THE SOUTHERN SERVES THE SOUTH
What every business man knows
Every business man knows the danger of using too much borrowed capital in financing the growth of a business.
But the promise of the ultimate success of an undertaking often justifies the accumulation of debt against the day when established earning power will attract new partnership capital.
Such has been the record of the Southern Railway Company. For thirty years it has been compelled to finance itself by borrowing and the reinvestment of earnings.
But the Southern should now take its rightful place among the enterprises of the South whose solid worth merits the confidence of investors and attracts partners rather than creditors.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By F. R. Nalls, Jr. Basketball practice is to be started this week. Mr. Hanaman, Mr. Glazener, and several of the boys worked all Tuesday afternoon and part of Tuesday night getting the basketball court fixed up on the stage. A schedule for class basketball has already been arranged.

The boys' literary society held its first debate of the year in the auditorium last Wednesday afternoon. Because of the boys' lack of experience, Mr. Hanaman asked two of the faculty members to debate with the boys the first time. The affirmative was composed of Harold Whitmire, Fred Hollinshead and Mr. Nalls, and the negative had Mr. Ponder, Ruffin Wilkin and Ansel Jones. The subject was Resolved: That Women Should be Allowed to Hold Office, and the affirmative won by making eight points to their opponents seven.

Some eight or ten students are practicing in a play called, "Top
