The election is just around the corner, and in another month the folks will be pestered with all kinds of friendly advances, promises, poor cigars, cheap perfumery, etc., by the different candidates. There is a great deal of complaint about the parking space on Main St. not being marked off. It has caused several cars to have their fenders knocked off and also prevents all the space from being used. And while speaking about streets there is considerable criticism of the sidewalks in front of the Pickelsimer building on Broad street which leads to the post office. It does seem as if this matter could be attended to. This street has considerable travel over it and certainly is in bad condition.

NEWS FROM QUEBEC

Mrs. Millie L. Henderson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. H. Miller of Sapphire, this week.

The annual meeting of the stock holders of the Quebec Canning Club was held on Saturday, August 26. Miss Dora Reece was elected president; Mrs. Ida Whitmire, secretary-treasurer; T. C. Henderson, T. C. McCall and Elbert Whitmire, direc-

Citizens of Quebec community met last week and decided to hold the community fair of Hogback township this year at Quebec school house. An organization was perfected and a committee appointed to solicit funds for the prizes which will be offered. The exact date of the fair will be decided on as soon as the premium list is prepared and distributed among prospective competitors.

Farm Demonstrator Lindley visited this section last week in the interest of the community. He and the Home Demonstrator are doing more for the rural communities of Transylvania (and almost the whole of the county is "rural") than can be estimated by a casual observer. The money paid these officials is money well-spent, and is returned to the county many fold in increased production of crops, in increased knowledge of the care of stock, often resulting in the saving of the lives of valuable cattle, in increased knowledge of home making and better providing for the home and in general community betterment.

One citizen, in writing concerning the work of a farm demonstrator, said: "He is teaching many of our farmers that it pays to get out of the rut that one crop is ruinous in the long run, that clover crops retain soil fertility, give winter grazing, and so make live stock profitable. He meets with our teachers, lectures in our schools, and has instituted many movements in the nature of social surveys looking to community betterment. He stands for better country schools, better country churches, better farms and farm homes, and his stand is so active that we could not now dispense with his work. His efforts have added many thousands of dollars to the wealth of this county." Some one has truthfully said that all progressive citizens who are really interested in the future welfare of our county desire to see the Farm Demonstrator and the Home Demonstrator given the hearty co-operation of the citizenship of the county in their efforts to try to help make country life efficient, satisfying and wholesome.

A Leaf From a Summer Tourist's Diary

A trip that takes its place in beauty beside the one which gave a view of the Hudson River from the Federal Monument at West Point, N. Y., and that one of eighty-two miles, round-trip from Franklin, N. C., to Cherokee, N. C., to the Indian Reservation there, in the summer of 1921, was taken by me today, Saturday, August 26, 1922, to See Off, the top of a mountain (about 2500 feet high) some four miles from Brevard, N. C.

Physically, aesthetically and spiritually, the day spent on the mountain top was a success.

Two automobiles and one wagon drawn by two strong, white horses conveyed the company of men and women, boys and girls, and, that indispensable factor to a successful, all-day picnic, the lunch, through the beautiful, thriving town of Brevard to the foot of the mountain.

From there the picnickers left the cars and proceeded by the big wagon or on foot, assisted by stout sticks, to the goal of our destination, See Off.

Never will I forget the scene that the Master Painter held up before our wondering eyes.

We were persuaded that there must be a heaven, for there were its soft, wonderful hill-tops looking down on us.

At some places far away on the horizon the outlines of the mountain peaks were so faint as to look like clouds.

Looking on the misty, strange, blue-blue, radiant scene spread far and away and wide and high before us, we could think only of the Mighty God who had wrought so wondrously and so fair, and to almost question ourselves thus, "Who is this Wonder Painter? Have I seen with the soul's eye the Great Hand that finished and hung high for our delight the blue, beauteous picture it had been vouchsafed us the privilege of beholding?"

The eye swept with wondering gaze the level valley and beautifully green farm lands far and away and then climber with wonder and admiration and gratitude the towering and far-away and widespread blue hills and peaks and mountains in the distance.

The lovely blue of the scene fairly ravished the eye with its beauty and filled to overflowing the hearts of the Christian believers who stood on the green hill-tops—bereft of words fit to describe the view, and the indescribable beauty within the eye's compass.

Would it not be reverent to say that, like Peter, we would fain stop and build a tabernacle of praise to the "Maker of Heaven and Earth?"

Back to earth the physical man called us and we went back to the cool woods with its mighty trees, and beside a clear spring of cool water, built a campfire, and over its glowing embers toasted "weinnies" and bacon and tender, sweet ears of corn and boiled fragrant coffee.

An enjoyable picnic dinner with the indispensable fried chicken and the toasted dainties and a rest under the tall trees and a ride home amid beauty of mountain range above us and laurel, fern and lovely bright, wild flowers about us, completed a day ever to be preserved in memory's treasure box.

Those composing the picnic company were: Mr. C. C. Kilpatrick, his two granddaughters, Edith and Nell Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Kilpatrick and two young daughters, Carolyn and Elaine, Messrs. Guthrie and John Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Weaver of Apex, N. C., Mrs. R. B. Maxwell and Mrs. J. E. Wendell of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. E. J. Manucy, Mrs. and Master Dick Colee and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Middleton of St. Augustine, Fla., Mrs. S. D. Reid, Miss Lucile Reid and little Laura Mathis of Thomasville, Ga., Miss Juanita Forbes of Tallahassee, Fla., Miss Jessie Williams of Apex, N. C., and Miss Daisy Peddy of Newman, Ga.

A DAY'S WORK DONE

Do the EYES feel more played-out than the BODY when your days' work is done?

Can you read your evening paper without squinting, without becoming sleepy, or having your eyes burn?

If you are acquiring the habit of dropping off to sleep, over your newspaper, it is a sign that the eyes are tired, and demanding rest. It is evidence that the daily routine is getting to be TOO MUCH for them.

This condition is unnatural, and unless corrected, will seriously injure the delicate nerves and muscles of the eyes.

The thing to do, is to consult a RELIABLE OPTOMETRIST—one in whom you can place confidence. The right scientific attention will bring your vision up to normal.
