That load-speaker arrived in the national capital and told the pop-eyed world that Hiram was a backslider from the cause of progressivism, that the third party movement was growing very strong, and that the farmers must be given protection against their enemies, the grain and dairy companies. He seems to be right about the third party movement. Indeed, a third party was formally organized in Chicago by a group under the leadership of J. A. H. Hopkins of New York and the call for its convention, to be held May 30, was Issued.

Another meeting of progressive groups was held in Omaha and representatives of fifteen states indersed Ford for president and called a convention at Detroit December 12.
