OUR RALEIGH COMMUNICATION

Raleigh, N. C., March 31 - "Raleigh is on a religious spree", remarked one of the local pastors at the Ram-Ramsay tabernacle on Saturday morning at the conclusion of a service given over wholly to testimonials related by new converts, scores of whom spoke feelingly of the results their prayers had had in saving themselves and others; of what the revival had done for them and of the good things they are confidently expecting before the meetings close.

The testimonies came from small boys and girls, those in their teens, from young men and women, those in middle-life, and from men and women of mature age. The evangelist intended to devote only a few minutes to this feature of the service, but the spirit of the occasion swept rapidly over the assemblage with such force that an effort to check it was attempted.

Interest in the revival is more pronounced than at any time since the meetings started seven weeks ago. Services are not confined to the tabernacle. Business houses of practically every character have opened their doors for prayer services. These include department stores, grocery stores, foundries, cigar stores, livery stables, garages, cotton mills, pool rooms, etc. And this is not all. The evangelistic workers have "invaded" state administration circles and warned sinners to flee the wrath to come. On invitation of Governor Morrison a prayer meeting was held at the Marston. Following this came services at the State Departments Building, the Automobile License Department, the State Highway Commission and at the capital itself.

Sweeping above $50,000, ($5,500 beyond the goal) the bond selling campaign for the Odd Fellows building came to a jubilant finish on Wednesday. Clarence E. Mitchell, general chairman of the campaign, was presented with a handsome silver service and congratulated on his fine work. M. L. Shipman was hailed as chairman of the championship team, reporting the largest amount of subscriptions, $13,800. Awards for good work were made to him and to J. M. Little and J. M. Foster. It was no small achievement to raise the amount needed to complete the building begun months ago by the Odd Fellows. But after the matter became a civic proposition all doubt of completing the edifice was dispelled. Hundreds subscribed for the bonds because the need for the building had become apparent, and many joined in the movement as an appreciation of the enterprise shown by the Odd Fellows in starting such a stupendous undertaking. Victory is sweet when it costs such hard work. It was a hard pull, but every one who participated in the campaign feels good. It was worth while.

The State Board of Elections was in session here on Saturday working out plans for the primary campaign.

A BIG SUBURBAN DEVELOPMENT.

Mr. C. C. Yongue, who purchased the J. M. Hamlin property about two miles from Brevard on the State Highway early in February sold 230 acres of land to a syndicate composed of S. M. MacFie, J. H. Tinsley, J. S. Bromfield, T. W. Whitmore, Thos. H. Shipman and retained an interest for himself.

It is the purpose of these gentlemen to form a corporation that will be known as the Kagle Heights, Inc. for the purpose of developing a fine residential section. They own something like five thousand feet front on the hard surfaced road. There are a number of beautiful knolls, all of which will mean nice building sites.

They will put in a first class water system and when the lots are sold the owners will have the benefit of using the splendid water that will be carried in by the back of each lot along the road. They have already put a crew of men to work and will immediately begin to improve the property that is now under cultivation, seeding down seventy acres so that building sites along the road will all front a green meadow for more than a mile.

This project means much for the future growth of Brevard.

BREVARD'S FIRST GAME OF GOLF.

To those who think the subject of Golf is dead, or at least sleeping, in Brevard it will come as a surprise to read that the game will be played here next Monday and Tuesday, April 7 and 8.

It behooves us all to be on hand. We don't know whether the "Country Club" is to be an exclusive organization or not. We opine it will include any and all who come across with the necessary cash. Therefore, we should all learn the language, and know a brassie from a niblock and a hunker from a hazard.

The game will be played at the Auditorium by the Champion Gers Sarazen.

Cato said "Delenda est Carthago." It was. Brevard says, "We must have golf." We will.

ROADS ARE CRITICISED

The short article which appeared in the Brevard News of week before last, to which Mr. Reid, the road Supervisor took exception was not written for any political purpose or personal emity. I asked the question, whether it was the road law or road supervisor that was to blame for the impassable places in our leading roads, and stayed impassable for weeks at a time. If we admit the law to be allright, then it must be the supervisor's neglect. We must all admit we have had a cold winter with some rain and some snow since about the first of March, and that dirt roads cannot be kept in perfect condition through the winter but they can be kept passable for a very few dollars, perhaps a load of gravel at the proper time will repair a place when it neglected for a month or two, it may cost a hundred dollars to repair it, not considering the damage to automobiles that have been stuck in such impassable places.

Our Supervisor tells us that $8,000.00 is all the money we have for roads and that since the first of the year he has not been able to do much or the roads until recently, but the money appears to go all the same. He gets $1,800.00 a year and six horses to feed, and I suppose a man to feed them, will cost approximately eight dollars a day whether they work or not. 865 days at eight dollars a day will cost $2,920 plus $1,800.00, equaling $4,720.00, you can readily see that the horses and the supervisor will consume more than half the road money. In November when the roads should have been crowned and fixed for the winter he spent $942.43. In December when he could not work he spent $1,506.44; in January again too bad to work he spent $902.39; total for the three months of $4,018.19, more than the road funds was spent when the road supervisor admits it was too bad to work. You see the Commissioners are going to have to borrow money to maintain our roads. I contend that with proper care our leading roads could be kept passable the year around and there is no excuse for letting them become impassable and stay that way for weeks.

THE PRAYER CORNER

The Temptation of the World.

"Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil", Exodus 23:2. The second great temptation which assails the soul is that which comes from contact with the world. It is to do as others do, to copy that bad customs of others. The many walk along "the broad way" that leadeth to destruction, and we are obliged in some degree to mix with them. We have to live our lives in the midst of a world which is the enemy of God. Our Lord did not pray that His servants should be taken out of the world, but that they might be kept from the evil. It is hard to live in a foreign land without learning the speech and adopting the ways of foreigners. This world is not the Christians true home, he is but an exile here. The influence of the world is like that of the whirlpool, which first attracts and then engulfs everything which comes within its power. Custom is the queen of the world, so the motto of the world is, "follow custom, and do not be singular, or set yourself up as better than others; do not be so strict; and make other people uncomfortable; but best do as others do". People follow bad custom, not perhaps because they like it, but because they like it, but because they have not the courage to stand alone, and to be singular. It needs a brave heart to defy fashion, and to go counter to public opinion.

How then are we to meet and resist the temptation of the world. Let us learn from Jesus Christ in the wilderness. Then the Devil taketh Him up into the Holy City, and setteth Him on a pinnacle of the Temple and saith unto Him, "If Thou be the Son of God, cast Thyself down; for it is written, 'He shall give His Angels charge concerning Thee, and in their hands they shall bear Thee up, lest at any time Thine foot dash Thy foot against a stone.' Satan here tempted our Lord to commence His mission by a startling miracle - a flight through the air, and so at once secure popularity. But our Lord, who often worked miracles to induce people to believe in Him, would not, in this instance do so. Why was this? It was because if he would have been a departure from that path of duty which the Father had marked out for Him to tread. The angelic protection was only promised, "to keep Thee in all Thy ways" and so our Lord answered, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord Thy God". "God will only keep me safe amidst the snares of the world when I am in the path of duty. I cannot join in the perilous pleasures, pursuits and aims of the world, and expect God to protect me from harm. I cannot go to places, or be friendly with people or read books which are dangerous and expect a miracle to save me from falling".

So let me faithful to what God has taught me of my duty, and pray Him to give me a brave heart, that I may not fear to stand alone. Let me resolve that though all the world be against my Lord, yet not I. Whosoever shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in Heaven.

A PRAYER:

Almighty and everlasting God, Heavenly Father, enable us to withstand the temptation of the world. Let us learn from Jesus Christ in the wilderness, that Thou wilt only keep us safe amidst the snares of the world when we are in the path of duty. We know we cannot join in the perilous pleasures, pursuits and aims of the world, and expect Thee to protect us from harm. Let us not go to places or be friendly with people or read books which are dangerous. Let us be faithful to what Thou hast taught us of duty. Give us a brave heart that we may not fear to stand alone, though all the world be against our Lord, but help us to confess Him before men that He may confess us before Thee, His Father in Heaven, and this we ask in His name and for His sake. Amen. C. D. C.
