No. 7

Several incidents that I have named in former articles and some in this, I got from my grand-mother and my father. They were among the first comers to that country. They came from Knoxville, Tenn. The first comers did not expect to settle. They came for the game, especially bear, as they were all valuable, the skin, the oil and the meat. They could dry bear meat and keep it for summer. These first comers were not "offals"; they were well to do and they were educated. My grand-mother was an educated woman.

The going to North Carolina wild mountains in those days was equal to going to California in '49. When a man or a family would decide to settle there, they first thing they did was to hunt for a spring. This accounts for the hill country being settled before it was along the river. Well do I remember when there was little land cultivated along the river and the large swamps and lagoons. My understanding was that in buying or homesteading government land, those swamps were not counted in your plot as that land was considered worthless.

An incident: When I was about twenty, Squire Ben Wilson took Calloway Duckworth, his son, Bob, and myself over to Island Ford to show us the beginning corner of a tract of land he owned there. After showing the corner and how the lines ran, he said, "Some day there is going to be trouble in this country over land titles." My father often said, "The land that is counted worthless is the best land in the country." On the old farm where I was raised, there was about a half a mile of swamps. Father ditched and dried it out and it was fine land.

When I was married and left the old farm it was in fine shape. We were makin lots of stuff. All the roads on the farm went to the barn lot. Father never would set a price on his farm. As I write this, I am seeing the old place as it looked when I left it.

I will give one more incident of the early life of the new comers as father told it to me. He said they depended on the woods for their meat. This was just after he and mother were married. Late one evening, Mother told him she needed meat for breakfast. He took his gun and went up in the hills to kill a deer. He went as far as the head of the Tan Tough branch, but found no deer. The sun was down. He started down the branch home. About half way down he walked right onto a little slink deer. A panther had just caught and cut its throat. The blood was running warm. He out with his butcher knife, took out the intrals, skinned down two legs, hunter style, swung it on his shoulder and started home. Which was only about a half mile. He had gone but a few steps when the panther came up behind him, got hold of the deer and tried to pull it from him. When he would stop it would let loose but when he started on again it would get hold again. As he got over the yard fence, the panther made another effort to get the deer. Father afterwards said, "I felt sarter mean. It was out of meat as well as I, and it had run that deer down to get it and was loathe to give it up." he continued, "I felt like I had stolen it."

It is supposable that there is but a few of the homes that was settled by the early comers that is owned by any of the family today. As a rule, it is the third purchaser that becomes the settler. The two first owners do hard work and the third one enjoys it. He stays with it.

The present generation of the natives should be proud of their ancestors. They were of good blood, heroes and heroines of the forest, worthy of emulation in many respects. As to civic righteousness, they were one hundred per cent.

How fitting it would be if Transylvania County was to build a monument in honor of the first settlers. Surround it with a nice park. The most drawing card that Brevard could have.

We are what the past has made us. The result of the past is ourselves. We built up the beings that we are.

DALLAS BUSINESS MAN ENDORSES IT

White Sewing Machine Manager Believes Tanlac Will Help All Other Sufferers.

"If it hadn't been for what other people said about Tanlac I might be suffering yet, and nobody need fear troubles like I had as long as Tanlac is made," said H. A. Morrison, local manager for White Sewing Machine Co., Dallas Tex., and living at 3517 Brown street, that city.

"I suffered from a long-standing and stubborn case of stomach trouble," he continued, "My stomach was nearly always full of gas that gave me no end of misery, and I had to quit eating most everything but broth and other light diet. I had such an awful pain in my right side that I couldn't stand up straight and sometimes I would almost double up in agony. I had terrible headaches, my sleep was so broken it didn't do me any good and I felt tired and worn out all the time.

"I read of a man in Tennessee who had gotten relief from the same trouble as mine by taking Tanlac, so I decided to try it. Before I had finished my first bottle I began to feel better and a few more made me feel like a different man. I get as hungry as a bear at meal times, eat anything I want and nothing hurts me at all. I sleep as sound as a log and get up full of life and energy, I have already gained eight pounds and my work is a real pleasure to me now."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggist everywhere. adv.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Brevard people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for a stronger proof of merit?

Mrs. Z. B. Surriel, Whitnair St., Brevard, says: "Several years ago kidney trouble got the upper hand of me and I was in a pretty bad condition. I had a dull, heavy ache across my kidneys most of the time and I felt tired out. It was almost impossible for me to straighten after bending and blinding dizzy spells came over me when I could hardly stand. I was more tired mornings than when I went to bed and I had headaches and nervous spells. My ankles and hands swelled badly and my kidneys acted irregularly. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I began taking them and in a short time I was feeling like myself again."
