THE MENACE OF SECTARIAN BIGOTRY.

There never was a time when sectarian narrowness and bigotry were not ugly and hurtful to the cause of vital Christianity. They are contrary to both morals and Biblical teaching. The Bible furnishes no ground for the assumption that divine grace is conveyed exclusively through some group of specially ordained priests or ministers or that goodness is confined within the limits of some ecclesiastical organization hedged about by sacerdotal rites. And such an assumption is as unreasonable as it is unscriptural. It is contrary to what we have learned of God through study of the universe as well as through the revelation of him in Christ Jesus. And it is further condemned by the fact that it has seldom failed to beget a spirit which was out of harmony with the spirit of Christ. It is hard to find a more disagreeable and un-Christlike person than the average ecclesiastical bigot, with his proud assumption of superiority in both privilege and sanctity over those who do not pronounce his shibboleth or believe in his special brand of sacred charms.

Of course an assumption that is contrary to Christian teaching and which produces an unchristian spirit and unchristian attitudes on the part of those adopting it cannot fail to whole. And, as a matter of fact, prove hurtful to the Church as nothing else has done more to discredit Christianity and to divide and weaken its forces than such claims.

While ecclesiastical narrowness and sectarian bigotry have always been inexcusable, they are more so to-day than ever before. For, in the first place, the more clearly we comprehend the true nature and meaning of Christianity the more absurd do they become, and in the second place, in the face of the gigantic task which confronts the Church operation between Christian forces is particularly urgent. There are no greater enemies of the kingdom of God which we are seeking to establish than those who, by their unwarranted claims and their uncharitable attitudes, make it impossible for the followers of Christ to unite in the common tasks to which they are called.

The above reflections taken in part from an article in the Sunday School Magazine of the Methodist Church is deserving of special mention and much honor to the writer for his timely warning of the greatest "MENACE" to the church of today. This recalls an instance which happened recently during the progress of a revival in one of our local churches. The attendance was small; the interest manifested was nearing the zero mark; that help was needed was as plain as the nose on your face. Then a good good brother, an active worker of a sister church offered his services. The membership was very appreciative of the proffered assistance but the preacher in charge said "NO, we will run our own revival, we do not want the help of outsiders". The article referred to above sounds the keynote of truth when it says, "There are no greater enemies of the kingdom of God which we are seeking to establish than those who, by their unwarranted claims and their uncharitable attitudes, make it impossible for the followers of Christ to unite in the common tasks to which they are called."

MINISTER DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLES

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seeing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. "I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.
