MATHATASIAN CLUB

Mrs. W. H. Harris entertained the Mathatasian Club at her home on Main street Thursday afternoon, January 8th.

Mrs. O. H. Orr, the president, presided over the business meeting, during which various reports were given and several matters of importance were discussed.

Following the business meeting, a well prepared and very interesting program was presented by Miss Kern, the leader of the day, and her assistants. Mrs. C. B. Deaver opened the program by a helpful paper on "Domestic Life in Colonial Carolina." This was followed by a most interesting discussion by Miss Kern on "The Relationship of Religion and Education," telling of the struggles among the preachers and teachers of the early colonists. Mrs. H. L. Wilson concluded this section of the program with an instructive paper on "Colonial Libraries."

Aside from the study of North Carolina History, the Club is also making a brief study of Art in different countries. Following the History program, Miss Kern passed around pictures relating to French Art, during which time there was a general discussion of that phase of the subject.

The hostess then served a delicious salad course.

The Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. E. H. Norwood on January 22.

Delicious tea and cakes were served during the afternoon.

IN HONOR OF MR. BEASLEY

Mrs. B. E. Nicholson entertained at her home on Broad street Monday evening in honor of Mr. Mebane Beasley, of New York City. Mr. Beasley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Beasley.

The evening was devoted to music. Mr. Beasley rendered a program of modern songs and ballads, with such style, sweetness, and interpretation that reached the hearts of all present, displaying unusually fine vocal art and tone color learned from the best teachers in New York City. Mr. Beasley was for some time a pupil of the great Italian baritone, Guiseppi Campaneri, who for eighteen years was leading baritone with the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Robertson, whom we all know to be one of the finest pianists and musicians, accompanied Mr. Beasley at the piano with great skill. Miss Robertson also gave several piano selections. Brevard is very proud to have such an artist as Miss Robertson living among us.

Mr. Alvin Moore, one of Brevard's most talented pianists, rendered several very classical selections, displaying great genius. In a few years Mr. Moore will be heard from as one of the great artists.

The home was beautifully decorated with potted ferns and narcissi. Delicious refreshments were served, consisting of marshmallow cocoanut cake and fruit.

Among those present were: Mrs. Beasley, Miss Bertie Ballard, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Kay King, Mrs. Cordia King, Mrs. Ed. Loftis, Mrs. Picklesimer, Miss Robertson, Mrs. Verdery, Mr. Moore and Mr. Beasley.

Forsythe, now deceased, one of the charter members of the Chapter. The program of the afternoon consisted of a reading by Mrs. Laura Miller entitled: "Then and Now," which was most interesting. After a social half-hour, during which refreshments were served, the meeting adjourned.

Starrette, Mrs. Jess Smith and Miss Alma Trowbridge. The social time was very enjoyably spent by engaging in amusing games of various

EFFECTS OF CHRISTMAS DAY

All full of candy, pie and cake,
And sure of castor oil to take,
The three sat holding heads up high
To keep from looking each other
In the eye.

One was five,—he was Bobby,
And all candy was his hobby;
Next the twins, Jack and Jean,
The prettiest pair you could have Seen.

They sat around, fear in their eye,
To think of the oil near made them
Cry.
But oh! they wert in pain and
dread,
And knew the next move was—
The bed.

It happened as they knew it would!
The downed it as good children should,
And then with toys of the day
They went to bed and there did stay
