OUR RALIEGH COMMUNICATION

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 18.—The special session of the General Assembly has been in action nearly two weeks with nothing of consequence to its credit. It will probably complete its "labors" by the end of the week.

It is practically a foregone conclusion even by the most sanguine proponents of the Ship and waterways bill that the measure will be submitted to a vote of the people in the coming November election; and that it will be defeated by an overwhelming majority.

The Senate committee reported the bill to that body with the referendum provision stricken from the bill, but after three days deliberation it was "re-inserted" by a vote of 27 to 14 and goes to the House today. After rejecting the committee's amendment the bill, which provides for the issue of $8,500,000 in bonds, all told, passed the Senate by a practically unanimous vote. It could not possibly have passed without the restoration of the referendum feature.

The suggestion of a referendum practically killed any hopes of getting the water transportation measure through this Legislature without a provision submitting it to a vote of the people. It took the starch out of the backbone of those who had cherished hopes that the Assembly would approve the bill without the consent of the people. Fervid oratory could not stem the tide against the adoption of the committee's report.

There seems to be a chance for the King Bus bill to pass in modified form. As originally written considerable opposition to it had developed. The bus line people and those who believe that transportation of this character should pay a tax and be regulated are asking for its passage. A determined effort to put it over in some effective form will be made. The Governor's attitude in opposition is looked upon as pure piffle and demagogery.

The House has whipped into shape the amendment to the Constitution to provide the inviolability of sinking funds, and has been considering a measure for the judicial establishment of the State by creating county courts with superior jurisdiction in larger counties.

The consideration of the Child Labor amendment to the Federal Constitution will begin early this week. That it will be rejected is almost certain. There is little hope for effective Child Labor legislation in North Carolina until the people themselves awake to the importance of conserving the "seed corn." Employers of Children have the whip hand and do not expect to surrender until an outraged public sentiment demands a square deal for juvenile workers.

The bill to repeal the provision passed at the regular session exempting from taxation stocks in foreign corporations "died a boring." Considered bad politics, perhaps, with a campaign approach. But it is all right to reject the child labor amendment favored by the organized workers of the State. That seems to be the attitude and the labor vote can "go hang."

A bill has been introduced submitting an amendment to the State Constitution allowing members of the General Assembly $6.00 as compensation for a session not exceeding sixty days. This must run the gauntlet of the two branches and be ratified by the electorate.

The salary of Chairman Page, of the State Highway Commission, is to be doubled, if the House shall agree with the Sams bill approved by the Senate.

DOES EDUCATION PAY?

This is the season when many parents and young people are considering the question, "School or work?" A few rare geniuses who have acquired wealth and fame without education are cited as proof that education is not necessary to success. The vary rarity of these men makes them conspicuous.

Read the following facts from "Student Life":
Constantly the college graduate is confronted by the query, Does Education pay? To some it does not, but there are failures in every line and these, for most part, were failures in College.

Education does not insure success it merely makes the chance better. Dean Coffey of the University of Minnesota Agricultural College re-

WORK ON SCHOOL PROGRESSING

The busiest looking place in town is the new High School building. The contractors are a little behind with the work, owing to a wait for material but the force is well organized and everybody works.

The walls of the basement, or ground floor, are up and the framing on the next floor going in.

In the basement are six rooms which can be used for school purposes. Here will be the departments of Agriculture, Manual Training and Physical Training. In order to cut down the cost, the Board of Education cut out the swimming pool which was in the original plan, but the showers baths will be there. Near the center will be a storage room for records and school supplies.

The boiler and fuel rooms are under the stage of the auditorium.

On the left of the entrance to the first floor is the principal's office, with a second door opening into the adjoining library. There are five recitation rooms on this floor, which also has the large auditorium. This auditorium will seat about 1500 people, eleven hundred on the main floor and four hundred in the gallery.

The stage is 36 X 72 feet. The auditorium, of course, is two stories in height.

The upper floor has four recitation rooms and the Home Economics department. This department, to our mind, is going to be the finest thing in the building.

Here students will learn that feeding people is not menial drudgery, but an important science. There is a food laboratory, kitchen, dining room, sewing room, and storage room for this department.

It is expected that the next commencement will be held in this new building.

SHIPMAN WITHDRAWS FROM PAPER

Raleigh, N. C., August 18.—Commissioner M. L. Shipman, who recently aligned himself with a movement to establish a State weekly newspaper in Raleigh, issued the following statement on Saturday:

"Until further notice I shall not be connected in any capacity with the Carolina Jeffersonian, the new State weekly newspaper published in Raleigh. I am withdrawing from active participation in its publication for the reason that the labor involved in the preparation of matter and supervision in other ways is too exacting when superadded to the duties I owe the State.

"Mr. James H. Dodgen, one of the promoters, assumes entire control of the Jeffersonian and the publication will continue under his management for the present.

"The paper has been a financial success from the very first issue, and if the standard set for it is maintained the promoter should experience little difficulty in building for the future. North Carolina is a fertile field for a high class State weekly.

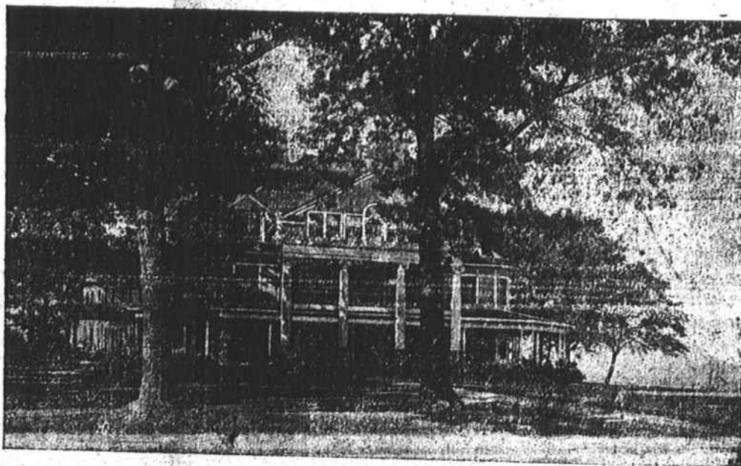

"I am deeply appreciative of the active and prospective cooperation of friends in the promotion of the enterprise so far evidenced, and regret that official duties conflict with further active connection with the publication at this time."

Recently published some statistics in the Minneapolis Journal showing the effect of education upon farmers in that region.

Men of high school education, he says, on these farms earned about five hundred dollars yearly; those with some college training made about six hundred dollars annually; but those with a complete college training had an average yearly income of more than three thousand dollars.

Only thirty one persons out of five millions with no schooling attain distinction in their work; with elementary schooling eight hundred and eight out of three million achieve some distinction; with a high school education twelve hundred out of two million rise above the average in accomplishment; with a college education more than five thousand out of a million render notable service.

Put in another way the figures mean that the college graduate has ten times the chance of making good that the high school graduate has, and twenty-two times better chances than he who takes only the elementary courses.—Student Life.

AUTUMN AT THE FRANKLIN

It is gratifying to learn that the Franklin has enjoyed such a successful season that the management has determined, at the request of guests, to keep the hotel open into the autumn.

It would be hard to find a more delightful or comfortable place to spend September.

The views from the verandas of the Franklin are unsurpassed. Soon the now verdant mountain sides will begin to put on their gorgeous tints of royal scarlet and purple and gold. The air will give an exhilaration like sparkling wine.

Those who can linger here through these glorious autumn days are indeed fortunate.

When added to the gifts of nature, one is privileged as the shades of evening fall, or in the cool, crisp mornings to sit before a sparkling, crackling, roaring wood fire built in such fire places as those in the lobby and the parlor of The Franklin it is an experience not to be forgotten.

REVIVAL CLOSES

Editor Brevard News, Dear Sir:

We have just closed a successful revival at Little River Baptist church. There were 47 additions to the church. I baptized 24 last Sunday August 10. We have some more to baptize next Sunday. The church has been greatly revived. The people say that this has been the best revival meeting they have had in forty years. We have had a large attendance, at night the house would not seat the folks.

Rev. S. D. Tipton did nearly all of the preaching. He is from Yancey County. The pastor did the rest of the preaching. The good people cooperated in the work just fine. The people are well pleased with the work. Rev. Tipton is the associational evangelist of Yancey Association, no church could make a mistake in calling him to hold their meeting. He is now holding a meeting at Enon church, Penrose, N. C.

The work is growing just fine in his field, (Enon-Little River.) Come and worship with us. I am sure you will come again.

THE PRAYER CORNER

The Name of the Unknown Child Augustus Caesar has passed to his fathers, his name is a name and a name only to tens of thousands, no thrill of enthusiasm runs through the system when his name is mentioned, to the million it is preserved indeed, in one of the months of the year, and stands for something more than a name to those who have eyes to see, but compare it now and during the intervening years, with the name of the unknown child, who was born in the days of Caesar Augustus. What a strange comment on the real and the apparent. Why every letter we write, we date, as so many years from the birth of the babe of Bethlehem. Every invoice we send out, every bill we receive, every paper we read, every magazine we take up, every monthly we open, every quarterly we buy, every advertisement we see, all are dated as being posted or written, or sent, or received, so many days, or months or years from the happening. If you have made your peace with Him, the Child of Bethlehem, He will abide with you. Your ever present loving guest. His smile reflecting itself in your spirit and filling you with a sweet graciousness that will make you welcome wherever you go. If you trust Him fully and completely and give your life into His keeping you can tell others how precious He is. O Blessed be thou the strength and the stay of those who trust in thee.

A Prayer

Remember us O Lord at all times breathe upon us thy spirit and accompany us through every step of our life's journey. Let us rely upon thee, knowing that thou art near, let us not attempt to walk alone lest we stumble and fall, but let us begin the day aright, asking thy guidance as soon as our eyes uncloset to the light. Let us, in gratitude, make preparation for the new day, not with out thy blessing, nor go forth to meet the duties and tasks of the day. Strengthen us so that in all our work we may be faithful, amid trials courageous, in suffering patient, under disappointment full of hope in thee.

O let us walk this day and every day worthy of our high vocation as thy children, and heirs to all the riches of thy grace in Christ Jesus. Set a seal upon our lips that in no word we may offend thee. Our father, keep our hearts in thy love and knowledge, and grant that this day we may do something solely for thy sake, in the strength of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

PROF. HENRY P. BOGGS VISITING IN TRANSYLVANIA

Prof. Henry P. Boggs of Glen Springs, S. C., is visiting his brother Mr. John S. Boggs of Turkey Creek.

Prof. Boggs was a former resident of this County but for a number of years he has been teaching in South Carolina.

This is his first visit for two years, but when this summer he began to feel run down he hid him back to "the land where the weak grow strong, and the strong grow great."

Prof. Boggs has many old friends in Transylvania who are pleased to greet him once more.

We believe Prof. Boggs had the pioneer boys' camp in this section. For several years, preceding the World War, he brought a number of his South Carolina school boys here each summer for a few weeks of camp life.

Prof. Boggs visited Connestee Falls this week but had to wade through such a litter of waermelon rinds and other debris of picnics that the Falls were not as attractive as of yore.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Only one marriage license was issued during the past week.

W. D. Head, Elizabeth Fort and Miss Marie Giespie of Brevard.

A traveling library has arrived and it is hoped that all the school boys will take advantage of this gift from the Library Commission at Raleigh.

With many good wishes and the hope that this will be the most successful year in the education of our youth.

Alcorn M. Orr.
