GUIDE FOR ROAD ENGINEERS

Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering Makes Public Desirable Standards.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
In order to assist in bringing about a greater uniformity in the highways of the country and to aid the better roads movement in some states, the office of public roads and rural engineering of the United States department of agriculture has published standard forms for specifications, standard methods of testing materials, standard forms for reporting test results, and standard methods of sampling materials. The publication of the standards was made desirable by the necessity for cooperative work by the office and the states in the carrying out of the federal aid conference participated in by representatives of the office of public roads and rural engineering and of a large number of the states. They are published as department bulletin No. 255 of the United States department of agriculture.

MORE GOOD ROADS REQUIRED

Necessary to Handle Commerce on Account of Inadequate Railroad Transportation.

Railroad transportation is inadequate to handle our commerce, and good roads must be constructed rapidly and comprehensively that truck lines running on regular schedule with stations and terminal facilities, may be established to take care of the immense productions of the land. Production beyond local needs becomes an economic loss if the things produced cannot be delivered to the factory or consumer safely and profitably.

INTERESTED IN GOOD ROADS

Mileage of Gravel and Stone Highways Increasing—Automobile of Great Assistance.

There is widespread and increasing interest in good roads in Illinois. The main traveled highways especially are wide, well graded and well draged. The mileage of gravel and stone roads is increasing, and a good deal of hard road of a still more permanent character is being built. The advent of the automobile has done much to make good roads enthusiasts of farmers, and with their active interest the work of improvement is progressing rapidly.

Increase Land Values.

Every acre of land lying near good roads is easily a valuable, available asset, while land-bound land is unprofitable except for the unscrupulous man and the sociable foot-ovis and predatory wild animals.

Way to Fatten Steers.

Fattening steers on grass and cottonseed cake is nearly twice more profitable than grazing them without feed. The use of a small amount of corn in addition to the cottonseed cake has proved profitable.

Nearly every newspaper carries the general news but the Brevard News is the only one carrying the most important Transylvania news.
