If a vote could have been taken, it would have been unanimously decided that "The Allison Barbecue" shall be an annual event in Brevard.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church of Brevard gave a delightful chicken supper to the men of the Church and their guests on last Tuesday night at "The Hut."

The supper was more than enjoyed by all those present and the meeting was not only one of Church business, but also of a social nature and several pleasant talks were made by the guests present.

It seems that Brevard Church was the first to start this custom of having suppers for the men of their Church and it has spread through several Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church, and has proven a wonderful factor in arousing interest in Church work.

BIG BARBECUE

Mr. and Mrs. Sam F. Allison entertained the Bible Class of the First Baptist Church of Brevard and many other friends with a delightful barbecue at their home "Linncrest" on Friday night last.

There were over a hundred and fifteen guests present and the grounds were beautifully illuminated and decorated.

On the inside was a large bonfire or rather a large log-ramp surrounded by benches and chairs and here the guests sat until the barbecue was ready. While waiting for the feast many speeches were made by prominent guests present and, and there were many songs interspersed along with the speeches. Among the speakers were Hon. Wm. M. Henry, R. L. Gash, Clayton Neill, Professor Wilson, Rev. Hartsell and Clarence Yongue.

There was no doubt but what the speaking would have lasted longer had not the appetizing aroma from the barbecue drifted over from the pit where the beef and mutton were cooking, and when it was announced that the feast was ready, Rev. Mr. Hartsell asked the blessing and the guests proceeded to march around the long table where each received a plate of hot delicious barbecued beef and mutton and a generous helping of delicious stew, and with that went some of Mr. Allison's own baking of corn bread. Coffee was also served. Many of the guests returned two and three times to the table to have their plates refilled for the barbecue was delicious and appetizing and one could eat a great deal of it without danger of any indigestion. After the barbecue, there was a course of apple and other home-made pies and cakes and after all had finished several hymns were sung.

To the great enjoyment and also to the surprise of many, the Brevard Band made its first public appearance, and we wish to say that this organization deserves the greatest credit for the wonderful progress it has made.

Of course the Band did not attempt to render any difficult selections, but the pieces they played showed great study and were sweet and melodious.

To wind up, all the guests joined hands and formed a big ring and then marched around the bonfire.

BREVARD BAPTIST NEWS

There is now in progress a protracted meeting at the Baptist church. The preaching is being done by the Rev. E. F. Sullivan, pastor of the Maxton Baptist Church. He is an able man. A graduate of Wake Forest College and of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

We are having services at 10 A. M. and at 7:30 P. M. These services have been well attended especially at night. I would say to the members of our church, who do not get out to the morning services, that you are missing the very sweetest part of the meeting. Don't let anything hinder your coming.

We should take time to feed our souls. The greatest need of people today is to get the man put back in Humanity. The church is the greatest means on the earth for that purpose. Every one who can do so is cordially invited to attend and hear these gospel sermons.

The Baptist association that was held with the Church at Little River was a great success. Every one enjoyed it. The hospitality of the Little River people was unbounded. The next Session will be held with the church at Lake Toxaway in October of 1925.

A large number attended the singing at Boilston Sunday evening everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion.

Our Blantyre school is progressing nicely and we are well pleased.

THE BAND AGAIN

In last week's issue we had a short article on the Brevard Band, but that was written without having had an opportunity to hear the Band play and since that time, we had had the opportunity of listening to their efforts and we wish to congratulate their efforts and we wish to congratulate the Band and the members of same, and also Prof. Cutter on the splendid show made by this organization.

It was largely due to the untiring efforts of our good friend, Hume Harris, that we were able to get the band started and then by the generous contributions of many of our citizens a sufficient fund was collected to buy the instruments and then to this was added our good fortune in securing the services of Professor Cutter who is a Band master of long experience.

Professor Cutter gives many members of the Band private instructions, and that coupled with the general instructions given at each meeting of the entire membership of the Band, has made it forge ahead very rapidly.

We again wish to congratulate the leaders and members of the Band for their splendid and faithful work and hope that next Summer we will find the Band able to give regular concerts in the Band stand on the square for the benefit of our citizens and of the visitors in our community.

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years, this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11.

Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

63,700 Soldier Cases a Month

The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service." It gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 53,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 32,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the burden of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases

The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 Chapters, an increase of 182 communities where problems affected by the war veteran's condition required solution through immediate and intelligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the last year $173,076.50 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government reports there are 4,300 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700

Of a total of 84,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,135 new cases were presented and a total of 30,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service

The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,245 cases. There were 36,935 separate soldiers' and sailors' claims; 20,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharge, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 59,688 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,220 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and 4,400,000 letters and telegrams distributed to the homes of men in the service.
