

FOOTBALL PRACTICE SHOWS UP WELL

Football is here! High School practice has started with a bang, and it looks very much as if the high school will have the best team in its history. The team as a whole is not especially heavy, but there are a number of light, fast men who will make a lot of trouble for opposing teams. The time when football was a game of strength has passed, and light, fast teams are winning championships all over the country. Science and headwork are coming into their own.

It's Attractive, Too!

At last a heater that will add to the attractiveness of any room in your home! A heater that circulates fresh warm air throughout every room! A heater that is as beautiful as it is efficient and economical.

This new kind of home heating plant—the Sunbeam Cabinet Heater—will abundantly heat five to seven rooms. It takes the place of two or three stoves and doesn't require a basement. It burns either hard or soft coal or wood. It occupies no more space than a phonograph.

Come in today and let us show it to you, or ask us to send you descriptive literature.

Uniforms were issued on Tuesday of last week and practice is being held daily. Coach Dekle seems well pleased with the material he already has on hand, and several other likely looking candidates are coming out in the next few days.

The men who have signed up and are practicing daily are Pete Breese, Edward Jones, Clyde Clayton, Valry Carter, Fowler Ryon, T. T. Whitmire, Branch Paxton, Jack Trantham, James Waters, T. T. L. ftis, Philip Hunt, Harry Bryson, Richard Bryson, Francis Jenkins, Thomas Hampton, and several others. There are three or four men who are expecting to enroll in the high school, but have not yet done so. They have been practicing with the team, and look like good material.

Coach Dekle has shown conclusively that he knows his business, and he should turn out a team which will improve daily. All the boys need to do is follow his instructions, and they are doing that now, although they have not settled down to the hard grind of real football.
