THE ELECTION AND BITTER DEFEAT

In these days of many political aspirants the taking of defeat should be cultivated as one of the higher arts. The importance of this is suggested on account of the fact that only one sheriff, three commissioners, one treasurer and one register of deeds, one clerk of the superior court, one representative, etc., could be elected on last Tuesday, November 7.

Some of the aspirants had certainly exerted themselves in a great fight for their party and the campaign was fought hard and with splendid team work by all concerned and those who were defeated have already shown their true sportsmanship by the manner in which they have smiled and seem to naturally take their defeat very gracefully.

They realize that it isn't really worth the trouble to wax wrathful and say that they were knifed, were lied to and were lied about, were misrepresented, friends turned traitors, etc.

By taking their defeat gracefully, getting up and brushing off the dirt and trying the real contest over again is quite a brilliant accomplishment—really one of the finer arts that we should all learn to cultivate regardless of the nature and character of the contest in which we become a participant. The campaign was clean and kept on a high plane and now let us back up those elected.

HENDERSON COUNTY ELECTION

The news that Henderson County has gone Democratic by a larger majority than some Democratic strongholds, is indeed surprising and the day of miracles is upon us. We don't know who to give the credit to but the Hendersonville Times has been a strong partisan Democratic newspaper for nearly two years and we lift our hat to its publishers for the wonderful influence they have exercised.

NO MERCHANT SERVES THE PUBLIC AS MANY HOURS PER DAY AS THE DRUGGIST

No merchant must work for the public as many hours each day as the druggist. Late in the evening there may come the urgent necessity for a certain kind of drug. A physician is working perhaps to save the life of some person in a critical condition. Where could he get the drugs he absolutely must have to make his work effective if it were not for the drug stores? Almost as much a necessity as the skilled physician himself is the skilled pharmacist back of him ready to deliver fresh, accurate materials used by the physician in combatting disease.

One can see at a glance that these emergency calls are of no great degree of frequency. The profit on them would be small—not enough to pay the light bill for one evening. So the druggist must sell other things you need in order that he may be able to maintain the sort of business to which you will possibly turn some day when it is actually a question of life and death.

YOUR DRUGGIST IS MORE THAN A MERCHANT.

OUR TOURIST POSSIBILITIES

(Charlotte News)
The meeting held in Asheville during the week, of forward-looking men and representatives of great corporations which are investing heavily in North Carolina resources, looking toward the development of the western part of the state as a tourist center means a great deal more for the old commonwealth than may appear upon a superficial study.

Certainly no time need be taken in elaborating upon the wealth of resources possessed by the western section of the state for such development. The marvels of that territory, in scenic beauty as well as in raw materials that are embedded in its soil, are beginning to be generally known and recognized throughout North Carolina. That whole country heading into Asheville as the metropolitan of the mountains, has in these late years, become a mecca for summer visitors from all points in the state and it has been by reason of such vacation excursions that North Carolinians have become acquainted the better with that part of their state and brought into an appreciation of the undreamed-of possibilities of the mountains.

The building up of the tourist industry in that section has impressed some of our leading state-builders as the next big task that is ahead of us. It is heartening to find such a gigantic leader as Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt right in the forefront in this agitation and taking the lead in the movement. Other associations in which Dr. Pratt has been vitally interested, have, to some extent at least, lived out their day and served their usefulness in good measures at least.

We have reference, for instance, to such organizations as for several years have been interested in the development of highways for Western North Carolina, sufficient sentiment seems to have been worked up for this great development and the mountain districts are today being united with fine stretches of paved highways, bringing them not only into quick touch with one another, but making them accessible also to the outside world.

Another such organization has been that devoting itself to the task of conserving the forests of the state. The forestry association has done an excellent work and, perhaps, there will be much that it can continue to do, but it has covered its field so thoroughly up to this time that it can afford to take the background while this other more immediately vital proposition of developing the tourist industry is worked up.

The state has a great deal to gain as a state, from this sort of an enterprise and it is, therefore, perfectly in keeping with the logic of the opportunity that varied interests, here, there and everywhere, should join in with this movement and thus assist in making known to the far corners of the earth the plentiful resources of the state. It would be a great day for North Carolina when time immeasurable beauties of the territory of our mountain climate, when the wonders of our mountain scenery and when all the grandeur of that section, are brought to the appreciation of outsiders—a great day for the state because we would have trooping this way every year a multitude of transient visitors from all parts of the world who would not merely come and go, like ships that pass in the night and leave no abiding evidence of their presence, but such tourists as would permanently mean a great deal for the state through their presence, even for a few weeks or months every year.

NEW ORLEANS NEGRO LANDS $5,000-JOB

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Walter L. Cohen, negro Republican politician, today appointed by President Harding as comptroller of customs at New Orleans, received one of the most lucrative offices in the south. The salary attached to the office is $5,000 annually. Cohen assumes the position held by Major A. W. Newlin, known before the new tariff act went into effect, as the naval officer at the port of New Orleans.

Cohen has been a figure in Republican circles in Louisiana for almost 30 years. He has held other federal positions, at one time being registrar of the United States land office at Baton Rouge. The offer of a federal position in Washington is said to have been declined by Cohen some time ago.—Greenville Nws.

TO ALL JUNIOR RED CROSS MEMBERS

Dear Juniors:

You have not heard from me for a long time, but this week a letter came just to you asking me to let you know that the little children of Armenia needed your help. They get cold in the winter time just like you do, and they get hungry every day. The letter was sent through our Southern Headquarters in Atlanta, and this was what it said:

"Driven from Asia Minor by the fortunes of war, some half million of refugees have fled for safety to the shores of Southern Europe and the Aegean Islands. They are penniless, homeless, terror-stricken! Junior Red Cross Committees should endeavor to have domestic science teachers and departments assign some of their sewing periods to this enterprise. The clothing, if not new, should be cleaned and mended before sending, and the shoes should be cleaned and mended before sending, and the shoes be in good repair and tied together in pairs.

If you can't provide a large amount of clothing, do not get discouraged and think your little is not worth while.

Under such distressing conditions every little will be a help.

Now, Juniors, and those who want to be Juniors of the Red Cross, if you have anything to send to these poor children bring it to the U. D. C. Library before November 10th and leave it in charge of Mrs. John W. Smith between the hours of three and six P. M.

While I am writing to you I would like to ask you to save pieces of work that you have left over from making sweaters this winter and next summer we will try to make another Afghan for the sick soldiers at Oteen Hospital.

Yours truly, VIOLET HENRY.

B. Y. P. U. MEETING IN QUEBEC SUNDAY

(Set for last week)

For the purpose of perfecting the organization of the union, the Association of Baptist Young People of Transylvania county met at Quebec Sunday in morning and afternoon sessions. A splendid attendance of around 200 crowded the church. Among the interesting features of the program was an address delivered by T. C. Henderson on the good work of the B. Y. P. U. in the mountains.

Rev. Dupree, pastor of Mt. Moriah church, addressed the assembly on the educational growth of the young people in the B. Y. P. U., bringing out many instructive points which were heard with great attention.

J. W. Lindley spoke earnestly of his appreciation of the good the B. Y. P. U. had accomplished in his life, and what it had meant to him. Great enthusiasm for the extension and growth of the union was in the minds and hearts of all present. Roy DeLong talked on the hopes for the union for the next three months, holding up splendid ideals to accomplish.

The hour between 12:30 and 1:30 was given over to dinner, which was served picnic style and greatly enjoyed by all the comrades in this large religious organization.

The following officers were elected: Miss Alcova Orr, President; Georgia Whitmore, Vice-President; Roy DeLong, Secretary; Miss Norma Chapman, Treasurer; Miss Nellie Lee, Organist; and Alvin Moore, Chorister.

District leaders appointed were: Miss Dora Reece, Miss Georgia Whitmore, Seldon Jones and Walter McGuire.

NOTES ON STATE FAIR

On September 27 Messrs. S. J. Kirby, State Boys' Club Agent, and C. C. Profit, District Agent, visited our county and insisted that we have our club boys represented at the State Fair so it was decided that we should put on a club booth demonstrating the proper handling of milk. This was quite a surprise to us all, but after looking over the prospects for boys to put this work on we decided to undertake it even though it was late, so the boys were selected and given a few lessons with what little time we could spare from school and community fairs.

Even though there were club members from various sections of the state with booths in competition we were fortunate in bringing back the "blue" on our booth which entitled the boys to free transportation and lodging while there. And since one of our boys was already there we decided to have the boys enter the livestock judging contest with result of winning first as the best judge of beef cattle. Also $25 as best judge of swine.

We had not expected the latter as the boys had had but little preparation along this line of work. Had we spent the time necessary for thorough preparation we have every reason to believe we would have made good in teamwork as well as individual. We hope to begin now for preparation for another year so that our boys may make even a better showing than they have this year, but I feel that we held our own fairly well with the showing we had. The boys seemed to enjoy their trip to the fullest and they declare the trip to be worth as much as a year in school.

We expect next year to have contests to determine what boys will go as we did not have time to select them in this way this year after it was decided to go. Boys between ages of 10 and 18 are eligible and we hope to have lots of contestants for the trip next year.

The fair was a success in every respect, being considered by authorities to be the best ever. The beef cattle were specially well represented were especially well represented with a splendid herd of Herefords, two herds of Angus and three heads of Shorthorn. One herd of Angus and the Shorthorn herd of R. W. Everett was from the state. The Angus herd from near Salisbury compared favorably with that of Carpenter and Ros. of Mansfield, Ohio, taking their share of blues, and the herd from Transylvania contained some as good individuals as any that were in either the Carpenter-Ross herd of Ohio as that of Wilson from Virginia and the here as a whole did credit to Transylvania county as well as North Carolina, and I feel sure that every Transylvanian that is at all interested in the livestock industry is proud of this herd.

The agricultural exhibits were also very good, Buncombe county being the fortunate one in winning the blue in the county agricultural exhibit.

Polk county brought back here share of the "blues" as did Avery county for its splendid exhibit of potatoes.

Western North Carolina certainly did its part by the state fair this year and received its share of honors as well for which we are all proud.

B. Y. P. U. TRAINING SCHOOL IN BAPTIST CHURCH NEXT WEEK

Baptist Young People Afford Fine Opportunity For Training

Beginning Sunday and going thru Thursday or Friday night of next week the young people of the Brevard Baptist church will hold a Training School, the object of which is to give increased efficiency to the organized work of the young people in this church.

There will be two courses offered, one for young people from sixteen years and up, which is the Senior course; the other for young people from fifteen and under, which is the Intermediate Course. The former will be taught by Prof. J. E. Jones of Fruitland Institute, and the latter by Miss Elma Farrow, who is one of the B. Y. P. U. experts employed by the Baptists of the state.

The real work of the school begins on Monday evening. Each evening the session will begin at 6:30 o'clock with a study period of about forty-five minutes; then lunch will be served in the church; and there will follow another study period, and ad-jourment will be made each evening about 8:45.

This is an annual opportunity and should be taken eager advantage of by every young Baptist in Brevard and vicinity.

Mr. Jones and Miss Farrow will be here for Sunday, and Mr. Jones will preach at the services at 11:00 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The public is cordially invited to the Sunday services.

WAS SHE PROPOSING?

"William Butler Yeats," said an editor, "is undoubtedly the greatest living poet, yet he admits that the poetry only brings him in $150 a year. He once told me a rather bitter story about this fact. He said that a young lady, on coming away from a palmist's, observed:

"That palmist must have taken me for an heiress."

"Yes? How so?" her companion asked.

"He prophesied," said the young lady, "that I'd marry a poet and live happy ever after."

LOOKING FORWARD

"What in the world are you staring at that married couple so intently for?" asked one young lady of another on the train.

"Oh!" said the other girl with a start and a sigh. "It's so natural for us girls to contemplate matrimony, you know."—Boston Evening Transcript.

WHAT IS PROSPERITY?

Prosperity is a condition of sound business health. In the last few years business has experienced stimulation and reaction, under production, high wages followed by unemployment, extravagance and want, quick wealth and wreckage.

These were symptoms of economic fever, not evidences of business prosperity.

They brought home again to business the great truths that credit is not capital, that opportunities are not resources.

The Brevard Banking Co. expects a steady progress toward better times, because of a growing tendency in business toward conservatism, economy, efficiency and hard work.
