FRY EGGS WRONG; SHOOT UP SHIP

Mess Boy, Put in Brig, Escapes Irons and Swims Mile to Shore.

NEGRO IS BAD ACTOR

Question of Whether Eggs Should Be Fried on One or Both Sides Causes Lively Doings on the Steamship Carolyn.

Carteret, N. J.—The profound question of whether fried eggs should be cooked on one or both sides started B. Leonard, a Jamaica negro mess boy of the steamship Carolyn, which docked here recently, on a series of adventures which included shooting up the ship, escaping from his irons in the brig, jumping overboard, swimming ashore and making good his escape.

His adventures are probably not ended, for the police are looking for him. The last seen of B. Leonard was when he drove away on an automobile truck from Prince's Bay, Staten Island, where he came ashore.

Trouble With Cook.

"The trouble really started soon after the Carolyn left Boca Grande, Florida, on her way north," explained Third Officer William G. Kelly, who was in charge of the steamship at the dock in Carteret. "Leonard was the older's mess boy, and he didn't get along well with the cook, V. Donmaro. Thursday morning he went into the galley and ordered eggs 'turned over' fried on one side.

"Leonard got mad and there was an argument, which caused the cook to ladle out some hot water and throw it at him. Then Leonard rushed down to officers' quarters and came back with an automatic pistol. The cook ran, with Leonard at his heels, shooting. His first shot missed, the second went through the left hand of M. Charlton, the steward of the ship. The third went through my cabin.

"Capt. Alonzo Nash heard the shooting and hurried down with Chief Officer J. E. Evans. Leonard saw them and became quiet immediately. He handed over the automatic and then he was put in irons and sent below.

Jumps Overboard.

"Yesterday morning, when one of the men went to his breakfast, he found Leonard was missing. Some one had

PICKENS AND OCOREE WIN NEW TRIAL IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES DONE BY DAM.

(Pickens Sentinel)

Pickens and Oconee counties have been granted a new trial by the supreme court of North Carolina in their suit, tried in October 1920, at Brevard, North Carolina, against E. H. Jennings, for damages in the sum of $7,500 as a result of the breaking of the Toxaway dam on August 13, 1916.

Copies of the decision, which have just been received by the attorneys in the case, show rulings on a number of interesting points. The decision was handed down on May 18. It is understood here that a number of other suits of a similar character are in process awaiting final decision of the action by the two counties.

When the case was tried at a special term of the North Carolina court at Brevard in October, 1920, that tribunal returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. The supreme court, after reviewing the case, grants the plaintiffs a new trial, which, it is expected, will be heard at an early term of the court at Brevard.

The Toxaway dam was built in 1902-1903 by the Toxaway company, of which Mr. Jennings was a stockholder, director and vice-president. The dam was 500 feet long, 60 feet high and 260 feet at its base. It had a crown of 26 feet and was constructed across the Toxaway river, which flows into the Keowee river, South Carolina. The dam confined a body of water covering more than 640 acres varying in depth from 10 to 50 feet.

The defendant became purchaser of the property in July, 1911, of all the holdings of the Toxaway company.

In 1908, the county of Pickens and the county of Oconee built a steel bridge across the Keowee river, 20 to 25 miles below the Toxaway dam, each county paying half the expense. This bridge was destroyed by the floods that swept down the valley when the dam broke, and it is for the purpose of recovering damages for this destruction that the suit was brought.

FRIENDS REALLY BECAME ALARMED

Change in Richmond Woman Since Taking Tanlac Is Nothing Less Than Wonderful

"I don't believe a person could feel any better than Tanlac has made me feel," said Mrs. W. E. Whitlow, 33 15 East Q St., Richmond, Va.

"I suffered for months from a general run-down condition. My appetite left me and I suffered so from nausea I could hardly retain anything. I was so nervous I just dreaded to see night come. I was troubled with frequent attacks of dizziness and I had to sit down to keep from falling. I lost weight and was so weak that the least exertion completely exhausted me so I could not do my housework. I took numbers of medicines, but kept getting worse and my friends were greatly alarmed at my condition.

"But it is altogether different with me now, as Tanlac has helped me wonderfully. My husband, who has been a great believer in Tanlac for some time, got me a bottle, and from the very first dose I noticed an improvement, as my stomach began to get better and my appetite picked up. I am eating everything I want and it doesn't hurt me, and I can't remember when I have felt so good as I do now. I do all of my work with ease, and my friends are always asking what it is that made such a change in me, and I always tell them Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

PROF. JACK POWER ADDRESSES METHODISTS

The address by Prof. Jack Power at the Brevard Methodist Church Sunday night made a deep impression upon the large congregation which heard him. Prof. Power held the closest attention of those present as he scored modern vices of all kinds. Every seat in the church was occupied and at the Sunday school room.

The speaker kept his audience in fine spirits by many humorous illustrations, and all went away delighted. Special music by the choir—including a solo—was a feature of the service.

Power is considered the most fearless speaker today on the platform when it comes to denouncing vile. His subject was Sowing and Reaping or Chickens Come Home To Roost and he handled it in a masterly manner.

Robert Deaver of Hampton Springs Fla., has joined his father's family for a short visit before going to Davidson College where he will resume his studies.

out the irons and he had slipped them off, leaving them on the floor of the brig. Then he jumped overboard in the dark.

After a swim of more than a mile Leonard came ashore at Prince's Bay, and later went to a garage owned by John Heintz, where he asked if he could rent an automobile to take him to New York. When told there were no cars for rent, he displayed a roll of $20 to show he was able to pay. That failed to get him a car and so he waited until an oil truck driven by a chauffeur for A. Halliwell, an oil dealer at 341 West Thirty-first street, Paterson, N. J., came along. Leonard persuaded the driver to give him a lift, and when last seen was headed for the ferry at Totenville.
