THY friends are all impatient. That this year may be fortunate. They wear a special wishing spell. About this year to reach it well. Best any thing should come to me. Because old time says "The Day after Tomorrow" Grave and good cheer attend this year. And rest all shapes of doubt and fear.

But it will be well not to put too much faith in resolutions. Resolutions are often the vapors of auto-intoxication. They are the rainbows that succeed the last storm, before the tears have dried up. They are the ladders that we place upon our heads too soon. They are the thin ice that glitters but lets us through.

There is more power in resolution. If a man can overcome himself, he has conquered his worst enemy. He will have to use both fists to knock himself out and both feet to kick himself out; he will have to get himself down and sit upon himself before he can be lifted.

It is worth while, but it is unpleasant and difficult. Resolutions are not to be before it or be entirely forgotten, but resolution can do it and have power to spare. As a poet has said:

So high is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When I do whisper low, "Thou must,
The gods reply, I can."

Household Resolutions for Father

I will not sin. Never again will I touch the corner of my ways, and I know that guest towels are to be used but not used; yes, not even for a newly shaved face.

I will reverence the parlor. Verily, no cigar stands nor ashes shall I leave behind me, nor shall I lay my head upon the sacred and brodered cushion.

I will reform. The socks that are taken off at night, even so shall they be picked up by me and put into the laundry basket.

I will be thankful. For the cut glass berry bowl and the mahogany sewing table, for the synthetic toilet lotion, for the helligerent cigars; for these Christmas gifts, will I show rejoicing.

I will not answer back. Yes, though the bills of the New Year morn are mighty as mountains, and I will walk in the shadow of bankruptcy, I will not lift my voice against thee.

I will not complain. No, though our lash and croquettes be handed to me even unto the third evening, I shall hold my peace, and my desire for porterhouse shall be no more.

I will not struggle. That goal will may abide throughout the coming year. I cheerfully resolve to obey all the rules of the institution which harbors me. Amen.

THE CALENDAR

By MARTHA B. THOMAS
THE calendar is a curious human document when you stop to think about it. Just an easier way of reckoning than the counting of moons and suns, and a very important matter it is, too. A calendar is the director of man's affairs, the "consulting engineer" always to be interviewed before arranging life, whether it is a dinner or business appointment, a siege with the dentist or a trip abroad. It is the grand reference book; a silent, inanimate thing composed of twelve pages or sections with black marks on them. Probably no other book, large or small, has as many readers or commands the respectful interest enjoyed by its unimpeachable reputation.

In Your Garden.

It is truly wonderful how many birds will visit modest gardens during a year. They will, during the spring migration, be most in evidence from early daylight till breakfast time, and then again as evening comes on, says the American Forestry Magazine. When autumn approaches, the migration that takes place is equally interesting. In winter we may look for various finches, sparrows, crossbills, hawks, owls and not a few other species that come to us during that time of the year.

When you see any of the above world known names do you not think at once of immense organization which have been built up upon many, many years of tireless endeavor and service? True success is not accomplished in a day, but by years of struggle and the building up of a name which is the synonym of value and excellence. We, Dad and Fred, are endeavoring to become connected with the best manufacturers in our country, as well as the best element in our county for we are here to stay and help develop the boundless resources of our town and county, and by patient endeavor build up a name which shall mean relatively as much as the name we represent.
