JUST STEADY GROWTH

Brevard is not on a building boom but is steadily growing. The Picklesimer building is receiving its finishing touches, the Brevard Banking Company announces that it will construct a home on the corner of Main and South Caldwell streets in the near future, and it is rumored that a brick block will take the place of several wooden buildings before the year is out—to say nothing of the cottages being constructed in different parts of the town.

has another husband—war; it pays its own expenses.

"The good die young" explains why some eggs live to a ripe old age.

Rabbit hunters are busier than ever—shooting each other by mistake.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; eat onions and you are alone.

Of course, what the world really needs is a navy reduced to the Swiss basis.

When war is abolished let us take the mean politics out of politics—or even before.

There are some among us who also would approve a ten-year working holiday.

If China's ten points were like the points of a porcupine they would have a better chance.

The Swiss, it is whispered cautiously in Washington, are hedging on their refusal to scrap their navy.

A lot of those world problems seem very simple when the nations talk over matters in a friendly spirit.

"Hotel guest shot in rotunda," says a headline. We thought all the rotundas were lost playing golf.

A shortage found in a cemetery fund has been made good. The authorities found its resting place.

In Quebec the woman voters outnumber the men, but the men have not complained. Possibly they do not dare.

Harding's words were carried 10,000 miles by radio and before long he'll be able to talk to himself around the world.

The old-fashioned bride who moved into a vine-clad cottage now has a daughter in a mortgage-plastered coupe.

When all is said and done, about the best olive branch now before the distressed world is the stable American dollar.

Whenever you hear one girl speak of another as being good and sensible it is unnecessary for her to add that she is homely.

Scientists differ as to the age of the human race, but most authorities agree that it has not yet learned how to behave itself.

Honolulu has passed an ordinance prohibiting tattooing, but the tourist won't care as long as they leave the hula-hula alone.
