Annual Short Course for Home Demonstration Agents and Members of Home Demonstration Clubs Raleigh June 5 to 17.
The following letter from Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon invites anyone who cares to take advantage of the annual summer school for home demonstration agents, to go to Raleigh June 5 to 17 and state requirements.
Raleigh, N. C.
May 16, 1922

Dear Co-worker:
You will probably be glad to get the following information in regard to the short course for club girls to be held June 5 to 17. The cost per person you can estimate at $1.50 per day plus railroad fare to and from Raleigh and a little extra for incidental expenses.

You must tell each girl to bring the following things: sheets, a pillow, if the girl uses one, pillow case, towels, soap, a spread or a single blanket and all other personal toilet articles which a girl need. We must know the time of arrival of your representatives and the number you are expecting to send. This information must be in the office not later than June the first and we prefer it sooner.

The following schedule is a tentative one:
7:00, rising bell; 7:05-7:20, setting up exercises; 8:45-10:30, first division, interior decoration and sewing problems; 10:45-12:30, second division, jelly making and other income earning features.—Note: Then two divisions change places; 12:45, luncheon; 1:45 basketry; 3:00-4:00 rest period; 4:00 amusement and sight seeing trip over Raleigh; 6:30 supper; 7:30, stunts and party and special talks on personal hygiene, table etiquette and social life; 9:30, room bell; 10:00 quiet hour.

Let us all try to make this annual short course the best we have ever had.

Very sincerely
JANE S. MCKIMMON,
State Home Demonstration Agent
In addition to subjects mentioned, Dr. J. O. Halverson, our nutrition specialist, will give three lectures on the newer aspects of nutrition and will take the class down to his laboratories to note the results of his feeding experiments upon the white rats that he is using.

Anyone in the county wishing to attend this course in home making will send your name in at the earliest possible date, not later than June 1, at any rate, to
LUCILE CLARK
County Home Demonstration Agent,
Brevard, N. C.

Keep Your Live Stock Out of the Mud

Use Lehigh—the National Cement

A concrete barnyard is dry and clean in every kind of weather. There is a big saving in grain, for none is lost and the water trough is always accessible. Mud and rough frozen ground are bad for cattle. Build an inexpensive concrete barnyard and save money.

It's a good plan to have several sacks of Lehigh Cement always on hand for use about the place.
