The thicker the head, the thinner the excuses.

Honesty is the best policy. This includes foreign policy.

Skeptics rave—and the Bible still remains the world's best seller.

Will somebody design a summer gosh to wear with summer furs?

The ultimate test of the vamp's ability begins the day after the ceremony.

The autoist who keeps on his bright lights is not one of our bright lights.

Don't view with alarm. If you can't point with pride, look ahead and hope.

Gold discoveries in Egypt will give a great impetus to the study of archeology.

Sophisticated people seldom brag; most of the horn rooting is the green-horn kind.

If she lives in a small town and is broken and bent with toil, she is called a dutiful wife.

We wonder whether income tax returns of movie stars square with press agent figures.

The only growing pains in Europe nowadays have to do with the size of some war debt.

The world is so full of a number of things that make it hard for us to attend to our own business.

A closet is a place where you keep the things you are ashamed to wear and too stingy to give away.

Also, those counterfelters rather support the prediction that in 1923 everybody would be making money.

There's one nice thing about an enemy. He isn't forever telling you something for your own good.

There are all kinds of people in the world, and all of them wonder how the rest of humanity gets that way.

Every day in every way—but what's the use, why not shorten it and just say: "Come, come, come a come!"

The world is all right, says Chauncey Depew. No matter how old that man gets, he remains a humorist.

A modern college seems to be a place where 2000 can sit in the class rooms and 50,000 in the stadium.

Poise is the quality that keeps a man from looking as foolish as he feels while watching a piece of silk.

Theft is the knack of convincing yourself that you'd probably grow tired of the thing even if you should buy it.

He is a proud as well as a useful suburbanite who makes two radishes grow where one dandelion grew before.

Anyhow, a lot of people know a lot about ancient Egypt they never would have known if old Tut hadn't turned up.

A "wind-up envelope" is a device that shows nothing but conceals nothing. Everybody knows it contains a bill.
