IN FRONT RANK OF PATRIOTS

Samuel Adams One of the Most Effective Instruments in Achieving American Independence.

If a popular vote were taken today among the casual readers of American history to determine who, in their opinion, among the fathers of the republic contributed the most effective influences toward the declaration and development of American independence, the chances are that many names would be found upon the list above that of Samuel Adams. SOUGHT FREEDOM FOR ALL Lafayette's Aim Was Establishment of Government by the People Throughout the World.

Gilbert Du Motier, Marquis De Lafayette, was a man who did great things in the world. In France he worked for liberty, justice and equality, and was one of the leaders in the overthrow of the wicked monarchy and caste of privilege that in the establishment of a government by the people. In America he fought for the freedom of the colonists and in the end he persuaded France to send the men and the ships that made possible the final victory at Yorktown.

Bradley revives the memory of Lafayette. Born a nobleman, he was reared a noble man, a man whose interests were selfish and whose life was devoted to the betterment of the privileged classes. American reverses the meaning of Lafayette because in America his unselfishness was most fully exemplified. Not for the freedom of France alone but for the freedom of all the enslaved peoples of the world was Lafayette ever ready to fight or to die.

Cartoons numbers in little things are as to worth acquiring. When a customer approaches, rise and offer a chair. Step aside and let the store's guest pass first into the elevator. These are little things, but they make you and your work finer, writes Elbert Hubbard in an exchange. To give visitors, or to give frost and flippant answers, even to stupid or impudent people is a great mistake. Meet rudeness with unfailing politeness and see how much better you feel. Your promise to a customer is your employer's promise. A broken promise always hurts, and it shows weakness in the character of a business organization just as unerringly does the well known. Most misrepresentations arise from not really listening to what is said, or not really seeing what you put down. The growth of every business depends on it. A law of success should be cultivated. The world is now pronouncing the careless, indifferent, heedless and silly. Keep ahead of your employer and of the hours of health by this.
