

THE CHARMING SPRING FROCK

Here is a chic spring frock made of moire taffeta with venice lace yoke. It is trimmed with plaited ribbon and a colonial bouquet of pastel shades.

COLORS WOMEN MAY WEAR

Black Becoming to Those of Fair Complexion; Blue Flattering Shade; Pink, Youthful.

There is an idea very general among women that wearing black has an ageing effect on the appearance, but this is far from the case. Naturally with black, as with every other shade, a great deal depends upon individual coloring, but a fair woman, provided her complexion is not sallow, often looks considerably younger in black than she would in some bright color. The material chosen should not, of course, be very thick and heavy, as heavy black materials are very somber-looking and therefore far from youthful in appearance.

With few exceptions, blue is the most flattering color any woman can wear, and indeed she is unfortunate enough to have chosen the wrong shade a woman will always look younger in a blue gown than in any other color. Very fair women, with ash-blond hair, should choose the pale shades of blue, light tones of sage and gray-blues, while those with dark or golden-brown hair can adopt the deeper shades, royal and the lighter tones of navy-blues.

Green, especially in its brighter shades, is an ageing color, and the only woman to whom it is really becoming is the colour-haired.

Any shade of yellow is apt to add to one's appearance of years, especially the deeper tones of orange and flame, therefore they are only for the decidedly youthful wearer.

Pale tones of pink are not only becoming but very youthful in effect, especially under artificial light.

Brown, which is often considered dull, is, if the right tone be obtained, rather inclined to look youthful; but when deciding on the exact shade the light in the hair should be taken into consideration. A russet-brown gown worn by a woman with similar tones in her hair is wonderfully becoming.

Before deciding on a color it is a good plan to drape a piece of the material round the head and notice whether it makes the eyes look brighter and brings out their color. If it does, you may safely wear it, knowing that you will be looking younger and prettier than usual; but if it appears to rob the eyes of their brilliancy discard it, no matter how pretty it may be or how well it may look on some one else.

Color for evening wear should be chosen in artificial light, and those for day use in broad sunshine, for it is quite useless selecting a "perfectly lovely shade" under circumstances for which it is not intended.

Some materials alter considerably in artificial light—especially taffeta and charmeuse—which takes on quite a different tint and appearance when seen beneath electric light.

CAPES, VOGUE FOR CHILDREN

Garment in Fancy Knit Goods Comes in Solid Colors With Stripes That Contrast.

Wool capes for children in fancy knit goods are having a vogue at the present time. They are convenient for an extra wrap to slip on and off. They come in solid colors with stripes of a contrasting color and with a deep white brush collar. One pretty model with sleeve holes is in pink with white collar, cuffs and lapels, and a little simple embroidery on each of these.

New for spring for the little people is a three-piece knicker suit. It differs from the winter suit, which has the bifurcated lower garment, full length, fastened with straps under the feet. The newer suits have real knickers finished at the knee with a tiny cuff with buttons. There is a sweater and skull cap. They are pretty things and come in the more solid and useful colors among them the Harding blue.

"Well, well," exclaimed the favorite customer, "why did I ever buy a big hat when I could have had a little like this?"

"If I may suggest, sir," replied the head barber, "try one of our 'SURE-FIT' caps, that you can make adjust a hair-clip. They always fit."

AND that's only one reason why "SURE-FIT" is the world's most comfortable cap. No elastic to bind the forehead. The simple adjusting strap (hidden above the visor) works the same way as a belt. A slight pull, and your "SURE-FIT" is tighter or looser, as you prefer.

All the new Fifth Avenue styles, in the latest patterns from American and overseas mills. Prices the same as you'd pay for any stylish cap—and you get "SURE-FIT'S" unrivalled comfort.

Important: Our better grade "SURE-FIT'S" are specially treated so that they shed showers. Thus they keep their shape, last longer, look better, and give you 100% comfort on a rainy day.
