WORDS OF A VISITOR

It's streets I'm talking about—streets in the good town of Brevard. When the sewerage is finished it is logical to believe that the Civic League will clean up. But why wait until then? Tourists will go away with a bad impression of our beautiful little town.

HAVE we a Civic League? I can't find an independent organization—nor is it a part of the School Improvement Association, as so many small towns are.

We have a progressive mayor. I am sure the ladies of the League can get all the help they need to make Brevard the "City Beautiful."

The "inspiration" papers, etc., are read upon by those who come to a town where the ladies are active.

If a meeting of your League, and appoint a "Clean-Up Day."

Five years ago when the writer was up here—how clean our little town was! Can the same be said now?

Look to the Future

Don't let the price of real estate in your town rise. It is a sign of a town that is making good progress. Have a good school.

community can give it a rare beauty. One does not have to travel across the seas to find "charm"—It can be found right here in our midst, and we can make more of it by giving proper attention to beautifying our surroundings.

Our mountain cities have distinctive charm, because our people have developed a home pride. If there are any backsliders they should recognize that their failure to do their part in beautification shows a lack of interest in their community that can't easily be forgiven.

Let's call a meeting of the Civic League and all unite in making Brevard the "City Beautiful."

—"WELL-WISHER"

THE DEATH OF MR. PETTIGREW VERNER

The following editorial in the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier may be of interest to many in this County, where Mr. Verner had his summer home for many years:

PETTIGREW VERNER

There are many deaths, even of those who are near and dear, to which the mind, of not the heart, can be reconciled. But it tries all our philosophy, all our faith, when one so fine and true and brave and useful as Pettigrew Verner is suddenly stricken down when there was yet so much that he might have done, when his death is indeed like the destruction of a lovely and fruitful tree still in its prime.

Mr. Verner lived a quiet and a very modest life but it would not have been possible to find in Charleston a man who put principle higher or who spent his influence to better effect. His friends trusted him implicitly, leaned on him, looked up to him.

These are many who will miss him, many who will ask themselves where they can find as they who can mean to them just what he meant. The death of so splendid a young man, whose whole life was so wholesome in itself and in its effects, is an irreparable loss to Charleston and to his friends a sorrow that is beyond words.

BAND CONCERTS ARE INCREASING IN INTEREST

The free band concerts now being given on the court house lawn on Tuesday and Saturday evenings, by the municipal band, are proving most popular and enjoyable to all.

On Saturday night last, quite a large number of people, young and old, assembled in and about the court house lawn to listen to the splendid selection rendered by the boys, under the leadership of Pool Cutler. This is one of the main features of entertainment being provided for the tourists and general public during the summer season, and the efforts of those affording these bi-weekly treats are evidently being appreciated.

The auditor down at the theatre says that from the looks of the balcony, Darwin was right.

LIBRARY REPORT FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST EIGHTH

The library membership list is increasing weekly, twelve new members being added during the past week. 205 books were in circulation and 265 people were in attendance. Six books were donated during the week, namely, "The Joyous Trouble Maker," by Gregory, and "Why Not," by M. Widdemar, both donated by Mrs. J. Gravelly; "The Very Small Person," by A. K. Donnell, and "The Threshold," by E. Campbell, both donated by Mrs. Woodbridge; "The Little French Girl," by Anne Sedgewick, donated by Miss Alma Trowbridge; "The Middle Temple Murder," by J. S. Fletcher, donated by Miss Julia Deaver.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

Baptist

The attendance at Sunday School is keeping up during the summer months remarkably well, the average attendance during the past month being 300. 33 visitors were present last Sunday, and a most cordial welcome is extended all visiting friends. The Sunday School is sponsoring the educational expenses of Mr. Pruet Hartwell at Mars Hill, preparatory to his training for the ministry.

Methodist

An attendance of 328 was recorded on last Sunday, August 9, 86 of whom were in the men's Bible class and 44 in the Daughters of Wesley class, which is the second largest class in the School. Fifty visitors were present, this being the largest number of visitors present on any previous Sunday. Visitors are always given the glad hand of welcome.

BREED ASSOCIATIONS AND THE FARMER

An association for the promotion of the welfare of any given breed of live stock has a wonderful opportunity to do a lot of good and at the time further its own interest. The scrub and grade sire who are still being too generally used should be replaced with pure-breds. It is the purebred sire who deserves his share of the credit for the improvement in type and performance that has been made in herds and flocks.

To get the farmer who is a worthy undertaking. The good results that come from the use of better breeding males is evident in most communities, yet in these same communities, scrub breeding stock still continues to be used. Every live stock farmer should try to breed the type of animal which is most profitable for his purpose.

to molt with the old hens, and cut your profits in the middle. Take at least two weeks by adding more and more of the feed being changed too. This is very important. Settle on a feed you know you can get at all times stick to it. Pet your pullets and hens as it means more eggs. A flock that flies at every move lays at least 20 per cent less eggs. Be real pals and you will find it pays.
