A GOOD TICKET

The citizens, men and women, who assembled last Friday night at the Court house to select a municipal ticket, reached a conclusion that will doubtless meet with general approval. The contest, in some respects, was close, but that simply showed there was no indifference in the convention; and the rivalry — if such it might be called — was generous and straightforward. Now that the choice has been made, there will be few to oppose it.

For, in spite of individual differences of opinion, it will be generally conceded that the convention chose wisely. And it certainly was a good ticket that was put before the voters.

If the election on May 3 confirms what was done at the convention, it is a pretty safe prophecy that Brevard will have an excellent mayor in the person of T. M. Mitchell. He is a man of conservative tendencies and independent views and his good citizenship is beyond question. He is, moreover, a business man who has been successful in the conduct of his own affairs, starting out in a modest way and gradually expanding his trade. It is to be presumed that the same careful judgment will be his monitor in what decisions and rulings he will make in an official way.

The men nominated for aldermen are all good business men, most of whom have been with us for a long time and are well known, tried most of whom have been with us for a long time and are well known, tried and proved. Two of the old board have survived — in nomination, at least — the dissolution of the former administration, and their record was such as to bring a persistent call for their return from many citizens. Mr. Blythe and Mr. Zachary have had the interests of the town at heart and their service has evidently been appreciated.

The three others — Messrs. Jenkins, Ashworth and Walker — will, if elected, assume duties for which they are fitted by nature and training. Their business affairs naturally make them deeply interested in whatever goes on here, and they are men who will, we believe, carefully consider every step before committing themselves by action.

Much depends upon the character of the board of aldermen, and hence all the interest that has been displayed in its probable make-up has been commendable and wise. On the other hand, indifference is the mark of folly. If the ticket is elected, the town, on its board, will have five good business men, five strong citizens, and five independent brains. The Brevard News endorses the nominations to a man.

A WOMAN'S AUXILIARY:

Women have so far held no public office in town or county, but the opportunity has arrived for using their services in a very material way. As the new board of aldermen enters on its career, wouldn't it be a good idea for them to appoint a kind of woman's auxiliary, to have such privileges and duties as might be laid upon them? The women might sit with the aldermen in regular session, acting as an advisory body, and they might in an organized way initiate movements for the welfare of the community. This function, in an unofficial way, is now seen in the Betterment Association; but much more direct and definite results might be effected if the women felt the responsibility of actual public servants. The News believes that the women of Brevard would rise to the occasion and the responsibility. The men have no monopoly either of ideas or interest.

The suggestion is put forth for what it is worth, and we believe it is worth considering.

LAW AND CITIZENSHIP

The presence of court, with its consideration of grave crimes and petty misdemeanors and endless litigation, brings its lessons to all thoughtful people. One of these, presenting itself just now, is the duty of private citizens in regard to law.

Men who happen to know things are hailed before the court to tell what they know against the lives and characters of their fellow citizens. Sometimes what they reveal has spite and malice for its motive. More often in genuine kindness men conceal what they know on the theory that as private citizens they have nothing to do with the affairs of others.

We are a people who believe in delegation. We have delegated our law making to representatives, the question of justice to lawyers and juries, the detection of crime to officers of the law. And having so delegated these things, we have a tendency to throw off all responsibility.

But whenever a man conceals what he knows about a violation of law, he becomes an aider and abettor of the offender. He has put himself in league with the real enemies of his country. And so long as men practice this kind of concealment, just that long will vice and crime flourish, bringing reproach on the fair name of the State.

THE EDITOR

Editing a paper is a nice business. If we publish a joke, people say we are rattle-headed. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections, we are too lazy to write. If we give a man a "puff", we are partial. If we compliment the ladies, men are jealous. If we don't we are publishing a paper not fit to make a bustle of. If we remain in our office we are too proud to mingle with the "common herd". If we are on the streets we are not attending to our business. If we wear good clothes, we don't pay for 'em. Now what shall we do? If the publisher is the kind of guy that he ought to be he will boost the community, he will work hard for the good of the community even though job work is sent out of town, even though he be criticised for not joining political rings and condemned for being broad minded enough not to take any part in personal disputes and agitations. If he is the right kind of a fellow he will come right back and boost again and again. Some may say we stole this from an exchange—and we did.

AUDITORIUM SECURES FIRST NATIONAL FRANCHISE

Associated First National Pictures Inc., is a Nation-wide organization of 6000 theatre-owners, fostering the production of finer photoplays and devoted to the betterment of screen entertainment.

The Auditorium has recently been granted a Franchise for the exclusive use of First National Pictures. This gives to Brevard the very best pictures to be had as only stars of proven ability such as Constances Talmadge, Norma Talmadge, Anita Stewart, Watherine McDonald, Charlie Chaplin, Charles Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven, Mildred Harris and Dorothy Phillips are accepted by First National Exhibitors.

These together with the United Artists (Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks) also Metro Screen Classics (Viola Dana, May Allison, Bert Lytell and Alice Lake) together with the Realart Stars (Mary Miles Minter, Alice Brady, Babe Daniels, Wanda Hawley, Constances Binny and Justine Johnson) gives the Auditorium the best stars on the market.

Brevard if not the smallest is one of the smallest towns to be granted a First National Franchise.

The great part of the First National Pictures will command an advanced price. The first one appearing will be Anita Stewart in THE FIGHT OF SHEPHERDESS on Monday, May 3rd. The next THE REVERS END by the same author as BARK TO GOD'S COUNTRY which broke all box office receipts at the Auditorium last summer. Next will be Constances Talmadge in "IN SEARCH OF A SINNER."

The Auditorium is to be congratulated on their progressiveness.

Melvin Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Galloway, who recently underwent two operations at the Mt. Sanitarium and whose recovery for a while was not expected, is reported better.

THE TOWN MIRROR: A HAPPY DAY FOR HER SHE STATES

Which Reflects All Sorts and Conditions of Folks, But Reflects on None.

Good Place to Get Well:

The April sunlight, recovering from late disabilities, was beaming down upon "Mount Surprise". With his eyes roving over the scenery, far and near, R. P. Kilpatrick let them come to rest on the summit of that unique knoll, and said:

"I would like to see a good hospital on top of that hill. The town and county ought to have one to take care of people without sending them away from home. And Mount Surprise would be the very spot for it."

Label The Streets:

"There ought to be signs at every street corner giving the names of Streets," remarked T. B. Crary, taking his eyes for a moment off the paving work at Depot street corner. "People who have been living here all their lives don't know the names of many of the streets. It's really embarrassing not to be able to give directions to strangers. These street signs wouldn't cost much, and they would be of great service."

The street superintendent's opinion is worth considering on street matters — as well as on others.

Owes It To The Ladies

"It was the ladies who nominated me for mayor," said T. M. Mitchell modestly, but with just a touch of pride.

The expression on Dr. Hunt's face, as he heard these words, was indescribable. Astonishment, amusement, consternation, and something resembling jealousy chased one another in successive and conflicting waves over his sun-kissed countenance. Lifting a rigid index finger, toward the semi-smiling face of the merchant the doctor exclaimed:

"The ladies indeed! Good Heavens, look at that mug!

And in the absorbed contemplation of the other fellow's, the doctor became utterly and blissfully unconscious of his own map.

A Credit To Transylvania County:

The Brevard News is the best gotten up weekly in the State, a publication to be proud of and credit to our county", whispered Wm. Henry our genial postmaster to a prominent citizen whom he had cornered behind a telephone post. And waving one arm in a backward movement, Mr. Henry continued with, "Although the News is not appreciated as it should be by many of our citizens, at the same time, there is generally a great many indignant enquiries at the Post office, for the News, if it happened to be even one mail late."

This statement coming from such a splendid judge on account of so many papers passing through his hands is mighty encouraging and will stimulate the News force in keeping up this splendid reputation.

Fine Sight But Pathetic:

"That is a fine sight", said one, indicating a large apple orchard, whose clustering foliage cast circles of dark shadows on the green hill side.

Yes, replied the other, "It is beautiful, but it is a sad sight, too."

"Sad! Why?"

"Because it makes me think all the time of a cemetery."

Does It Pay?

Does it pay to advertise? The Mirror caught a brief reflection the other day which seemed to point that way.

"I had a pump I wanted to dispose of", said Milan Nicholson, the plumber, "and I put an advertisement in The News. Well, the printer's ink had hardly got cold on the paper before I had a caller wanting to see that pump. I sold it at once and felt repaid for advertising. Then first thing you know here comes along another fellow and says 'I want to see that pump you've got to sell.' I told him it was already sold. Then the phone rang and somebody called asking about that pump. After answering I went back to work, and in comes another citizen, hot on the pump trail. And so on one after another came or called, till I began to think everybody in Brevard had gone into the pumping business. I could have sold a dozen more if I had had them."

Hard Times Philosophy.

"Business may be a little slack just now", said F. D. Clement, "But it ought to make a man grit his teeth a little harder and take a firmer grip. I find it is a good time to straighten up and overhaul a good many things that get out of gear during a rush season. It's a fine time to get everything in order for the summer."

Mrs. W. H. Allison and daughter, Miss Ophelia, returned recently from Bowie, Arizona, where they have been visiting the former's son, W. H. Allison. Mrs. Allison says that her son has improved in health since going to that region of dry climate and is getting all the law practice he can attend to.

Virginia Woman Gains 16 Pounds On 3 Bottles of Tanlac — Says Life Is a Pleasure Now.

"I have gained sixteen pounds on just three bottles of Tanlac and when ever I meet any of my friends they always say something about how well and strong I'm looking," said Mrs. W. H. Deaner, 104 Beech Street, Covington, Va.

"I had not felt well in several years, and had gradually grown weaker till my housework and care of the children was beyond my strength, and I just seemed to be on the verge of a breakdown. I was in a nervous strain all the time and felt so weak I feared I would give out at any minute.

"My digestion was so poor I dreaded to eat, and I was getting so thin and pale I hadn't a bit of color in my face. I simply had no appetite at all; I slept but little and couldn't see much hope of ever being well again.

"It was a happy day for me when I began taking Tanlac; for it has been the greatest blessing of my life and I can never forget the wonderful good it has done me. I am now perfectly well and can hardly realize what splendid health I am enjoying. My appetite is just fine and I enjoy everything I eat. I sleep as peaceful as a child and feel so well and strong that the housework does not tire me one bit. Life is a pleasure now and I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for Tanlac."

Two Dollars For One.

On first blush any man would think he would be quick to gobble up a proposition based on the above offer — if he had good reason to believe that the offer would be kept.

YET IT IS BEING OFFERED EVERY DAY.

And by men who will keep their word. It is admitted by most financiers that a dollar today is worth just about 50 cents. That is, it will buy just about a half dollar's worth of goods in normal times. When business becomes normal again, and it will, each dollar now invested, if carried until that time, will just about double its value, besides the interest the investment bears.

THEREFORE INVESTMENTS ARE THE THING

Let us tell you about the investment a man with your amount of money should make. Let us tell you about the rates of interest some securities pay and their element of safety and solidity. We may be of real help to you. Why not talk it over? This may help you on the road to prosperity.
