KIDDIES NOW MAKING MONEY AND SAVING IT

North Carolina School Societies Report Great Activity.—Treasury Department of United States Receives Splendid Support.

Making money and saving it is becoming no less popular among North Carolina school children than among grown-ups. More popular, perhaps, than the time honored study of reading, writing and arithmetic is the new study of thrift which is being incorporated into the regular work of the schools. The subject is taught in connection with the "Text Books of Thrift" which are sent without charge to any teacher desiring them by the War Loan Organization of the Fifth Federal Reserve District.

Judging by reports, the school children of North Carolina are going the teaching of thrift one better. Already a great many savings societies have been organized in the schools of this state, and the pupils here and all over the district as well are busy devising ways of earning money in order that it may be wisely invested in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

Is Thrifty Youngster.

In one of the schools in this district there is a youngster who has laid the foundation of a prosperous career by plowing and by selling vegetables. When all the work was done the lad counted the money he had put in bank. He found that it amounted to just twenty-five dollars. Many of the world's richest men began life with less than twenty-five dollars. But they saved their money and invested it wisely, thus assuring success.

In one of the 3-A grades, so a teacher reports, one of the girls has earned no less than twenty dollars by helping around the house, while members of a savings society that flourishes in a 1-A grade have made about twenty-five dollars doing such odd jobs as feeding the chickens, tying tobacco and chopping grass.

Several boys who are members of savings societies which are particularly active have bought clothes with money they earned in similar ways. One little fellow did so well helping his father that he was paid ten dollars. As he received the money he bought Thrift Stamps, showing that he already knew how to save and invest what he made.

Popular among these small investors are the Penny and Nickel Savings Books issued to all school pupils desiring them. In the days when, to many tots, the price of even a Thrift Stamp may be too huge to be gotten together all at once, and when one just must buy an occasional all-day sucker or a cent-a-piece bite of candy, lots of youngsters think it wise to save a penny or a nickle at a time. The coin is deposited with the teacher for safe keeping, and she stamps the savings cards to show how much the child has put in his account. When the total is large enough, it goes into the purchase of a whole Thrift Stamp.

Piling up money of your own is a great game, played in this fashion, and a game that is daily growing in favor in North Carolina schools.
