WILL GO TO THE PEOPLE

It is announced that President Wilson contemplates a tour of the country in the interest of the League of Nations immediately upon his return from the Peace Conference. It is his evident purpose to carry a direct message to the people who have twice elected him as their spokesman on all great public questions. He has never broken faith with them and there is no semblance of evidence that he ever will.

Mr. Wilson is the friend of the masses and "the average man" is a friend of President Wilson. A small section of the United States Senate, seeking to play politics rather than keep faith with the allied friends of the American people in the great world-struggle for human liberty, will not be allowed to defeat the Wilson idea of a permanent peace.

The Senate appears to have resolved itself into a debating society of the school-boy variety with no other purpose in view than the hope of discrediting the President. To accomplish their purpose, republican leaders will go to any length. Not content with the exercise of the machinery at their command as members of the Senate, opponents of the President will seek to counteract his efforts with speeches in various sections of the country in opposition to the peace covenant he has proposed. Let them do their utmost.

The people trust Woodrow Wilson and will not be swayed from the path of rectitude by the ravings of a few "wilful men" seeking political advantage, rather than an amicable adjustment of momentous issues demanding the attention and earnest consideration of civilized communities in every country and in every clime.

President Wilson is irrevocably committed to the proposed League of Nations because he believes it means a lasting peace. The ear of the American people is attuned to the spirit of the times and in accord with the views of their great leader. And this is enough said. Let the show go on.

PALMER HITS BACK

Not content with the movement they have inaugurated in opposition to the League of Nations, republicans show an utter disregard of the proprieties by delaying the confirmation of nominations the President has made for important positions in the public service.

Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, named for Attorney General, is an object of attack because he sold alien enemy plants to Americans while he was representing the government as Alien Enemy Custodian during the war. Mr. Palmer directs attention to the fact that he is not accused of disposing of German owned institutions for less than their actual value and boldly charges that German sympathizers have inspired the efforts to discredit his administration as alien property custodian. In this conclusion, he is probably correct, as no member of the committee investigating the charges attempted to disprove his contention. Objection to the confirmation of Mr. Palmer as Attorney General was offered by Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, of New Jersey, who grew white with heat when confronted with the charge that his actions were prompted by pro-German influences. Of course he protested, but the Attorney General made no retractions. He had seized the property of forty thousand aliens, reckoned as the German industrial army in the United States, and offered no apologies for turning these plants to good account for the Allied cause. He would neither be bluffed nor brow-beaten and stood his ground like the man he has proven himself to be during a long and an honorable public career. "Investigation" appears to represent the whole republican idea of procedure since congress met five weeks ago. They may find discrepancies here and there, but we dare to venture the prediction that no act to the discredit of the official conduct of A. M. Palmer is going to be unearthed by any committee of Congress. Let them go the limit.
