COMMITTEE SUGGESTS REMEDY FOR VIOLATION OF THE LAW

Following is the report of the Committee on Temperance adopted at Asheville District, Western North Carolina Conference, Black Mountain, N. C., March 24th.

THE ISSUE

The Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution has settled the prohibition question. License or no license is no longer an issue. The line - up of the citizenship now is patriotism and reverence for law vs. anarchy and contempt for law. On this issue every thoughtful patriotic citizen must stand on God's side respecting, reverencing and maintaining law.

SITUATION IN NORTH CAROLINA:

The violation of the Eighteenth Amendment, the Volstead Act and other prohibition laws in North Carolina, especially in the bounds of the Asheville District, are alarming. The liquor traffic is bold, insolent and defiant, breeding more anarchists every day. More than three thousand of the fourteen thousand stills captured by Federal officers last year were captured in this state. Our people, preachers, laymen and officers, need to be more active. The failure of the last three legislatures to enact advanced legislation such as that called for by the Eighteenth Amendment has encouraged the violators. The Anti - Saloon League in this state has not had the aggressive backing of the church and good citizens it had a right to expect. Many who want the law enforced have been waiting for the other fellow to do it. We have waited until property and life are jeopardized and, in some instances, have been sacrificed. Shall we wait longer and suffer more?

WHAT'S THE REMEDY?

1. Agitation, education, publicity. Let the preachers sound the alarm from the pulpit, and awake the people to the duty of citizenship in the matter of law - enforcement.
 2. Let the church folk and other good citizens, miss community organize Law and Order Leagues, as the Anti - Saloon League suggests, for team - work among the citizens and for active support of officers who enforce the law and opposition to those who do not.
 3. Call upon solicitors to ask for sentences instead of fines in case of conviction and call upon judges to give such. Oppose the pardon of the liquor violator unless a rare exception.
 4. Resolve to rally to the Anti - Saloon League in its effort to secure for this state "Appropriate Legislation" to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, and to harmonize our laws with the Volstead Act.
 5. Furnish copies of this report for publication to the North Carolina Advocate and the two Asheville dailies, and request the weekly papers also in the district to publish it.
- S. S. Thomas, Chairman; Rev. J. H. Brendall, Clerk.

THE TOWN MIRROR

Whoever Looks Into It May See His Own Face, Or, Perhaps Another's

As human beings pass, jostle one another, or linger for a moment together, they very often express their thoughts or emotions, little dreaming of their effect on other minds. Sometimes they tickle, sometimes they sting, sometimes they stipulate to thought or deed. Only rarely are they recorded, except on that mysterious gray tablet called the brain.

To the news gatherer many of these stray remarks or casual happenings seem worthy of a more public record. Whether others will think so remains to be seen.

FAREWELL TO CIGARS:

"Yes, I have quit smoking," said C. H. Klueppelberg, with a stern set jaw, but also a dreamy, far away look in his eyes, as if he were watching the ghostly wreath of smoke curling from a gone but not forgotten cigar. "Yes, I've quit. I feel awful mean, but I'm going to stick it out. I'm going to come clean."

"Here, Klup, I want to make you a present of a fine cigar," tempted Mac, looking up from the book from which he was preparing a long list of duns.

"Not on your life," virtuously answered Klup. "No more cigars for me. I tell you I've quit."

Then depositing a coin for a plug of Brown's Mule - or some such animal, Mr. Klueppelberg took his departure, with an air of grim determination.

SOME STREET PHILOSOPHY

"Say, did that ever give you an idea?" enquired Reuben Ballard, pausing in his work on the sidewalk and mopping the honest sweat from his brow with one hand, while with the other he pointed to the 500 or more children forming in line in front of the schoolhouse.

"Well, it gives me one," he continued as he got no response to his question. "I just think sometimes when I see all that crowd that hard times can't last long. All of 'em have got to have clothes and shoes and something to eat, and it's got to come from somewhere. Cotton mills and other mills may close down for a while, but that's one kind of factory that's not going to stop. No, the other mills will have to start up some time."

STILL HOPE FOR FRUIT:

T. S. Wood has a longer recollection than the majority of citizens. He remembers a very early Spring, like this one, which happened years ago.

"The fruit blooms came out early, and then there was a succession of light frosts. That year we had an unusually fine crop of fruit. I remember the time quite well, for it was the very year I was married."

A CLEAN UP PLAN:

"Talking of a clean up drive," observed a citizen, "I have an idea which, if carried out, would get the greatest amount of good with the least expenditure of labor. Tie the old tin cans to the tails of all the worthless dogs in the community and let them all leave together."

WHO SHALL HOLD THE WALL?

"The men wore out the railing in front of the court house," said one of the Betterment ladies, "but I think the women ought to occupy the new wall as a loafing place. Rest assured," she added, "they would soon have it all to themselves."

But alas! What woman wants to be a wall flower?

NEWPORT MAN HAS GAINED TWENTY LBS.

"I Don't Believe I Could Feel Any Better Than I Do Now," Says Kelley.

"I have gained twenty pounds by taking Tanlac and don't believe I could feel any better than I do now," said John T. Kelley, 485 East Tenth St., Newport, Ky.

"My troubles started about two years ago and kept increasing until it looked like everything was wrong with me. My stomach was all out of order and nearly everything I ate soured and caused gas to form. I lost my appetite and couldn't eat enough to keep up my strength. I lost twenty - two pounds and got so weak that it was risky for me to walk in the street alone.

"My nerves were shattered, I couldn't sleep to do any good and in the morning I felt so weak it was hard for me to get out of bed and dress. I was constipated all the time and had headaches and dizzy spells nearly every day.

"I was in Cleveland, Ohio, about three months ago, and a friend recommended Tanlac to me. Before I finished the first bottle my appetite had come back and my food was agreeing with me. From then on I picked up fast and today I'm in as good health as I was the best day of my life.

"I am no longer constipated and don't have headaches or dizzy spells any more. The nervousness has all gone and I sleep sound every night. I feel as well as I could ask and am able to go to work."

"MITE BOX" OPENING:

On last Friday evening April, the young people's missionary society of the Methodist Church held their quarterly "mite box" opening at the parsonage.

A nice sum was realized from the gathering of their mites during the past three months.

During the social hour contests and music were very much enjoyed. Light refreshments were served. All present thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

Lucky Stones

Have you ever heard of how the Lucky Stones were formed?

Long before the white men knew this land we call ours some good fairies used to have their work shop in what is now known as Patrick County, Virginia. It is said that all the fairies had come together at this place when an elfin messenger brought to them the story of the crucifixion of Christ. As they heard it they wept and each tear became a little gem in the shape of a cross.

These stones are supposed to bring luck, and more than a million people are wearing them today in various forms of jewelry.

We have them for 50c and up.
