

WORKERS

That Was Sent to the Authorities

...up the marvelous... in Wales, is a... away in a creek... a small settlement... whose ancestors were

...of Henry II, a band of... sent over from Flanders... in Haverfordwest castle... engaged to make cloth for... of the land.

...castle they tolled for many... till at last, either tired of work... by their employers, they... the dreary prison fortress and... in a small tract of land about... miles away.

...Although many years have passed, the people still keep the customs of their forefathers. The women's dress is but a slight variation of the dress worn by the Welsh in the olden days.

...The women do all the important work. It is no unusual thing to see the women in the courtyard of their villages preparing the culm (a mixture of clay and coal used for fuel in Pembrokehire and the man lounging against the wall of the house.

...In all things, the woman shoulders the responsibilities of life. Before the marriage, the bride-to-be prepares for the struggle of living. Her trade depends upon the possession of a small rowing boat.

...To get together sufficient money to buy one, she brews many casks of beer. All her friends are invited to her home to drink the beer, for which they pay. The stauncher the friend, the larger the quantity bought! When the beer is sold the boat is bought and the wedding feast is prepared.

...Then comes the hard daily round for the girl. Every morning she goes out in the boat and returns with a load of shrimps and cockles.

...These are put into panniers which are strapped on the sides of a donkey. With another pannier on her back and a small basket on her arm she trudges into the nearest town, where she hawks her wares from door to door.

...How the husband spends his day is secret history! It is hoped that like a dutiful man he prepares the dinner for his tired wife. Perhaps the vegetables and a piece of bacon, which complete the evening meal, are the result of his day's work.—Buffalo Express.

Dead Beat.

Arnold W. Brunner, the New York architect who recently declined a $20,000 salary from the Pennsylvania government because he thought himself sufficiently well paid for his work already, said at a dinner in Philadelphia:

"Some people are puzzled by my action. Well, such people, when it comes to government jobs, don't know the meaning of the word 'honesty.' Speaking etymologically they are as much at sea as the club steward.

"An elderly clubman, after a long sojourn in the Orient, said on his first visit to the club:

"Where's Abraham, my old waiter? Not defunct, I hope?"

"That's what he's done, sir," said the club steward furiously, "with every blessed thing he could lay his hands on!"

Valuable to Mariners.

In a recent speech in New York Signor Marconi, the man who first made wireless communication possible, announced that he has worked out a method of directing radio waves instead of permitting them to scatter broadcast. He does it by means of what he calls "reflectors," the construction of which he did not clearly explain. He believes that the invention will be valuable not only in sending messages in a single direction but in controlling messages that are now sent out to sea from stations on the shore, so that ships can determine their exact distance from land.—Youth's Companion.

She Won.

A young man met his pretty girl cousin the other day for the first time, and was attracted by her.

"I bet you a dime," he said, "that I can kiss you without touching you."

"Of course you can't," replied the girl.

"Well, will you take the bet on?" asked the other.

"Yes," said the girl dubiously. Her cousin thereupon kissed her.

"Oh, but you did touch me!" exclaimed the girl.

"I know I did," replied the young man, with a grin, "and here's your dime."

Choles.

"Where will poor Mrs. Gabbins go now that both her daughters are married and living in different cities?"

"Well, one son-in-law would like to have her go to Springfield and the other to Brooklyn."

"What dutiful sons-in-law!"

"Not at all. You see, it's the one in Brooklyn who wishes she'd go to Springfield and the one in Springfield who wishes she'd go to Brooklyn."—Boston Transcript.

Sounded Good.

Bright—Better come over to the club tonight; we are going to have a lecturer to speak to us, and...

—Sure, I'll come; but will you get me a drink in Slav?

She Keeps It There

...time waits for no one... around the other... average woman.—Life.

Aspiring Youth would Never Wait on Years

Sir James Barrie's recent call to "Youth" to assert itself raises several interesting points. It is said that years bring wisdom, and that wisdom is the result of experience. It would therefore seem that "youth" should leash itself in until it has learned wisdom. But to set against that view there is the record of many who have won imperishable laurels while still lacking years and all the latter are supposed to bring, observes a London Answers writer.

Byron began to write his great "Childe Harold" when he was but twenty. Keats wrote "Endymion" at twenty-two. Milton wrote "Il Penseroso" at twenty-nine. Richard Brinsley Sheridan wrote "The Rivals" at twenty-three, and the immortal "School for Scandal" when he was but twenty-six. Robert Burns was only nineteen when he wrote "John Barleycorn," and Dickens was but twenty-four when he wrote "Sketches by Boz." "Pickwick" followed at twenty-five, "Oliver Twist" at twenty-six, "Nicholas Nickleby" at twenty-seven, "Barnaby Rudge" and "The Old Curiosity Shop" at twenty-nine.

Shakespeare wrote many of his best plays—"Richard III," "The Merchant of Venice," "Midsummer Night's Dream," etc., before he was thirty-two. Scores of other examples could be given, covering other professions and arts, and the result is to show clearly that Sir James Barrie was quite right. Youth should never wait on the years. The best in the world, whether it be in literature, sculpture, painting, etc., has been the gift of youth. The only exception to the rule seems to be in the realm of statesmanship. There, the older you are the better you are.

WILL DEVELOP NEW POWERS

Why Aviation is Likely to Bring About a New Type of Mind in the Human Race.

Will flying result in the evolution of a new type of mind? asks the London Daily Express.

Capt. L. de G. Sleveking, a distinguished flying officer, answers the question in the affirmative in a remarkable article on the "Psychology of Flying" in the current issue of the English Review.

"Flying," he says, "is an unnatural state for man. There will be noticeable in future generations an evolution of a new type of mind whose tendencies and capabilities can be directly traced to the fact that they and their fathers have flown about the sky, and remained in the upper air for many hours in their lives.

"High up in the clearer air the mind seems to be purged of certain glutinous structures. It revivifies with an altogether unprecedented velocity and perfect precision. The idea of death is regarded with unconcern. With this comes a certain recklessness.

The memory in some instances becomes dulled and incapable of calling up a clear picture, but the general effect of constant flying is to stimulate and strengthen the mind. "Such qualities as intuition and telepathy will develop more quickly with the influence of flight into powers as much as the command of the individual as hearing and tasting."

Why Wrist Watch Is Dangerous.

Be careful not to bind the strap of your wrist watch too tight. Several cases of neuritis in the fingers and hands have been traced to this cause, says Dr. John S. Stopford in the Lancet. In one case, he explains, a tender point was discovered on the dorsal surface of the styloid process of the ulna, and pressure in this situation caused pain to radiate from this point into the dorsal cutaneous branch of the ulnar nerve. There were no signs of paresis or atrophy of any of the intrinsic muscles of the hand, nor were any trophic changes found. On discarding the wristlet the discomfort gradually disappeared, it added.

Why Birds Should Be Protected.

All through the winter months our forests are searched, tree after tree, by nuthatches, titmice, creepers, winglets and woodpeckers for eggs and other hibernating forms of insects, says the American Forestry Magazine. As spring advances, as buds open, as tiny caterpillars and grubs emerge from the egg, come the hosts of arboreal birds—sparrows, thrushes, warblers and others—sweeping through the woods in migration. Under normal conditions they destroy something like 90 per cent of the tiny caterpillars hatching upon the external parts of trees before these caterpillars become large enough to attract notice.

Why White Wheat Flour.

It being known that present methods of milling white flour take out of it the vital principle which contains the gluten. It is often asked why white wheat flour is not more extensively used. Dr. L. Emmett Holt of New York gave one of the principal reasons in a discussion at the Washington congress of physicians and surgeons when he said that white wheat flour can be kept for months without spoiling, while whole wheat flour spoils in a few days.

Like Jobson.

him?"

Bolshevik. If he'll agree to pay him $20.—

The Blue Company. An applicant was being told of Father Bernard Vaughan, who is now on his way home to England after a trip to South Africa.

He was inspecting a native hut occupied by a fully clothed mother and her pleananny who was running about in his birthday suit. Father Vaughan turned to his companion and said: "That is the difference between South Africa and London. In Africa the mothers are clothed and the children naked, while in London it is the children who are clothed and the mothers are—well!"

A never-falling sign of summer is "Closed to Traffic."

Anybody to beat Tchitcherln will get the news paper vote.

CITY PRESSING CLUB J. E. WATERS, Prop. Phone 94

Cleaning Pressing Dyeing

All work turned out promptly. Main Street Brevard

NOTICE—LAND SALE BY TRUSTEE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed in trust executed by J. C. Siniard and wife, Ruby Siniard, to the undersigned trustee to secure a certain note of even date therewith, which deed in trust is dated Aug. 29, 1921, registered in Trust Deed Book No. 13 at page 286, Transylvania county, N. C., and which note is past due and unpaid, and the holder of same having given the required notice to make the default good and the same not having been made good, and the holder of said note having demanded that the power of sale be executed, now, therefore, the undersigned will sell to highest bidder for cash at the Court House door in the town of Brevard, N. C., on Saturday, October 28, 1922 at 12 o'clock M. the following described lands and premises:

Lying on the south side of the public road leading from Brevard to Boilston, and on the east side of Southern railway track, and adjacent to railway crossing, beginning at a stake in the southwest margin of the above mentioned road, at a point where the right of way of the railway crosses same and runs with the southwest margin of said public road, south 10 deg. east 132 feet to a stake on the margin of said road, near an apple tree; then leaving the road and runs south 85 deg. west with the Allison line 320 feet to a stake in the line of the right of way of the Southern railway co. 20 feet distant from the center of the track then with the line of said right of way of said railway company, north 46 deg. east 324 feet to the beginning.

On this lot a small dwelling is located. Sale made to satisfy said note, interest, cost and expenses of sale. This September 20, 1922. WELCH CALLOWAY, Trustee 10-13-4tc-W/G.

CHEVROLET World's Lowest Priced FULLY EQUIPPED Automobile $525 The People's Car See it Compare it Try it as Our Guest A. M. WHITE, Distributor Rosman, N. C.

COMING! DR. S. ROBINSON Asheville's famous Eyesight Specialist will revisit BREVARD at an early date. Watch this paper for further announcement. NOTE—Write or phone for appointment. "Know Us By This Sign" ROBINSON 78 Patton Ave., Asheville, North Carolina Office Phone 626 Residence Phone 1288

Go to the BREVARD PHARMACY for Nunnally's Candies, Cigars, Cigarettes, Tobaccos, Ice Cream and Soft Drinks. It is a pleasure to serve you. BREVARD PHARMACY J. B. PICKELSIMER, Ph. G., Prop. Telephone No. 1 Brevard, N. C.

A Laundry Convenience A stationary wash tub, with hot and cold running water right at your elbow, takes the drudgery out of washing. No carrying of water. Simply turn a faucet and the water is there—just as you need it. And no struggling with cumbersome tubs. Merely pull a plug and your tub empties itself. Whether your washing is large or small, this system will lighten your work. Let us figure on the installation for you. We also do prompt, neat and efficient repair work.

NICHOLSON & DUCLOS Plumbing, Tinning and Sheet Metal Work

Brevard Institute BREVARD, NORTH CAROLINA Departments—College Preparatory, Normal, Music, Business, Domestic Art, Household Economics, Agriculture. All departments are directed by teachers with special training and large experience. They know their business. Influences of the Institute are store worth the cost of tuition. Opens on September 7.

SMITH'S PLACE where you will receive courteous treatment, and where every one who is employed is a Tonsorial Artist We have just installed SHOWER BATHS We will be pleased to serve you

F. P. SLEDGE Groceries, Fruits, Vegetables Try my cash prices and see if I can't save you money. Don't forget I am always on the job and can serve you promptly. Main Street Auditorium Building

Insurance Neglected May mean weeping in smoke or in sadness viewing the ruins of your home. But Insurance shows business ability. Means satisfaction in protection. Means Contentment of mind. Means the saving of a lifetime's earnings. Means the comfort of old age. Destruction has visited your neighbor and our neighboring town — It awaits us. Insure while it waits — tomorrow may be too late. Brevard Insurance Agency T. H. GALLO, Manager Brevard, N. C.

T. Z. OSTEEEN ELECTRICIAN Wiring, Repairing Electrical Aparatus Your business respectfully solicited. Years of experience. Work guaranteed. Office over the Bee Hive Barber Shop.

Warranty Deeds and Deeds in Trust at News office.