HOME OWNERSHIP

A man who has spent most of his life in social service work recently said that he had practically reached the conclusion that the most effective way of attacking modern problems would be to inaugurate a permanent nation-wide campaign for home ownership.

His idea is that the source of most of our present-day trouble is the lack of family stability.

The home owner does not desert his wife and children.

He does not suffer from wanderlust. He takes a strong interest in his community.

The purchase of his own home arouses his ambition, his thrift, and his industry.

Being permanently located, he is a better husband, a better father, a better citizen, and a better worker.

The more you think about this matter, the more you will be convinced that it is fundamental.

The strength of the small towns of this country is rooted in home ownership, and, without stretching the truth, it may be said that the unrest in the large cities is due to the lack of home ownership.—Oxford Ledger.

REV. CHAS. C. SMITH TO WRITE SERMONS

Rev. Charles C. Smith is probably one of the busiest pastors we have in our community; but like all busy men, he can always find just a little time for something outside of his regular line of life's work.

The editor of the News has requested Mr. Smith to devote a little time each week to the vast host of the News' subscribers, and he has consented to write a short sermon. It is understood, however, that he will be excused when he finds it too inconvenient and will try to make up in the following issue.

No one realizes probably better than an editor or author how tedious a task it becomes at times to write any kind of an article. There are many hours in which the inspiration simply won't come and of course there are times when the ink simply refuses to stop flowing.

For many years Rev. C. D. Chapman has written "The Prayer Corner." Its fame has spread far and wide. Just recently a group of New Yorkers visiting in Florida could hardly wait to receive the Brevard News for this feature alone. Many times the Editor of the Brevard News has been complimented upon the wonderfully beautiful prayers of Mr. Chapman.

Mr. J. M. Hamlin's articles are of great help to the News because his writing are intensely interesting. Dr. C. W. Hunt is of course the grand old stand by of the publisher and without his inspiring, boosting and witty writings the subscribers would feel lost.

The health articles and teachings of Dr. W. J. Wallis have done much to put the News upon a high plane and the influence and conservative counsel of Rev. John C. Seagle has done a great deal to make the News deserve the great praise showered upon it during recent months.

The Editor has always extended a cordial invitation to all the ministers of each denomination to use the columns of the News. We would like very much now to extend to some local pastor an earnest invitation to write "The Sunday School Lesson" in a broad minded manner for each edition. The News would then have these special features so necessary in its success and influence.

We sincerely thank Mr. Smith for his consent to write "Our Weekly Sermon," and we feel sure that he will be partly repaid by the knowledge that he is not only preaching to one great congregation, but that of the great volume of the News readers as well.

Rev. Chas. C. Smith very much regrets to be compelled to announce that the date that Congressman W. D. Upshaw made with him to speak here on July 30 and 31 has been postponed for a short time. The following telegram from Mr. Upshaw to Mr. Smith explains all that is known here as yet: "Deeply regret the necessity for postponing visit to you for a week or two. See letter." It is very likely that Mr. Upshaw will come either on August 6 or 20. Definite announcement will be made in due time.

"MINDING OUR OWN BUSINESS"

Every now and then some "know it all" individual will endeavor to give his opinion on most any subject and try to impress upon us that it is right because he knows it all, but when you express your opinion, it falls on deaf ears. There are many such individuals and we are all aware of this type of pompous citizen.

This citizen probably is not aware that his attitude is rude, to say the least, or that everyone hasn't the same high opinion of him that he has of himself. There are several fundamental causes for this self-opinionated personage.

It may have been his early environments or the education he has received when young. Possibly he may have been "boss" over a number of people who naturally catered and looked up to him for guidance.—We do not want to put the matter too strongly and while passing on, let us drop a tear, too, for the men who are not of this type, but who are striving to carry on a great enterprise, whose working hours are not limited by the whistle and whose hair is fast turning white through the struggle to hold in line dowdy indifference, slipshod imbecility, and the heartless ingratitude which, but for their enterprise, would be both hungry and homeless.

Several years ago the editor of this paper was called to task for daring to defy certain interests. I was told to "mind my own business," that the matter in dispute was no concern of mine, that I had gone out of the way to meddle in something that would do me more harm than good. But as the publisher of the home paper and as your editor, I believed that the matter in question was a detriment to the growth of this community, that is, was a direct monopoly against the people of whom this paper is the natural exponent. The News was badly abused at the time and suffered financially for the utter lack of cooperation because of our strong attitude at that time.

But the people were with us and such a strong protest was made at the time and ever since that the News, with the support of the real citizenry, has won out and now "a boom has been started that will be of lasting benefit to the whole county."

There are always certain groups, certain individuals and certain rings who are anxious to belittle your news paper. There is always a certain type who take it as a matter of course for the newspaper to pull their chestnuts out of the fire and both these groups are eternally fooling themselves, but no one else, when they attempt to "buck up against the press." If a newspaper is honest in its convictions, if it cannot be bought, the people know it and generally support it through thick and thin. It is not my attitude to say "I told you so," but it is my attitude to say that it pays to advertise and to be sincere with the real people.—It certainly won't pay in the long run to use any underhand methods to gain an end or to build up a business because "Be sure your sins will find you out."

We have been criticized upon another small matter within the past year and were told that "we were butting in where it was none of our business," and we wonder when the people know the facts whether we will be commended or not. We think we will.

The hypocrite will hide his weakness but the honest man will be frank, open and aboveboard. IT IS the business of this newspaper—that's what it is published for. It is not published as a political exponent of any one and as long as we are working for the good of the people of this great, grand and glorious county, we believe we will be vindicated, upheld and backed up by the great majority of the people of this county, "The Land of Waterfalls."

Miss Tazzie Parham, who taught for several years in the graded school at Brevard, recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Biltmore Hospital. Her many Brevard friends will be pleased to know that she has recovered sufficiently to be again at her home in Fruitland, N. C.

Messrs. Judge T. H. Calvert, A. Emmerson Eve, court stenographer, Congressman Zebulon Weaver and Solicitor Garrett Bailey are all here this week on account of court.

J. L. Smathers of Asheville, prominent furniture dealer, is visiting in Brevard.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF TRANSYLVANIA

It is to be regretted that the result of the Democratic primary, held June 3, for the selection of county and other candidates was such that the returning board saw cause to declare no election in case of the office of State Senator and recommended a new primary for this office.

Accordingly, the Democratic committee ordered a new primary to be held August 5 for the selection of a candidate to fill this vacancy on the ticket.

While I was a candidate at the June primary, I submit to the new order of things and declare myself a candidate for the office of State Senator before the August primary.

My friends who supported me loyally at the June primary have my sincerest thanks and deepest appreciation; and for those who saw cause to support my competitor, Mr. Galloway, I have no unkind feeling, and trust they have none for me.

I regret the necessity of asking my friends to undergo the trouble to attend another primary, but the exigencies of the case make it next to imperative.

It is only natural to desire as creditable vote as possible, as we are asking for a nomination to be endorsed by our sister counties—Jackson and Haywood.

Respectfully submitted,
 J. M. ZACHARY

COLEMAN GALLOWAY ON SECOND PRIMARY

I see from last week's paper that a second primary has been called by the Democratic Executive Committee to be held on the 5th day of August, 1922. This is not the second primary but the third one that has been called for this year. The Canvassing Board had the nerve to call one for the last Saturday in June, but this one was called off.

This is to notify my friends that I will not enter the so called illegal second primary, for the reason that I was nominated by a majority of twenty votes in the June primary, but I shall enter the race this fall and I am prepared to prove to the people of this district that I am the nominee of the Democratic party for state senator, and I am also prepared to show the people how some of the Canvassing Board, assisted by a few of the high officials of the Democratic party, have tried unlawfully and willfully to steal my nomination. If J. M. Zachary enters this race, as he has no equal or moral right to do, then I am prepared to show from the court records of his own county and affidavits from good men of Jackson county, what manner of man he is.

Fellow Democrats of this district, I don't believe that you will stand for a man who was honestly nominated for an office being robbed of that office by a designing few who have no interest in the Democratic party except for their own personal gain. I shall include part of two affidavits to prove to you that I did receive the nomination in the June primary, which are as follows:

H. E. Stowers, being duly sworn, says: That on June 5 he helped R. L. Gash tabulate the votes cast in the June primary for State Senator and that from the official returns, Coleman Galloway received 749 and J. M. Zachary received 729, giving Galloway a majority of 20 votes over J. M. Zachary for State Senator.

Sworn to before F. E. Shuford, Deputy Clerk of Superior Court.

E. M. Whitmire, being duly sworn, says: That he was the Register for Eastatoe Township, Transylvania county, in the Democratic primary of June 3, 1922, and brought in the returns to the canvassing board on June the 5th, 1922; that he was made chairman of the said canvassing board at the meeting held on June 5, and canvassed and tabulated the returns in Transylvania county for State Senator in the race between Coleman Galloway and J. M. Zachary and that the returns from the several precincts in said county as brought in and certified to by several township boards, showed that Coleman Galloway received a majority of twenty (20) votes over J. M. Zachary for said office of State Senator for this district.

Sworn to before N. A. Miller, Clerk of the Superior Court of Transylvania county.

If this is not sufficient to prove to you that I received the nomination honestly, then I have plenty more evidence to make out my case.
 COLEMAN GALLOWAY
