesday night, address by Senator Thomas W. Walsh, of Montana. Thursday morning, address by Hon. Charles A. Townes, of New York.

Nine Guard Camps For N. C.

Washington, D. C.—Senator Overman on a visit to the war department in regard to the establishment of cantonments and national guard sites in North Carolina, ascertained that nine cantonments will be established in General Wood's division and there will be nine national guard camps established in the eastern states. The senator hopes that either one of the cantonments or one of the national guard camps will be established in North Carolina. Each of these camps will have about 20,000 men.

Girl Meets Terrible Death.

Troy.—The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barna Allen, of this place, was caught on a shaft at the Troy Knitting Mills. The clothing on the child was wound around the shaft which was running at the rate of 305 revolutions per minute, the shaft being about eighteen inches from the floor. Before the operator could stop the machine the child was almost dead and died a short time later. The force of the child being battered against the floor caused the shafting to be pulled loose from the floor.

What The News Has Done For Others It Can Do For You

But first get these facts unless you expect too little of its creative and business-producing powers:

Last week Miss Elizabeth Bennett announced in the Diversified column the opening of a sewing parlor and although the paper was not mailed until Friday morning, before the sun went down on Friday she had taken orders for eight dresses.

M. W. Galloway advertised two cows for sale and they have been sold.

Rev. John R. Hay advertised furniture for sale and had inquiries within a few hours.

E. W. Blythe advertised a horse for sale and received inquiry promptly.

John B. Summey advertised a typewriter and sold it.

Advertising has done as much for others. It will do as much for you. Subscribers read this column in search of bargains.

JUNE 16 SEES FROST IN TOXAWAY SECTION

LAKE TOXAWAY—Rev. A. C. Queen preached a splendid sermon at the Lake Toxaway Baptist church last Sunday.

Mrs. Ranson Galloway left last Saturday to accompany her husband on his return. He has been in the Meriwether hospital at Asheville for nearly three months as a result of a serious attack of appendicitis. They stopped at Rosman for two weeks as Mr. Galloway will have to be treated by his physician for some time.

Rev. W. H. Nicholson preached an able sermon at the Toxaway Methodist church Sunday night, text, Will a man rob God? He will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock; Sunday school every Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Copa Lee injured his hand last Saturday while helping unload the Moltz log loader.

The Moltz Lumber Co. is progressing nicely with its work on the mill yard.

Mrs. Geo. Armstrong received by express last week a fine Jersey milk cow. She was shipped from Florida.

Mrs. Carl Breedlove and Mrs. Lillie Galloway went to Rosman last week.

Fred McNeely has returned from Canton, where he has been for some time.

Jack Frost visited our section again last Sunday morning June 15 and left signs of mischief.

PENROSE MOVEMENTS.

Miss Irene Kelly of Asheville, formerly of Elmira, New York, is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. R. S. Boyd.

Russell Ledyard, who has been in school at the University of North Carolina, came home Sunday. He has spent the two weeks since the closing of school in Richmond, Va.

New guests at Penrose cottage this week are Misses Emma and Theodora Villio of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Decoration Day was observed at Enon, May 30. Most of the cemetery was cleaned and decorated. It looks considerably better but it needs another day's work.

MANY METHODIST LADIES TO CONVENE IN BREVARD

The Woman's Missionary conference of the Asheville district will meet at the Methodist church on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

About 40 delegates from the churches of the district are expected at this conference. They will be entertained by the society of the Brevard church.

Beside the regular business and discussions of the conference the exercises are expected to have some special music in connection with the new pipe organ. Misses Mary Jane King and Flora Duckworth will sing solos.

ANOTHER STILL DESTROYED

(From Asheville Times.)

Returning to Asheville yesterday, Henry Reed reported that he and J. A. Galloway had captured a blockade distillery whose fires at night were visible from the Aethelwold hotel in Brevard. It was of fifty-gallon capacity and all the apparatus was found except the important worn.

Brevard is Officer Galloway's home but he does not show any favors to the Transylvania moonshiners. This is the second still captured recently near Brevard.

J. A. Galloway requests the News to correct the statement appearing in the Sunday's Citizen to the effect that a still was destroyed in Brevard. He says that the still was five miles northwest of Brevard; that such report is a reflection upon the town of Brevard, upon the officers and that the Citizen had refused to correct its published report.

Bluebird Photoplays present
Myrtle Gonzales and Val Paul in
"The Secret of the Swamp"

This is one of those great out-of-door pictures many people like so well. The stars, Miss Gonzales and Mr. Val Paul, were shown here in the Bluebird picture "The Girl of Lost Lake."

The Motion Picture News says: "Briefly this offering is a gem, and in passing, there are few pictures about which such can be said."

Don't fail to see this great picture.

Admission 10 and 15c.
