BREVARD AND THE TOURIST

In a recent sermon delivered by Dr. Ashby at the Central Methodist church, Asheville,...

Summarizing the Florida Good Will Tour, Dr. Campbell stated in effect that a city in order to attract...

How, then, may we, as citizens of Brevard, make our presence felt in the eyes of the tourist?

The town should be made attractive in every way and sufficient effort be made to attract the tourist...

FOR INFORMATION

The engineer of the Gilbert C. White & Co. in an interview with the Secretary on Saturday last, relative to the cost of paving in Brevard, stated that their estimate of the paving cost based upon surveys already made but incomplete, indicates that the average unit cost per foot for all paving contemplated will amount to $3.00 per lineal foot.

$1,000 IN PRIZES FOR STATE GARDENERS

Raleigh, N. C., March 11.—The garden contest begun in North Carolina by the Division of Horticulture and Home Demonstration of the State College Extension Service has received added impetus by the announcement from the Southern Rur-alist of Atlanta, Ga., that it would give $1,000 in prizes to gardeners in the South.

CONNESSEE NOTES

It seems especially appropriate that Mr. W. H. Duckworth should be in charge of the work of giving Connessee a first class road. When a member of the County School Board Mr. Duckworth supported the establishment of the present school with effective insistence, and his co-operation with the efforts of Messrs. Kimzey, Henderson, Hogsed, Whitmire, Tinsley, and others, did much to start a progressive movement here to which the new road will lend increasing impetus.

Another distinguished alumnus of Connessee who taught school in our community, besides Mr. Galloway, to whom we referred recently, is Mr. W. M. Henry. Mr. Henry's fine young apple orchard on the Mill Hill Road will soon be one of our most productive assets, and it is already sending a little boy to school who is a veritable pippin himself.

Mr. Elisha Gravelley spent a whole day trying to find a team of oxen for some timber business recently, and did not find the team. We must begin to conserve our cattle, or some day we will be sorry.

Young students James Morrow and Henry Carrier, Jr. were visitors from Brevard and Rockbrook this week. James reports that the 7th grade in Brevard is getting down to business in anticipation of the County examinations, while Henry's keen interest in geography, zoology, and anthropology marks him for a future explorer if they just let him follow his bent.

Mr. Glad Whitmire has planted a border of boxwood along the walk to his house. He got the shrubs from East Fork, so of course they will live.

Teddy Jennings is going to make a pig for the school club. Mr. Ammon visited the school this week, brought some wilt-resistant tomato seed with him, and found the club very much alive. Miss Walker's Domestic Science class has aroused much interest that mothers outside the district are asking to be allowed to send their daughters to the classes.

A recent addition to the school from outside the district is little Nicole Olson, the grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Tinsley. The Tinsley family is responsible for the children and grandchildren in the neighborhood with the Gravelley's.

Mr. Wages Mull was a very high appreciated factor in the success of the Connessee tomato club last year, including the children to market the tomatoes, and in paying 25 cents for them. His customers are evidently expect some high grade fruit from this community next summer, the variety.

Charles Lee Newman and Mrs. Smith came over from the Institute yesterday, with Miss Marion Henderson. They paid a call on the school, and one of their boys took a high grade spelling lesson in the afternoon and looked over the lat's progress. The institute is very popular with Connessee folk, and we hope that such visits may inspire the children to climb higher.

Query: Why is a cat put in the way to climb high?
