The Coffee, The Can and The Customer

People whose taste demands the best abound in every community. People whose purse permits of the best were never more numerous than today. Radical changes have taken place. People are adjusting themselves to new conditions. The consumption of coffee shows a marked increase. Significant also is the demand everywhere for the BETTER QUALITIES OF COFFEE.

Coffee drinkers are seeking the best and are willing to pay for it. Nor do they expect to find superior coffee in an inferior package. THERE IS NO FINER COFFEE GROWN THAN BRAND. But always remember that Seal Brand Quality is closely guarded by the all-tin package which keeps intact, as no other package does, those aromatic oils which lend strength and flavor to all coffee.

A goodly portion of our trade that we serve will appreciate the opportunity of purchasing from us "the best coffee in the best package" which is but another way of your asking for Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee.

THE PRAYER CORNER

Life's Ladder

"Behold a ladder set up on the earth and the top of it reached to heaven."

The ladder is an illustration of a true Christian life. At every young person's feet springs such a ladder which stretches away through growing brightness until its top reaches the very glory of God.

The figure of a ladder is suggestive. A ladder is not easy to ascend—and the earnest life is never easy—and it is there, if at all, that we must go up life's ladder.

Heaven is not reached at a single bound, But we build the ladder by which we rise

From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies, And we mount to its summit round by round.

We must rise by daily self-conquest in little things. Every fault we overcome lifts us a step higher. Every low desire, every bad habit, all wrong feelings, that we conquer and trample down become ladder rounds or our feet on which we climb upward, out of growling and sinfulness into nobler manhood and womanhood.

And there is no other way by which we can see rise heavenward. If we are not living victoriously these little common days we are not making any progress in true living. Only those who climb are getting toward the stars. Heaven is for the overcomers.

Not that the struggle is for to be made in our own strength, or the victories won by our own hands; there is a Mighty Helper always on life's ladder with us. He does not carry us up — we must do the climbing — but He helps and cheers us and puts ever new strength into the heart, and so aids everyone who strives in His name to do his best, that we may all become more than conquerors, and may at least wear the victor's crown.

A PRAYER:

Our Father God, we thank Thee for the ladder as an illustration of the true Christian life. It teaches us that a true earnest life is never easy, that we must go up life's ladder, step by step, that we must rise by daily self-conquests in little things.

Every fault we overcome lifts us a step higher. Every low desire, every bad habit, all longings for base, ignoble things, all wrong feelings, that we conquer and trample down become ladder rounds for our feet, on which we climb upward out of growling and sinfulness into nobler manhood and womanhood. There is no other way by which we can rise heavenward.

Oh help us to live victoriously these little common days, that we may make progress in true living. Remind us that only those who climb are getting toward the stars; that Heaven is for the overcomers.

We thank Thee that the struggle is not to be made in our own strength or victories won by our own hands but that there is a mighty Helper always on life's ladder with us; not to carry us up — we must do the climbing — but to help and cheer us, and put new strength into our heart, and so aid everyone who strives in His name to do his best; that we may all become more than conquerors, and, at last wear the victor's crown.

In His strength help us to go forward, by His sign help us to conquer, Amen. C. D. C.

The Love Light

"The Love Light" is the story of a little Italian girl in an Italian fishing village among the cliffs on the Mediterranean sea. How the little girl preaches over the family of her orphaned mother, how a great tragedy comes to her life, the final realization with its accompanying sacrifice makes an unusual story for the screen. This Mary Pickford's latest presentation on the screen and is said to be her best.
